To Get Food Crooks, Not Hurt Honest Business

DEBATES ON FOOD CONTROL BILL ARE BEGUN IN CONGRESS

Chairman Lever Says Control Must Be Had to Beat Germany and Warns Theorists From Under.

JOE CANNON LINES UP AGAINST BILL

Washington, June 18.—The food bills were pressed to the front in both houses of congress today and with the personal influence of President Wilson pressing for their immediate passage it was more than likely that nothing else would be done until they were disposed of.

While the bill was being explained to the house by Representative Lever as a measure which would harm no honest business man but would drag "crooks" and speculators into the sunlight a letter from President Wilson and Representative Borland was made public in which the president warned the opponents of the bills should they defeat them they must be prepared to take the responsibility for food conditions and prices which were predicted to follow.

The great majority of the house greeted the opening of debate with bursts of applause and approval but the opposition was silently making ready for its attack.

In the senate the opposition also was ready. Led by Senator Reed, of Missouri, Senator Smith of Georgia and Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, all democrats, it was contended that the first food bill already passed and now awaiting conference with the house, contained provisions to check speculation and price-fixing which made the

CROSSES OF THE LEGION OF HONOR GIVEN TO HEROES

Paris, June 18.—President Poincare, accompanied by Leon Bourgeois, minister of labor, has visited Rheims, where he pinned the cross of the Legion of Honor on the breasts of Cardinal Lucon, Deputy Mayors De Bruignac and Charbonneaux and Managing Editor Dramas, of l'Eclaireur de l'Est, which continued to appear throughout the battle. The ceremony took place in the building where the municipal officers have been lodged since the city hall was burned down. Afterwards the president visited the cathedral and the quarters of the city which have suffered most from the German guns.

DELAY WITH CANTONMENTS

War Department Will Not Be Ready for Troops September 1.

CANNOT COMPLETE THE CAMPS IN TIME

Plans at First Announced Have Been Abandoned by the Officials.

Washington, June 18.—Unless there are unforeseen developments to hurry construction of the sixteen cantonments for training the new national army, the first increment of 650,000 troops will not be in training by September 1, as generally has been supposed and in fact may not get into training for six weeks thereafter.

War department officials said today that no specific date ever had been set for the opening of the training camps. Secretary Baker, however, in a letter to Senator Jones, several weeks ago, answering a suggestion that some of the troops be used for harvesting, spoke of September 1 as the probable date of opening the camps and pointed out that most of the harvesting would be over by that time.

War department officials generally had fixed September 1 in their minds as the time training would begin. The first body of officers for the new army now being trained in camps throughout the country is to be turned out in August to make room for the next body. This was arranged on the plan of having the draft complete, exemptions disposed of and troops ordered into training camps by September 1.

Under Special Contract.

FIJI ISLANDERS TO REPLACE FRENCH WORKERS

(Copyright Underwood & Underwood.)

The Fijians are now our allies. The war, with its ever-widening grasp, has finally reached the Fiji Islands, and the well-knit, muscular men of the east are coming to take part in the great conflict of the west. The above group of Fijians are passing through Canada on their way to France, not to fight as their countenances and their history might indicate, but to serve as stevedores on French transports. They recently disembarked at Vancouver, and will leave for Europe from an eastern Canadian port. When they arrive at their destination they will have half circled the globe. They may be the vanguard of a greater body to come and take part in their favorite sport—fighting. The photograph was taken when they were lined up for review by General Strong, commanding the Hawaiian department, at Honolulu, where they stopped en route. Their going to France illustrates vividly that country's shortage of men.

PRESIDENT HAS WARNED FOES OF THE FOOD BILLS

Washington, June 18.—President Wilson today in a letter to Representative Borland concerning the administration food bills, warned opponents of the measures that they must be prepared to bear the responsibility for the defeat of the bill.

"A certain disservice has been done the measure by speaking of it as the food control bill," wrote the president. "The object of the measure is not to control the food of the country, but to release it from the control of speculators and other persons who will seek to make inordinate profits out of it and to protect the people against the extortions which would result.

"It seems to me that those who oppose the measure ought very seriously to consider whether they are not playing into the hands of such persons and whether they are not making themselves responsible should they succeed for the extraordinary and oppressive prices of the food in the United States. Foodstuffs will, of course, inevitably be high, but it is possibly by perfectly legitimate means to keep them from being unreasonably and oppressively high."

CONTRACTS LET FOR BUILDING OF MERCHANT SHIPS

Washington, June 18.—Contracts for ten more steel merchant ships complete and twenty-four additional wooden hulls were announced today by Major General Goethals, general manager of the emergency fleet corporation. The vessels will be delivered in 1918.

A basic price of $56.20 a ton was fixed for steel plates in contracts for ten steel ships signed today by Chairman Denman of the shipping board. Future contracts will be let at that price instead of $95 paid for steel in some earlier contracts.

VAST QUANTITY OF FUEL BOUGHT FOR NAVY'S USE

Washington, June 18.—Secretary Daniels has ordered coal and oil producers to supply the enormous quantities needed by the navy at prices to be fixed later by the president when the federal trade commission has determined a fair rate. The navy will use 1,750,000 tons of coal and 50,000,000 barrels of oil purchased under this application of the authority granted by congress.

Similarly, steel for the entire navy building program is being bought at a rate fixed when Secretary Daniels rejected the proposals of the steel-makers as too high. Secretary Daniels today said the coal operators proposed to furnish navy coal at a rate of $2.95 a ton at the mine. The navy has been paying $2.88 a ton delivered. The secretary directed the companies to ship immediately the orders being prorated among the producers agreeing to pay the tentative price of $2.88 at the mines pending a report from the federal trade commission.

TERRIBLE TOLL OF GERMAN U-BOATS IN BRIEF FOUR MONTHS

Washington, June 18.—The German submarine toll of British merchantmen since February 17, as shown in official British figures compiled here today, is 322 vessels of more than 1,600 tons and 135 of less than 1,600. British steam fishing vessels sunk in that period numbered 78. Records for sailing fishing vessels are incomplete, but a three-week total was 78.

Submarines in the period given attacked 299 ships successfully and the weekly percentage of unsuccessful attacks has ranged from 51 to 75. During the last week given—the seven days ended with June 4—it was 55.

Arrivals and sailings from British ports since the intensive submarine campaign began have averaged about 2,500, but these include channel sailings.

The British figures do not give the tonnage of vessels sunk, but officials say that 5,000 tons would be a fair average probably for vessels of more than 1,600 tons sunk. Computing the total at that average and putting the average of the smaller ships at 1,000 tons, the total loss during slightly less than four months" submarine warfare would reach 1,745,000 tons, or about 250,000 tons less than the entire world's shipping output during 1916.

ALLIES APPEAR TO BE GETTING READY TO MOVE

British Withdrawal From Some of Their Positions Indicates Sarrail's Purpose.

A BRITISH WITHDRAWAL IN FRANCE

(By The Associated Press.)

Developments of some importance apparently are impending on the Macedonian front, following the recent clarification of the military situation in Greece coincident with the abdication of King Constantine.

The most pronounced movement is a withdrawal by the British without pressure, of their advanced positions established some distance east of the Struma river, on the extreme easterly end of this front. Several towns have been evacuated by them and occupied by the Bulgarians.

Simultaneously comes news of pronounced reconnoitering activity by the entente forces in other parts of the front, notably along the Vardar, in the central sector.

It has been frequently pointed out by military observers that virtually the only practical route for a successful advance to cut the lines of the central powers in the Balkans and reclaim Serbia, is up the Vardar valley, along the railway line there.

The present activities, while they have not developed far enough to make the thing a certainty, none the less point to the probability that an offensive by General Sarrail in the only likely sector—that embracing the Vardar valley—is imminent.

Had this been decided upon, it would be a natural move for the British to relinquish the advanced ground they held along the Struma and withdraw, as they have done, to the bridgehead near the river, thereby strengthening the entente right flank for defensive purposes, while the offensive stroke was delivered by the center.

An aggressive move, it would seem, has now been made possible by the removal of the menace to the allies from the rear which existed as long as Constantine was on the Greek throne and his pro-German politicial advisers in control of the Greek military situation. Both the Russian army and the Russian navy are giving more evidence of aggressive intent. Recent German and Austrian statements have instanced increasing activities by the Russian military forces in various sectors, notably Volhynia and Galicia, where the great Brussiloff offensive was in full swing this time last year.

The Russian naval arm also have been largely in evidence in Baltic waters, that Berlin announces it has been found necessary to carry out extensive air raiding operations on Russian bases in this area.

In the Arras battle area the British were subjected to a heavy counter attack this morning on the new position they won last Thursday east of Monchy le Preux. They held fast to the main point, the important Infantry hill, but had to fall back from some positions they had established further in advance.

AMERICANS IN FATAL MISHAP IN AEROPLANE

Paris, June 18.—The Paris Herald says that Benny Woodworth, of San Francisco, chief of the first section of the American ambulance field service, has been killed and Lincoln Chatkoff, of New York City, piloting the Lafayette Squadrille, dangerously injured in an airplane accident.

Woodworth went to the headquarters of the Lafayette squadron in Champagne on Friday evening where he met his friend Chatkoff. They decided to fly over and visit some friends, about six miles away. Chatkoff rose to a height of about 150 feet and commenced to execute a series of evolutions, beginning with several spirals and then nose diving toward the earth. Eye witnesses say that when near the ground the pilot seemed to make an effort to right the machine in order to rise again. Chatkoff either miscalculated the distance or something went wrong with the apparatus, for the machine never altered its course but plunged headlong and buried its nose in the earth.

Woodworth was killed instantly, one of his legs being severed and the other crushed, suffering in addition other terrible injuries. Chatkoff sustained serious injuries, also fracturing his skull and suffered other wounds. He is now in a critical condition.

REGISTRATION IS EXPLAINED

Committee Makes Report to Democratic District Chairman Luecke.

NO VOTER EXEMPT FROM REGISTERING

Either for General Election or Delegates to Constitutional Convention.

A report interpreting the registration law passed by the last general assembly has been made to Martin Luecke, democratic district chairman, by a committee appointed by him for that purpose, composed of William Fruechtenicht, Harry Hilgemann and E. O'Rourke.

The report in full is as follows:

"Your committee, appointed to interpret the registration law, begs leave to make the following report:

"The registration law, passed by the last general assembly of the state of Indiana, provides

"That every person must register for any general election, and that there must be a registration of all voters desiring to vote at any city election in cities of first and second class.

"The city of Fort Wayne will, therefore, have registration beginning May 7 and ending October 8, 1917. The place of registration is in the council chamber, city hall.

"The last legislature also passed a special registration law, providing that all persons desiring to vote for delegates to the constitutional convention, which election will be held September 18, 1917, must register. This special registration will be for a period of sixty days, beginning June 22nd, and ending August 20, 1917. The boards of commissioners of the various counties must designate the room or place in the court house where this registration is to take place. In Allen county it is in the clerk's office in the court house.

"The registration rooms are in charge of the chief clerk of registration, a deputy clerk of registration and such other assistants as the board of registration commissioners may appoint.

"Every person, man or woman, desiring to vote, must register, regardless of the fact that they have registered and voted last year, or not. The registration room or place will be open from 8 o'clock a. m. until 5 p. m., during the registration period. A person who has not registered cannot vote.

No Voter is Exempt.

"All voters must register in any of the following methods:

First—By going to the registration place in person and there file his registration application (need not be sworn to).

Second—By sending registration application by a messenger. Such messenger must be a legal voter, and the application in that event must be sworn to before a notary public, or any other officer having a seal.

Third—By filing the registration application with the inspector at the primary election.

Fourth—By mailing the registration application to the board of registration commissioners, in which event the application must be sworn to before a notary public, or any other officer having a seal.

"Registration applications may be obtained from the board of registration commissioners and from the chairmen of the political parties, excepting blanks to be used for the special registration for the election of delegates to the constitutional convention. These must be obtained from the board of registration commissioners.

Who May Register?

Any person who will be a legal voter at the next election, city, special or general, is entitled to register. Such person need not be a legal voter at the time of registration.

"Every citizen of the United States, or any person who has declared his intention of becoming a citizen, who has resided in the United States one year, in the state six months, in the township sixty days, in the ward or precinct thirty days prior to next election, and who has registered are legal voters. Women must be citizens of the United States. A woman is not entitled to vote by merely having declared her intention of becoming a citizen and having resided in the United States one year. A woman by her marriage assumes the political status of her husband. If an alien woman marries an American citizen, she thereby assumes her husband's citizenship.

"A citizen is any person born in the United States, or who has been naturalized. The naturalization of the parent naturalizes his minor children.

Each voter who is naturalized, either by his own act or by the naturalization of his parent, should before he goes to the registration place, ascertain the date of his arrival in the United States, the date of his father's arrival, and the date of his naturalization or the naturalization of his father.

Every person born in the United States, regardless of the fact whether his or her parent took out naturalization papers, is a citizen of the United States.

Registration is only an additional requirement and qualification of the voter. If the voter has not the other qualifications required, he is not entitled to vote.

Sign your name to the registration applications personally.

In case a person is unable to write his name, he may have his name written for him by an officer only, who has a seal and by no one else.

A voter must sign his first full name, initials will not do.

Persons residing in the city of Fort Wayne, and desiring to vote at the city election, as well as the delegate election, must register twice, once with the city board and once with the county board of registration commissioners.

The committee appointed by the governor finds that persons in all cities and towns except Fort Wayne need not register for such city and town election but must register for the county election and for the election for delegates to the constitutional convention.

Any American born woman married to a man of foreign birth before March 2, 1907, is a citizen of the United States. If, however, they were married after March 2, 1907, she loses her citizenship, and does not get it back until her husband has taken out his second naturalization papers, and such a woman whose husband has not received his second naturalization papers, cannot register or vote, even though the husband who has only his first papers may register and vote.

MUST BATTLE SAYS RUSSIA

Duma Passes Resolution Ordering the War to Go to Finish.

NO SEPARATE PEACE TO BE THOUGHT OF

Swiss Socialist Meddler Is to Be Expelled From Russia.

Petrograd, Via London, June 18.—The duma, in secret session, has passed a resolution for an immediate offensive by the Russian troops.

The resolution declares a separate peace with Germany or prolonged inactivity on the battle front to be ignoble treason toward Russia's allies, for which future generations never would pardon the Russia of the present day.

"The duma, therefore, considers," the resolution adds, "that the safety of Russia and the maintenance of the liberties which have been obtained lie in an immediate offensive in close cooperation with Russia's allies."

Rebuke to Peace Envoy.

The first act of the Pan-Russian congress of all councils of workmen's and soldiers' delegates, upon which depends the immediate destiny of Russia in regard to both international and domestic questions, was to ratify the expulsion by the provisional government of the Swiss socialist, Robert Grimm, who is reported to have been the medium through which the Germans attempted to arrange a separate peace with Russia.

Grimm's case was taken up when the congress assembled last evening, immediately after the delegates had elected as their president N. C. Tcheidse, president of the Petrograd council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates.

Vote is 640 to 121.

Grimm's expulsion was approved by the passage, with a vote of 640 to 121, of a resolution indorsing the action of M. Tseretelli and M. Skobeleff, socialist members of the cabinet, who investigated the activities of the Swiss socialist and brought about the order for his expulsion.

The congress expressed the view that the action of the ministers correspond perfectly with the interests of the Russian revolution and the socialist internationale. It welcomed the decision of the ministers to publish the full details regarding the Grimm affair.

Note Asks Conference.

The announcement last week that the cabinet had decided to suggest a conference of the entente allies for examination of treaties was followed yesterday by the publication of the note sent to the other governments in question.

The note suggests a conference to revise the agreements existing among the allies as to war aims, with the exception of the London agreement, which provides that none of the signatory powers shall conclude a separate peace.

TELLS OF GERMAN ORDERS.

Stockholm, via London, June 18.—Additional details of the German peace offer to Russia are contained in the Social Demokraten's translation of the telegram said to have been addressed by A. Hoffman, a member of the Swiss federal council, to Robert Grimm, a Swiss socialist, who has been in Russia for some time. The newspaper's version of the telegram contains the following:

"I am convinced that Germany and her allies would immediately take up peace negotiations at the wish of Russia's allies. As to what concerns the German war aim, you can read articles in the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. There, after consultation withChancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, the declaration has been made regarding annexation to the effect that Germany does not desire any increase in her territory, or any economic or political expension."

THE DEBATE IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, D. C., June 18.—To bring "food crooks out into the sunlight" but not to injure honest business is the aim of the food control bill, Chairman Lever of the agricultural committee declared today in opening debate on the measure in the house.

A wave of applause greeted his statement, adding strength to his prediction that the bill will pass the house by a large majority perhaps by the end of the week.

"It is not intended that any honest business man shall be hurt," declared Mr. Lever. "It is the crook that shall suffer in the sunlight and the crook, unpatriotic, selfish and greedy that we are after."

Look Who's Here.

Opponents of the bill under the leadership of Representative Haugen, of Iowa, former Speaker Cannon, of Illinois, and Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, were ready to lead an attack. "The contest between German autocracy and American democracy," said Representative Lever, "will be determined in the end by the character and strength of the organization which one can put against the other. A loose-jointed, unorganized democracy has no ghost of a chance in a contest with such an autocracy as is Germany. Organization is the only weapon with which organization can be overcome. An organization as the term is used here means not only the whipping into shape the man power of the nation, the money power of the nation, but as well every resource of the nation which may be used in the contest."

Anticipates Attacks.

Anticipating attacks on giving the president extraordinary powers, Mr. Lever contended, the situation warranted them.

"We must either confer the so-called autocratic powers upon the constitutional head of our government or be prepared to have them assumed by the German kaiser," he said. "No war was ever won by a debating society. The time is upon us for getting down to brass tacks. Every man, woman and child must be prepared to make sacrifices—great sacrifices—and no man is going to be permitted to stand behind fine-spun theories and technicalities in his opposition to this measure. This is no pink tea affair, nor is it a ladies' sewing club.

War Against Autocracy.

"It is war against the most powerful autocracy the world ever saw. Germany took control of her food situation within five days after the declaration of war. Hungry armies do not win victories; men who fight must be fed. Those who send their loved ones into the ranks likewise are to be fed. The supreme duty as well as the supreme necessity of the hour, is to feed our fighting forces, the fighting forces of the allies and absolutely provide necessaries at living prices for our own people and as largely as we can the civilian population of our allies."

Without an agency of control which would stimulate production, eliminate waste and conserve the food supply, he declared, this country cannot furnish the bulk of food to the allies.

DELAY WITH CANTONMENTS

built for the army under a special form of contract by the terms of which no contractors will be permitted to overcharge the government, the maximum profit on any contract being fixed at $250,000. The government also will have complete supervision over the work and may terminate any contract at will.

The terms of the contract were made public today by the war department. The primary object in the wording of the agreement is to secure speedy construction and avoidance of unnecessary expenditures. The contractor is to be paid his expenses and a percentage of their total amount, out of which he must meet his overhead costs.

His profits are to come from the difference between this percentage and overhead expenses.

The emergency of rapid construction is indicated in an early paragraph of the contract, wherein, according to the wording, the contractor agrees to "do all things necessary for the construction and completion of the work." It is stated that no restrictions will be placed upon the contractor likely to hamper the work.

positive sciences." Since the revolution M. Gorky has been participating actively in politics as the founder and editor of the extreme democratic newspaper, New Life. As a result of severe work and overstrain he had a return of his old lung complaint in April, but has recovered. The correspondent today interviewed the famous writer, who began with the announcement that he was abandoning politics and in future would devote himself to cultural and artistic questions.

Ignorance the Cause.

"The reason is," he proceeded, "that I have formed the conclusion that the evils from which Russia is suffering have as their first cause our painful backwardness in scientific and technical knowledge. To that may be traved the present political instability of which you hear so much.

"In regard to politics I will merely deny the stories circulated abroad that I am an adherent of the factions which desire peace even at the price of Russia's destruction. I am accused of being one of the Porazhents, a new term of derision applied to that faction. My position merely is that I condemn all wars and expect the war will be ended by the combined action of the world's democracies.

"As regards our internal conditions, I advise you not to believe the talk about anarchy too readily. Undoubtedly anarchy exists temporarily, but its seeds existed long before the revolution. The fact is that under the conditions of the old regime of despotism, arbitrariness, cruelty and falsehood Russians could not develop a sense of order and justice.

Due to Old Conditions.

"Today many are disillusioned. I am beginning to receive letters proclaiming that the revolution is ruining Russia. This querelousness is a natural product of our national passivity and is equivalent to cryng fire without summoning fire brigade. We must have a positive and constructive scheme for curing all underlying ills. The medicine, I am convinced, is science. Nearly all the evils of our daily life spring from the absence of science.

"Through lack of science half of our peasant children die before reaching the age of five. From the same cause nearly all the peasant women suffer from women's complaints. The Moujiks cultivate the land so badly that the average yield is less than one-fourth the yield obtained in England or Belgium. Conditions in our cities are equally bad. We have no drainage anywhere. Our town soil is poisoned. We are choked with smoke and dust. Town children are rickety, nervous wrecks. Against such evils we need not sterile dreams, but science, technique, machines, efficiently developed industry.

Science Must Give Relief.

"To assist in bringing this about there should at once be created scientific institutions; for instance, institutions of applied mechanics, chemistry and biology and the whole series of bacteriological, hygienic and general medical institutions. If thereby we cleanse Russia physically and intellectually our anarchy will cease. Those are the ideas underlying my new movement; ideas which led to the foundation of the free association for development and dissemination of the positive sciences.

"I have admirable collaborators and intend to appeal to all classes of workers, manufacturers and professions to assist and to provide the vast sums which are necessary.

"Soon anarchy will be uprooted by order. Believe me, Russia is not lost. I believe firmly in our nation's genuine aspirations to higher civilization. I consider our troubles transitory and easily curable by means of the steady and fervent application of the two supreme principles—knowledge and work."

SPAIN RIPE FOR REVOLT

and it has gained among the other parties. Even Former Premier Maura, leader of the conservatives, agrees that there is ground for dissatisfaction.

Senor Romeo, editor of the Correspondencia de Espana, summed up the grievances in a forcible article recently.

Should Imitate Army.

He wrote:

"We ought all imitate the soldiers in refusing to be downtrodden a moment longer. The soldiers have shown us the only way possible—an organization with the firm determination to carry our point, regardless of sacrifices.

"The whole of Spain with the exception of a thousand families who monopolize the sweets of office, is sick to death of the favoritism which condemns the country to external stagnation and is only waiting for the signal to rise like one man and do away with it forever. Favoritism is the canker which is killing Spain and will put an end to her unless we put an end to it."

The officers' defense committee demand briefly that rewards should be proportionate to service and that promotion should be by merit, with due regard to the claims of seniority. Their action was on the whole well received by the public and brought about the downfall of the Prieto administration. The example is being followed all over the country. Defense committees of all sorts of professions and trades, as well as of government servants are spring up everywhere.

Cordova Manifesto.

At Cordova a number of prominent men, including engineers, university professors, manufacturers, workmen and priests have published a manifesto demanding a new political system totally different from that hitherto in existence and during the formation of defense committees similar to the officers' organizations throughout the country. In the meanwhile there is a growing movement in favor of the reopening of parliament.

Three liberal deputies, Senors Darriobro, Basolga and Pacheca, have addressed a manifesto to the senators and deputies, protesting against the closing of the Cortez under the present circumstances. It seems that the government wishes to allow time for the agitation to die down before submitting a solution of the grave problems raised by the army officers and by labor troubles.

The Problem Confused.

Premier Dato in an interview said: "The whole question is to know how to meet the aspirations of the country. The government is therefore taking note of all claims of grievances and justice will be done without delay. We shall be guided by the judgments of public opinion. We do not pretend that we live in an Arcadia, but we think we can say that we have brought about a relaxation of the strained situation which permits us to view the future with confidence." Among the steps the government is taking is a reorganization of the higher commands in the army, which is being studied by the minister of war, General Primo-Rivera. While Premier Dato enjoys general respect his confidence in the outlook is not altogether shared by political observers who unanimously agreed the situation continues one of extraordinary difficulty on England, Andrew Bonar Law, member of the British war council, said the government intended to take steps not only for damaging the enemy, but for preventing raids on England.

It was a mistake, Mr. Bonar Law said, to assume that air raiding was confined to the enemy. The British air forces in France had raided German communications and all important military objectives behind the lines, which were of sufficient importance to justify such enterprises.

PERSHING HARD AT WORK.

Paris, June 18.—Maj. Gen. Pershing was hard at work in his office today. He has completed the round of social functions in connection with his arrival and has a busy week ahead of him in dealing with important questions regarding arrangements for the arrival of the American troops.

GERMANS RAID RUSS BASE.

Berlin, June 18.—German airplanes on Friday effected a landing on an island in the Bay of Riga and destroyed a Russian base there, it is announced officially. The statement follows:

"Greater activity by Russian naval forces in submarine and mine warfare made necessary defensive measures on the German side, which had the following results: 'On June 13 our airplanes dropped explosive and incendiary bombs in large quantities on Russian bases, obtaining good results. On June 14 the military station on the island of Runeo, in the Bay of Riga, was bombarded with visible success. Following this enterprise our airplanes on June 15, landed on the island and destroyed the remaining portions of this base. All our airplanes returned,'"

HAS REAL PEACE TERMS.

Amsterdam, June 18.—Via London.—The Vienna Fremdenblatt says that the statement of the Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung will dissipate all doubt about the German government's firm resolution in regard to peace with Russia without annexation or indemnities.

The paper adds, however, that such declarations only indicate the general character of the peace to be concluded and continues:

"More precise stipulations for this peace, for example in regard to the Polish state and the foundation of friendly relations with Russia, must first be settled by direct negotiations."

BRITISH IN FRANCE RETIRE.

London, June 18.—The British have fallen back from some of their advanced posts in northern France, according to an official statement issued by the war office this morning. The main positions are still held.

The statement follows:

"Early this morning the enemy delivered a strong local attack, under cover of a heavy bombardment upon the positions captured by us on the morning of June 14 east of Monchy le Preux. After severe fighting our troops were compelled to fall back from certain advanced positions which had been captured in front of our main new position, which we still hold, on Infantry hill.

"There was considerable artillery activity on both sides during the night north of the Scarpe. Hostile artillery activity continues in the neighborhood of Ypres."

VIENNA OFFICIAL REPORT.

Vienna, Sunday, June 17—Via. London, June 18.—The following official announcement was given out here today:

"Eastern theater—Local patrol skirmishes occurred on the eastern border of Hungary. Russian raiding parties were repulses near Brezezany.

"Italian theater—In the region of Gerizia, Austra-Hungarian air squadrons threw bombs successfully on an Italian concentration point. Otherwise there were no developments.

"Southeastern theater—The situation is unchanged."

ONE HURT IN DUDLO FIRE

right arm were burned by pieces of burning enamel, which fell from the blazing fume pipes in the enameling room.

The blaze, which spread through all the fume shafts in the new enamel department, was well under way when discovered by employes at the plant. The pipes were soon red with heat and it seemed for a time that the whole plant would be swept by the blaze.

Fire station No. 5 was summoned and all machinery stopped. Girls working in the finishing department left their work for a few minutes. Firemen turned the heavy streams of water into the big pipes and soon the blaze was under control. Damage to not exceed $50, says Manager Jacobs.

This is the second fire within a month that has broken out in the enameling department. The chemical preparation, which is used in wiring, is highly combustible and easily ignited. Arrangements will be made to have the fume pipes divided in sections so that the entire plant will not be imperiled in case of fire in the pipes.

Michael, stock room clerk, was among the first into the department where the pipes were blazing. He was aiding to shut off the engine valves when the burning chemical fell on his face and arm.

APPLYING FOR SECOND CAMP

The age limits for the second camp are to be the same as the first, but in the official instructions from the central department, notice is given that preference will be givn to men from 31 to 44 years of age, as the government is desirous of getting men of more mature years for the second camp. Application blanks will not be withheeld, however, from men of younger years who meet other requirements.

Almost as great interest is being shown in the organization of the second camp as was shown in the first. At the first session of the committee Monday noon a large number of applicants appeared, among them several business men, and men of mature age and executive experience.

The next meeting of the committee is to be held Monday night at 7:30, and every night thereafter applications will be received by the committee at that time. All men who have made applications for the previous camp must now make new application for the second camp.

OLDEST TO REGISTER IS PAST EIGHTY-NINE

Half of Four Thousand to Sign for Vote Are Women.

Daniel C. Null, 1222 Taylor street, is the oldest citizen to register for a ballot in the coming city election, so far. He is eighty-nine years old. He was born in Pennsylvania on August 28, 1828.

He is a very active man for his years. He says he believes he can do more work than most of the "young bucks" in a day right now. He is the grandfather of Postmaster E. C. Miller.

About 4,000 citizens have signed for the right to vote in the city election next fall. Fully half of that number are women, the registration clerks say.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Alfons Lamprecht, 1003 Third street—a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. George Bullemier, 1336 Wabash avenue—a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kroesch, 2538 John street—a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Doehrmann, 1210 Anthony boulevard—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. George Welling, 610 East Madison street—a girl.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued to the Wildwood Builders' company to erect frame house, 1220 Packard avenue, $3,600, and to C. D. Coil, 1310 Ewing street, remodel house, $500.

VACATIONS FOR STRIKERS.

Waterworks Men Are Given "Lay Off" by Board.

James Erwin, chief clerk of the waterworks department and president of the Municipal Employes' union, No. 15,308, was given a suspension from his duties for thirty days by the board of public works Saturday afternoon because he had talked in an unseemly manner to board members on Thursday and had caused three other waterworks department men to leave their jobs. Erwin will be off duty, without pay, until the middle of July.

John Swaidner, storekeeper, who telephoned other workmen that a general strike was on at the time of the trouble between the board and Erwin, was also granted a thirty-day leave of absence.

George McCarthy, machinist, and William Wagner, plumber, who threw up their jobs on Thursday, were given a ten-day suspension. The other men, pumpers at the wells, who threatened to strike unless their pay was increased, will not be suspended.

GOVERNMENT EXPERT REORGANIZING ROUTES

Will Aid to Efficiency of Thirty-nine Delivery Lines.

George H. Chase, of Washington, D. C., postal expert, is at work in the federal building in an effort to simplify the rural routes of Allen county. Chase has taken the office of the postoffice inspector and is laboring over charts and county maps. He will attempt to shorten the thirty-nine routes of the county by wiping out all retracting possible.

Chase cannot say at this time whether or not his work will cause one of the lines to be abandoned. He will be in conference on Tuesday and Wednesday with Postmaster E. C. Miller.

STATE STATISTICAN COMES FOR LECTURE

Will Show Importance of Records in Illustrated Talk to Public.

Dr. C. A. Carter, state statistician, will come to Fort Wayne Tuesday for an illustrated lecture on "The Importance of Figures." He will give a public talk at the assembly room of the court house at 8 o'clock. All physicians of the city are especially urged to attend the lecture.

Dr. Carter will illustrate the methods of keeping records. He will explain the value of birth and death certificates. He has had years of experience in his field, and his talk is sure to be enlightening to all who attend.

EXPRESS GRATITUDE FOR AMBULANCE GIFT

Medical Department of Army Thankful for the Donation of Fort Wayne.

Mrs. J. H. Gilpin is in receipt of a letter from the medical department of the army in which great appreciation for the auto ambulance is expressed. The department also furnishes the information that the ambulance will soon be called for.

The letter to Mrs. J. H. Gilpin which is self explanatory, follows:

Dear Mrs. Gilpin: The Surgeon General directs me to acknowledge receipt of your telegram of the 13th inst. to the effect that you have in your care an ambulance built by the General Motors company and donated by the citizens of Fort Wayne to the Medical Department of the Army and to express to you, and through you to the donors, his great appreciation of the kindly feeling toward the Medical Department of the Army so generously manifested in this gift. This department accepts the gift at Fort Wayne. A government bill of lading covering its shipment to the designated point of final disposition will be sent to you within a very few days.

Very respectively,
EDWIN P. WOLFE,
Major, Medical Corps, U. S. A.

GERMAN WANTED TO SIGN UP ON MONDAY

Kendallville Man Gave Excuse That He Cannot Read or Write.

An "alien enemy" from Kendallville wanted to register for permit to enter industrial zones, on Monday morning. The attorney who represented him, and who telephoned to Fort Wayne, Monday, was told that it is too late for the man to sign permit papers.

"The barriers are closed," said Deputy United States Marshal Harry Muller. "I gave orders to stop the registration, Saturday night."

The attorney for the Kendallville man stated that his client can neither read nor write and had not known of the registration law until Sunday.

Muller will have a deaf ear to all who ask to sign permits at this time, he says. He will use the next few days in compiling the records already at hand. The entire clerical force will be put at work for possibly the remainder of the week arranging and signing the 500 "good intention" papers on record.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Saalfrank—Funeral services for Frederick Saalfrank will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, sun time, at the residence in Marion township, and at 2:45 at the Lutheran church at Soest, Rev. Rodenbeck officiating. Interment in church cemetery.

TO GIVE PEDRO PARTY.

Branch 1173, L. C. B. A. will give a pedro party Tuesday evening, June 19, at St. Peter's school hall at 8:30 o'clock. This is a public event.

TOO MANY FISH.

Police Lieutenant Harry Grimme and a few of his gentlemen friends motored to Lake George Saturday for a fishing expedition over the week-end. On Monday morning word was received that the automobile used by the party had broken down on the return trip. It is thought that the damage to the machine was due to the excessive load of fish which the car was forced to carry.

Dr. Carrie Banning will speak at the First Methodist church Monday evening on "The New Constitution and How to Vote."

The Corona Girls will have their business and social meeting Monday night with Miss Hazel Shoub. 2222 Broadway.

She Drops Note Pad to Become Heiress

Dropping her shorthand notebook Signa Applegren, 22, answered the phone in Sioux City, Ia., the other day, to discover she was heiress to $1,000,000.

Signa is going to Teheran, Persia, to get the million, she says.

Twenty years ago Chris Applegren, Signa's great uncle, left America. Wandering through South America, Africa, Europe and Asia he accumulated a fortune. News of his death just reached Sioux City. The fortune was left to Signa's father, but he is dead and she's his sole heir.

WHY DOES NOT GOD STOP THE WAR?

A Sermon Preached in the First Presbyterian Church, June 17, by Rev. H. B. Master.

Text: Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness. Judges 14:14.

On one of his journeys into the land of the Philistines, Samson, who is one of the most striking figures in Israelitish history, slew a lion. Coming to the same place a little later he discovered that in the carcass a hive of bees had swarmed, and he took the honey and found it sweet and nourishing. At his wedding feast in Timnath he turned the experience into a riddle and said to his guests: "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness."

Through all the subsequent centuries men have pondered that riddle and have found in it more than Samson himself ever dreamed. It is a summary of a good deal of human experience. Out of that which is terrible and destructive comes forth strength and power; out of that which seems to threaten death comes forth blessing and deeper, richer life. Which, perhaps, is only another way of saying there are times when the Providence of God seems very lion-like, but back of it is His sovereign eternal and unchangeable love.

In this week's issue of a well-known magazine there is an article with the title, "If God Reigns, Why Not Stop This Terrible War?" The writer of the article, presumably one of the editors, answers the inquiry in this way: Let me answer it this morning in my way. I do not know. Nobody knows! It is the very question men might have asked, and probably did ask during the civil war which cost America some of the best blood and noblest lives of which the land could boast. Why did not God stop the Thirty Years' War in Germany? Why did He not stop the Wars of the Roses in England in which an hundred thousand of the flower of Great Britain's men were slain? Why did he not stop the Hundred Years' War between France and England, from the days of Edward III to those of Joan of Arc? The answer is that so far as all these conflicts are concerned He did stop them when His hour had struck; when enough men of a generation had learned certain lessons. When the welfare of the race was best subserved by peace, then God issued His fiat and the conflict ceased. In His own way and in His own time God will again reveal how the wrath of men may be made to praise Him.

Far more searching, however, than the question, Why does not God stop the present terrible war? is this one: "Why did He not prevent its beginning?" Why did He not prevent all the other conflicts which have cursed the earth and brought death and desolation with them? There is a question, and it brings you face to face with another inquiry harder than all others to answer: "What room is there for evil in a universe reigned over by an all-wise, all loving, all-powerful God?" Whichever way you turn, whatever be your theory of Providence, sooner or later that question comes up to disturb your peace, to destroy your theory. And like Banquo's ghost it will not "down."

Now no one knows the mind of the Almighty, no one has yet been able to lay the measuring line of his intellect along that of God; and nothing seems more certain than that in many respects at least His thoughts are not as ours and His ways are not as ours. Therefore it is impossible to say with any certainty why He acts thus and so, or what His plans for the future may be. There is just one fact to which we can cling, to which we must cling: the Judge of all the earth will do right. We must trust Him when we cannot see very far ahead, when we do not understand His purpose in permitting certain things to come to pass. We know, for example, that God is ceaselessly at work in this world; that He is deeply interested in the affairs of men; that nothing which influences them for good or evil is a matter of indifference to Him. In his plea that the meetings of the constitutional convention of 1787 be opened with prayer, Benjamin Franklin said: "I have lived, sir, a long time, and the longer I live the more convincing proof I see of this truth, that God governs in the affairs of men." It was that same Benjamin Franklin who frankly admitted that what he himself had seen of the hand of God in American history had shattered his Deism to pieces. It was Mr. John Fiske, the philosopher, who wrote "As in the roaring loom of time the endless web of events is woven each strand shall make more and more clearly visible the living garment of God!"

This belief in a personal God, separate from the world and yet present everywhere; the God in whom we live, and move, and have our being; whose will runs unhindered among the stars and in the lives of men—this is not only the corner stone of our religion, but the great basilar fact of history as well. So when the inquiry is made, Why does not this reigning God put a stop to the present war, or, going a step further back, Why did He not prevent it, we may find a partial answer, at least, in certain facts which a study of His actions in the past reveal.

(1) We discover, for example, that in the accomplishment of His purposes God usually works through human agents. I have no doubt He could have decreed that the seed which you plant today should bring forth an abundant harvest tomorrow. What we actually observe is that God makes the harvest dependent upon human toil, and sun, and rain, and certain qualities of the soil. He demands the combination of all these elements in order to supply the world with bread. For

Back of the loaf is the snowy flour,
And back of the flour the mill,
And back of the mill, the wheat and the shower,
And the sun, and the Father's will.

In by-gone days when men did not understand the laws of nature as they do now, time and again they chose the sites of proposed cities in utter disregard of some neighboring swamp and the consequent certainty of disease and death. God could have saved men from the results of their ignorance in many ways, but the fact is that He allowed them to learn by bitter experience how to avoid such disasters. It was quite as wonderful a triumph to rid Panama of the mosquitoes which carried fever and plague as it was to dig the canal itself.

In New York city for years hundreds of babies died each summer because the milk which was fed to them was impure and unclean. When Mr. Nathan Strauss introduced his pure milk depots the most amazing results were achieved. Each year now a multitude of babies are saved whose death a few years ago would have been a foregone conclusion. God could have protected the babies against the greed and selfishness and ignorance of men, but what we observe is that He seems to have preferred to educate men to act as His agents. Why expect God to work a miracle to relieve a condition, the remedy for which lies in human hearts and human hands?

A physician of this city told me that in the days when he commenced to practice the mortality in cases of diphtheria was enormous, frightful. Since the introduction of the serum treatment, however, the deaths from diphtheria have been reduced to a minimum. Administered in time it is marvellously successful. God could have made man immune as against diphtheria but what we observe is that He chose to equip His servants with intelligence to discover the remedy, and the commonsense to employ that remedy.

It is true that in a moment of time God could wipe out the liquor curse which still slays its thousands and is the prolific source of so much of the world's misery. What we see is that He chooses to work through human agents. Here and there He raises up men and women who hate liquor with a steady hatred; through the years He recruits an ever increasing army of crusaders against the evil and some day when public sentiment is siufficiently aroused He will blot it out forever. The dawn of that day is even now whitening on the horizon. If you doubt it study the newspapers.

Why every great discovery which has advanced civilization; every mighty effort for moral reform; every great forward movement of the centuries, has been made or instituted by some man or men whom God equipped and used for that particular purpose. There is little enough profit in speculating as to what God could do, or theorizing as to what He might do, but you stand on solid ground when you study reverently and carefully what He has done and is doing. Such study always reveals that God works through human agents in the achievement of His great plans and the accomplishment of His perfect will.

Not only so, but in educating men to co-operate with Him, God's object seems to be to train them rather than to break them. Only this last week an acquaintance who is a great lover and skillful trainer of dogs told me of an experience which is very interesting. A friend of his invited him for a visit and promised him some partridge shooting. He accepted and took with him one of his most promising dogs. But at first, for some reason, the animal did not do himself justice and his owner said to the friend who was plainly disappointed, "I could break that dog in two hours, but I want him to use the intelligence the Lord gave him and to develop those powers which he has and we have not." When at the end of two days the dog had learned what was expected of him and had found himself and was working perfectly the man said to his owner, "I never realized before the difference between breaking a dog and training him!"

Well, there you have a great secret. In their criticism of God and His ways so many seem to deny the Almighty the intelligence which he has given men. God could break us in two hours, two days, two weeks, two months, two years, but from what we discover of Hisdealing with the race we are bound to infer that He does not want to break us but to train us! He does not furnish an elevator for the simple reason that He wants men to climb. He puts into human minds noble thoughts, into human hearts generous emotions, into human souls lofty ideals. The net result is that civilization, culture, refinement and righteousness increase with each succeeding age.

It is true we are often distressed by the apparent slowness of the process. Like the little children who dig up the seeds to discover how fast they are growing, we also are eager for immediate results. It was Theodore Parker who said of the abolition movement, "The trouble is that God is not in a hurry about this matter and I am!" But God never hurries. Nor are we the best judges of what is slow or rapid in the developmeent of a soul; or the education of the race. You remember that old Saxon story of the warriors sitting at evening in their hall when through the window came a small bird, poised a moment on fluttering wing, and then flew out into the darkness from whence it had come. Forthwith the poet compared man's life to the flight of the bird, out of the darkness, into the light for a breathing space, only to disappear again as the bird disappeared. It is the brevity of human life which makes us so impatient of the years of God which are so very long. Nevertheless common sense plus experience teaches us that it is never wise to sacrifice safety for the sake of speed. The most intense activity does not necessarily involve progress. We discovered that at the close of the civil war. We tried to hurry the emancipation of the negro. Freed yesterday we proposed to give him the ballot and all the other privileges of liberty today. The experiment was a dire and dreadful failure. It cost the very people we desired to help an enormous amount of suffering and delayed their upward march a good half century. Russia tried to hurry. She flung off the yoke of tyranny; she proposed to become a republic without any clear understanding of the principles of democracy and the result is anarchy with all its horrid license and inevitable weakness. Doubtless God could inspire all men with the highest ideals and holiest emotions and equip them with power to achieve the ideal—the obvious fact is that He has done nothing of the kind. There is still a good deal of the ape and tiger in some of us, and because there is so much of both in so many God seems to have allowed Himself a long, long time for the education of the race. His great object is to train us, not to break us; to make men of us, not puppets or rag dolls. The real wonder is that in sheer despair He does not hurry the process of our education. It is one of the marvels of Divine grace that He is so long suffering, so patient while He seeks to make us able and willing to co-operate with Him in the redemption of the world.

(3) For the third and final fact is that God has done everything within His power, short of destroying human freedom and man's moral responsibility, to prevent this present war. Through the past centuries He raised up men by whom He spoke to all nations of the earth. In the fullness of time He sent His own Son into the world to show men how to live and how they might win the power to live as He did. It was God's own heart which broke as He tried to help men realize the truth which alone can make them free. He has kept that truth before men in all its wonderful vividness and vitality for nineteen centuries. Short of the destruction of the world, or universal famine and pestilence—all physical disasters—what more could God do than He has done to prevent the war? If He grants the individual man freedom, the power of self-determination, liberty of action, if He refuses to coerce or break the will of one man, why should we expect Him to act differently where masses of men are concerned? Having done everything He could do, without taking away man's moral responsibility, to prevent the war suppose He should stop it tomorrow! Would stopping the war change the hearts of men? Would it blot out the hatreds and subdue the angry passions which the war has aroused? Would it restore or give any meaning to those many lives which have thus far been sacrificed? Why stop it before it is finished? Are there no gains already to offset the losses? Why, France has been reborn; England has won a new conscience; Belgium has learned obedience—a new obedience to the law of Christ—by the things she has suffered; Russia we may hope, will come unto real freedom; America! why, America, too, may be saved from her conventional Christianity and her very practical atheism.

Do you not see, can you not feel, that in this crisis of the world's history Christianity will come unto its own? Where but to the Christ, to what save His gospel, can the nations of the earth now turn? All our human achievements are bankrupt, proved to be incapable of restraining men from evil, of making them good and noble. Nothing but Christianity honestly believed, actually lived, practically applied, can prevent a repetition of this monstrous crime which has bewildered the world. Woe unto the world, said Jesus, because of offenses for it must needs be that offenses come; but woe unto that man—or nation—by whom the offense cometh. Woe, because there is no such thing as the wrath and wickedness of men prevailing; no such thing as this world being turned back to a darker and less hopeful day; no such thing as the permanent defeat of righteousness in a universe where the living God reigns. This is the message of all history; this is the sum and substance of prophetic revelation; this is the promise of the Divine Christ.

Ah, my hearers, be very sure that in God's way and God's time this war, like every other war, will be stopped, and until that great hour comes we will do our part to best advantage if we put our trust in Him and ponder the truth that "out of the eater came forth meat and out of the strong came forth sweetness."

ENGLISH BAND PLAYS PAEON OF VICTORY IN RUINS OF FRENCH CITY

The ruins of a large French town furnished a sympathetic background to the celebration of victory by the British band and Guard of Honor drawn up in the main street. The town has just been recaptured from the Germans and entry by the British celebrated by the song of victory. While the band is playing, the guard stands at attention.

FATALLY HURT IN AUTO SMASH.

Kokomo, Ind., June 18.—One man was fatally hurt and two women were injured when a seven passenger touring car turned over on the highway ten miles south of here Sunday evening. William Trobridge, living near Elwood, Ind., is not expected to live. His wife suffered severe injuries about the head, but will recover. Miss Eleanor Wilson, 18, was badly bruised. The chauffeur was unhurt.

How to Look Years Less Than Your Age

The most aged face will look years younger after the use of ordinary mercolized wax for from ten days to two weeks. This remarkable substance, because of its peculiar absorptive power, actually removes the thin veil of faded or withered outer cuticle, a little at a time. Gradually the fresher, more youthful skin underneath is revealed. This absorption process being a purely hygienic one, an entirely natural complexion is acquired—quite different from the artificial complexion, which appears anything but girlish, though often bearing painful evidence of childishness. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to rejuvenate any complexion. It is put on like cold cream at bedtime, and removed mornings with warm water.

To eradicate such age marks as wrinkles and furrows, make a wash lotion by dissolving one ounce of powdered saxolite in one-half pint witch hazel. This has wonderful astringent and tonic properties. It quickly effaces all kinds of wrinkles, no matter how caused, making the skin firm, smooth and young looking.—Advertisement.

RED CROSS WEEK.

Red Cross week is inaugurated today. The goal of this great movement that is to sweep the length and breadth of the land by next Saturday night is one hundred million dollars.

To reach this there must be maintained a daily average of seventeen million dollars. That is a good deal of money to bring out as a free will offering each day, contemplated by itself as seventeen million dollars.

But there are more than one hundred millions of people from whom to take the offering. A dollar for each of these will bring in the money that is asked for and needed to suitably finance the Red Cross for its work in the war. The man who can and will give two dollars will give for himself and another, for there are here and there some who cannot give and here and there some who will not give anything. Those who can must give for those who won't. It may not be ethically fair; few things of the sort are. It is a question of patriotism, a consideration of humanity, a hearkening to mercy—this giving to the Red Cross—and no one who is patriotic, humane and merciful will care to shape his standard of conduct by what his neighbor does not do.

Be ready for the Red Cross call. Determine what you can afford to do and do it. Fort Wayne is expected this week to contribute eighty thousand dollars to the Red Cross fund. Here again comes the dollar apiece argument. That is the average Fort Wayne is counted upon to maintain. A good deal, perhaps, yet little enough, is this sum. It will put no one to stress if it shall come from the pockets of all the people. There will be many generous givers—those who do the best they can, whether the limit of means be large or small. If every one who can give at all were to set himself the duty of giving in that way to the Red Cross Fort Wayne's share of the fund would be raised with many thousands to spare, for the better credit of the city in this good work.

The great body of the people should improve this early occasion to become acquainted with the needs of the Red Cross to sustain its holy part in the great war. Everybody knows there is a Red Cross and almost everybody has some notion of its purpose; but it is not so much a certainty that everybody is familiar with his own personal obligation to the Red Cross and to support it for its work in our war.

Our armies must have its ministrations, else the men in our armies will suffer untold and needless anguishes and agonies. Every dollar given to the Red Cross means relief for some one somewhere. That is a fact as absolute as that war inflicts pain.

The greater the American Red Cross contingent, the more complete its equipment, the more thorough its training and the more abundant its supplies the better it will be for our boys at the front and for their allies who must bear the same battles and share the same perils. If the armies of Europe could cry their appeal into the ears of America today there would be no slacking of anybody with a dime in his pocket. It would go to the Red Cross and with its donor's richest blessing and, though it were his last bit of silver, with no regret save that it could not be multiplied a thousand fold.

The Red Cross campaign, however, is going to take nobody's last penny. There is no need that it should. If all who can give at all will give fairly according to their means the fund will be raised quickly, fully and to no one's inconvenience, much less sacrifice or hardship.

Red Cross week has started. It is a great drive for one hundred million dollars. The money is needed. The people must give it.

AGAIN, THINK IT OVER.

We believe that if the members of the city council will give some studious thought to the reasons which impelled Mayor Hosey to veto the gasoline plant ordinance they will incline to a reconsideration of their action in nullifying the veto.

The mayor takes a good position. His reasons for opposing the contract ratified by the council are strong. As the mayor points out, the policy and practice of a quarter of a century are set aside and measures and bounds long established against certain perils are wiped out. It is difficult to construct a defense of such a proceeding.

If the members of the council will consult with the fire underwriters in Fort Wayne, or submit the case to the National board of underwriters, we feel sure that they will be able to get some light that perhaps the council has not yet had. Fort Wayne has been compelled to submit to some exhorbitancies of risk premiums because of various shortcomings counted against the city by the inspecting engineers of the National board from time to time. Some of these objectionable conditions to which high rates have been ascribed have been removed. Progress is to be noted in the extinction of others. It hardly can be thought wise to create new and more flagrant conditions.

The Indiana state fire marshal might be able to help the council to a better understanding if he were asked to state his views in this case. There are certain restraints of law that we doubt the council of this city has the power to supervene. It doubtless would be well before a finality is made of the gasoline station ordinance to make sure that what is done will stand.

We do not believe that for the integrity of its record as an official body or for the integrity of the record of each of its members upon a matter having any virtue as determining official purpose or private opinion respecting both the ancient oil monopoly and the value of competition the city council has any need to pursue courses that are unwise. We believe the council will not be understood as under influence or control of Standard oil or as hostile to any competitor of Standard oil if it shall mark its course by the highest considerations of public safety.

The destruction of fences that have been maintained for the public security during more than a quarter of a century is a serious matter and should come in response only to imperative occasion.

Is there such occasion now?

RUSSIA ASSURES AGAIN.

Russia has given her allies assurance once more. There will be no separate peace with Germany. The duma orders the army to go ahead and fight and keep at it until the world is made safe for new democracies and old ones, too.

It is fine. It is to rejoice. It is also to laugh, if a laugh can be tickled out of a situation so portentous.

Russia's new order has done little else since last March save to fool away time on the battle fronts and pen protestations of loyalty to the finish. But there has been no fighting. Had Russia held up her end through the past three months, the Italians by now would have been in Trieste and the various German lines—Hindenburg, Wotan or what not—in north France and in Belgium would have been pretty well smashed.

Perhaps Russia will yet come through, but there is simply the devil's own mess in that land and the safest thing the allies—including the United States—can do is to count Russia of no account and prepare to win the war without her help.

To rely upon anything so unstable, uncertain and perhaps so treacherous as the elements of violence that for the present have the upper hand in the Muscovite affairs is to court danger.

CONGRESS SAVING US AGAIN.

Congress is expected to require two weeks to talk itself into a humor for passing the food control bills and the senate may not pass it at all. There is a fear that our well-known and deeply cherished democracy will plunge to the demnition bow-bows if we do anything so radical as to prevent ruthlessness in the food markets.

That is what Champ Clark and Claude Kitchin said about the selective conscription bill. These and their followers—sparse enough altogether, they were—delayed that measure weeks.

There has been a drooling for two months and more with the war revenue measure. Now comes these food bills, introduced long ago and put away in the dark, out of their retirement because the president had insisted.

Congress having passed a resolution embodying a declaration of war does not yet know that there is war.

That the answer to the U-boat has not been found is indicated several times almost every day. Those who think America has nothing to do in the war but furnish the money and the bombast, will feel better when worse things happen if they revise their notions a bit and prepare to help push this country forward to readiness.

Hope hospital factions seemed to have had the idea that it would help some to furnish their own business. It was a gory but happily unrealized prospect.

BEFORE DAWN.

(Dedicated with some anxiety, to the Cass street, Chicago, poets—to whom life is certainly as bitter as a tear.)

The low moon shivers in the West,
The river holds its broken voice,
The birds crouch wide-eyed on their nest,
And have no choice.

The ghost-lights quicken overhead,
And sallow clouds slip through the sky,
Like shadows of the hopeless dead
Who had to die.

The forests fold about the lakes,
Like nightish mantles in cold dreams
Of rotting shrouds from which one wakes
And pants and screams.

Just there on yon blue ridge gray Fear
With Night a stirrup-cup must quaff,
While in the reeds—methinks I hear
Our young bull calf!

A NEW CONSTITUTION
By John A. Lapp, Bureau of Legislative Information

The Civil Service of the State, Its Abuses Due to Partisan Politics and the Remedies

(Copyright 1917 by John A. Lapp.)

There are no exact figures of the number of people employed in the work of the government. The national government employs about a half million in Washington and over the country to do its work. The states, cities, counties, towns and townships probably employ three times that number for a part or all of the time. The matter of building and caring for roads and streets alone takes many thousands of men. The work of government covers so many fields that practically all kinds of workers are needed, from the highest skilled and professional workers to the men who work at common labor.

The method in general use in appointing and hiring men for government work has been the spoils method. The men elected to office by a political party have rewarded the members of their party by distributing the positions among them. Government positions have been wrongly looked upon as easy places where the pay was good and the work light and where no special knowledge or ability was required. Every time the control shifted from one party to another, the old employes were turned out and new ones put in their places. This was called rotation in office. In most of the states and cities of this country, that is the system which prevails today. Every change of party puts out the experienced workers and puts new untried people in their places. It was so unbusinesslike thus to handle affairs that thinking men began to see the folly of using the positions in the government service as a means of rewarding political workers instead of serving the people. The demand grew strong for civil service reform. The central idea of such reform was that public office or position is a public trust and that all persons should be selected for merit and retained as long as they do their duty well. It was pointed out that no business concern could prosper if it used the spoils method of filling its positions.

The first step was taken by the United States in 1883, when the civil service law was passed which classfied the positions in the various departments of the federal government and required that persons appointed to certain positions show evidence of qualification. The president was given power to add other positions and during the years since, more than nine-tenths of all positions in the United States government have been placed under the merit system. The states of New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, California, Colorado and Connecticut have placed the merit system in operation for a large part of their employes, and many large cities have followed the same example. Nearly all large cities now select policemen and firemen without regard to politics and remove them only for cause.

Appointments to the civil service by means of examinations are now made for many thousands of positions. The examinations are held by the United States civil service commission for positions under the federal government and by the state and city commissions in these states and cities which have this system, for positions in the state and city service. These commissions give such tests as they think will best prove the qualifications of the applicants. In some cases, the test is simple and easy. For some positions, such as that of laborers, the fitness of the applicant is easily determined; while for highly skilled positions, the commission may need to give thorough tests of knowledge, experience, general ability and fitness.

The merit system has many advantages over the spoils system.

First—Men are appointed to places because they have proved that they are the best qualified and not because they are political friends of the person making the appointment. This is the method of filling places in all successful business. No business could be successful if the important positions were filled by friends of the manager without regard to their ability in the business.

Second—Under the merit system every person is continued in his position as long as he is able to perform the duties properly. He is removed only for cause. Employes therefore have an opportunity to learn the work they are doing thoroughly, and become expert at it. No employe will take pride in his work if he knows that he may be removed without cause.

Third—Promotion and honors are the principal incentive to cause men to work. The merit system stimulates men to do their best in the hope that they may get the rewards. Wherever civil service reform has been well established, all promotions are made on merit. The chance is thus given to every one to rise in the service.

Fourth—The merit system stimulates people to prepare for the civil service as a life career. Under the spoils system, no one would prepare himself especially for a government position, because some unprepared politician might have a better chance of getting the place. He would not be sure that if he got it he could keep it beyond the next election. Under the merit system, any person may prepare to serve his government in any one of the hundreds of promising fields open to him, knowing that his own merit would be the test in getting the place and in holding it. One of the greatest needs of the country is to get the best men to serve the people, and under the merit system this is possible. In Germany, England and France, where the merit system prevails, the highest grade of men go into the public service as a life career. That ought to be so everywhere in America. It is so in many branches of the United States government service and is developing in the states and cities.

Questions for Investigation.

1. What harmful effects come from "rotation in office."

2. Is a written examination a fair test of a person's ability. What other evidences of qualifications should be required?

3. Should a person, once appointed, hold a public place indefinitely?

DIRECTOR HOOVER TELLS 200,000 PASTORS WASTE MEANS LOSS OF THE WAR

Herbert C. Hoover, national food director, mailed today a letter to 200,000 pastors of individual churches, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, calling upon them to co-operate with him and with the department of agriculture in urging the largest possible production of food and the smallest possible amount of waste.

"As a minister of God," writes Mr. Hoover, "a leader of the people and a lover of liberty and of your fellowmen, your co-operation is earnestly desired and greatly needed. In such a time as this the people naturally turn to the church. It will be a calamity to the nation and to the churches if their chosen ministers neglect to exercise their proper leadership in the great cause of feeding a world in need. For the world is in want of food.

"To meet the needs of the war and of the world, we must produce generously, give freely to our allies, ourselves eat as much, but no more, than we need, and especially save the waste. Lasting disgrace will fall upon us if lack of self-restraint should prevent us from taking our proper part in this great conflict against the doctrine of 'might makes right.'"

Mr. Hoover estimates the annual waste of food at one billion dollars. He urges a larger use of corn and corn bread in the family ration.

"The women of America," says Mr. Hoover, "have never failed to answer such a call as comes to them now. The saving of food is within their sphere, and without food conservation we cannot win the war."

All pastors are urged to preach upon conservation of food, Sunday, July 1, which is designated as Food Saving day, and to secure the co-operation of religious and civic bodies in a campaign for food saving.

Mr. Hoover's 200,000 letters are sent to pastors through the agency of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, accompanied by a brief supplementary appeal by Dr. Frank Mason North, president of the council.

MANY FAILURES IN BUSINESS ARE DUE TO EATING HABITS

Many business failures are caused by irrational eating, and abuse of the stomach is one method of suicide, Dr. J. N. Hurty, state health commissioner, says. Discussing the subject of rational eating he said:

"The Biblical utterance, 'He who saves his life shall lose it,' is not a paradox. Neither is it a paradox to say, 'He who eats for pleasure shall achieve pain.' Nor yet is it a paradox to declare 'He who lives to eat shall not live to eat.'

"Wrong eating of wrong foods does the human race more harm than alcoholic intemperance. Standing in the doorway of a dining room of a great sanitarium where 600 invalids were at their noonday lunch the superintendent said, 'These are all valiant but vanquished knights of the dining table.' Continuing he asserted, 'If I can only induce them to want to eat rationally they will get well.'

"It was rather interesting to know that that intelligent bunch—all well educated and possessed of means—should be in a hospital simply because they had long practiced irrational eating. The superintendent further said, 'Very many business failures are caused by irrational eating. Surely making a garbage can of one's stomach does not pay. Why do we do it? Is it because we don't know. If so, we better had know, for the penalty for not knowing is weakness, invalidism and death; yes, and sometimes insanity between the invalidism and death. You can't eat your cake and keep it, too. Neither can you ruin your stomach and keep it also."

"To all this, some who are bent on suicide by stomach abuse will say, 'Oh, you are a crank.' They give this answer because they are weak in will and self-indulgence. We all have heard dyspeptics say, 'Why can't I eat what I want?' They should put it this way, 'Why don't I want to eat rationally?' By not wanting to eat rationally and by not doing so, they simply prove their unfitness and nature slowly and painfully pushes them off the dock.

"Dr. J. Rilus Eastman, of Indianapolis, who returned recently from Austria, where for a year he was engaged in war hospital work, says that gastric and intestinal disorders have decreased greatly in that country since the people have been forced to eat moderately and simple coarse foods. He further says that coffee could not be obtained at all, and most likely the absence of this drug helped some.

"The time surely is ripe for Americans to stop all irrational eating. If they will not they simply are chumps to complain of stomach trouble and the high cost of living."

THE MARINE CORPS.

(Indianapolis News.)

During this week the marine corps, "the soldiers who go to sea," will endeavor to fill out its ranks to war strength, 30,000 men, and its need is for 4,000 exceptional alert, brave and strong men between the ages of eighteen and thirty. Indianapolis has been asked to send thirty, or about five a day for the week, the men to enlist for the period of the war or for the regular term.

The marine corps is a challenge to the best in American manhood. The qualifications are higher than for the army or navy, and the duty is in keeping. Time and again, when the country is at peace, the American people learn of outbreaks in remote quarters of the world where the lives of American citizens are placed in jeopardy. For perhaps a week the dispatches tell of lawlessness and of the failure of local authorities to keep order. Then comes the brief announcement that the American marines have landed, and in nearly every case that is the end of the trouble. Later dispatches generally tell of the marines doing almost anything from stopping a typhoid epidemic to collecting taxes. Little is said of their battles for the reason that they are never defeated, even though outnumbered ten to one. But the war records tell their story, and among them are many who wear the coveted Medal of Honor.

The number of men rejected asunfit by the marine corps recruiting officers may discourage some from seeking membership, but no young man to whom this branch of the service appeals, and who wishes to serve his cuntry at this time, should fail to try to qualify. He will know that if he fails he is not necessarily barred from other branches of the service, and if he succeeds he will be numbered among picked men and will be a better man for his service. Indiana has never yet failed to produce the men asked for, and during this week it should lend its influence and tradition to keeping up the record as it affects the marines.

KEEP TO THE NORMAL.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

This country is great enough and prosperous enough to prosecute the war and business side by side. Indeed, each may be made to support the other with mutual profit.

Commercial and industrial development should go on in normal fashion. By the same token public work should not be permitted to languish by postponement. If they were important enough to warrant prosecution in peace times, they should not be set aside now because we are at war. On the contrary, they should be carried on precisely as if conditions had not changed—for that is the way to keep prosperous conditions from changing. If we abandon all manner of projects, public and private, at this time, we shall bring about a contraction that bodes trouble.

Selfridge, the great retail merchandising establishment of London, made a net profit of a million dollars last year, an increase of 30 per cent over its previous high record. In the midst of war, carrying heavy war taxes, bearing unusual burdens, this concern actually increased its business and profits. Does any one suppose this was accomplished by contraction, by hanging back, by postponing enterprise till a more convenient season? No; it was by pushing ahead, by striving for a normal development in spite of war handicaps.

If such things can be done in London, how much more can they be done hereabouts?

The truest wisdom for us is to keep to the normal—to develop and grow naturally, to buy and sell, to build and exploit, precisely as we would do if there were peace.

Uncle Harry Explains "No Annexations and No Indemnities"

"What does 'no annexations and no indemnities' mean?" asked Jimmy.

"I've been expecting one of you to ask that question," said Uncle Harry.

"Every day the paper has something about it," said Helen. "Will you explain it to us?"

"Be glad to," said Uncle Harry. "And I'll begin my explanation by asking Joe to get the dictionary and read to us what it says is the meaning of the word "annexation." "

Joe had soon found the page and was reading: "Annexation—the act of adding or annexing."

"And in connection with war," said Uncle Harry, "the word annexation generally means the taking of a nation or a portion of a nation—by force. That is, the victorious nation takes or 'annexes' certain land belonging to the defeated nation. Now Joe, look up the word 'indemnity" and then I'll explain about the 'no annexation and no indemnities' talk in the war news.'

"Indemnity—compensation for damage or injury," read Joe.

"And compensation is only a long word for pay," said Uncle Harry. "So indemnity means pay for damages or injury."

"I think I begin a see what 'no annexations and no indemnities' means," said Helen.

"Tell us," said Uncle Harry.

"It means that the nations that win the war will not compel the nations that lose to give up any of their land or pay the winning nations any money," said Helen.

"Very good, Helen," said Uncle Harry.

"Now tell us, Uncle Harry, where and how this talk about 'no annexations and no indemnities' started," added Jimmy.

"It started in Russia, after the people had overthrown the Czar and established their own government," said Uncle Harry. "But it has also been talked about a great deal in all the countries. There are, of course, many opinions as to whether it should be applied in settling this war."

"Has the Russian government agreed to 'no annexations and indemnities?' " asked Helen.

"It has said that it is in favor of such a program or agreement," said Uncle Harry, "and has asked the governments of the other Allies to state whether they approve the plan."

"Why is Russia in favor of 'no annexation and no indemnities?' " asked Joe.

"The Russian officials believe," said Uncle Harry, "that unless all the fighting nations agree to this plan, neither side will quit until millions more men are killed and wounded, and the loser is completely crushed, because each side fears that if it is defeated the victor will take or annex considerable of its land and people and then force the conquered side to pay millions and millions of dollars—perhaps billions, to the victor, not only to repair the damage done by the defeated armies during the war but as a punishment."

"But, Uncle Harry, suppose Germany is defeated, don't you think she should be punished?" asked Jimmy.

"Indeed I do think that Germany should be punished," said Uncle Harry, "but the point is, folks, that Germany has already been punished, and she will be punished a lot more before the war ends. And by punished I mean this: Germany has already lost millions of men, has all but exhausted her own resources, and is buried under a war debt that will put heavy taxes on the German people for generations. But what is perhaps the severest punishment the German government has suffered is this: The war has shown the German people that the kaiser and his supposedly irresistible army can not sweep over Europe and do whatever it pleases."

"But Germany will have to give up Belgium, won't she?" asked Helen.

"Unquestionably," said Uncle Harry. "I firmly believe that Germany will be defeated, and that she will have to give up all the land she has conquered. But it would not be annexation for the allies to take back the land that they possessed at the beginning of the war. The question of annexation would come up if any of the allies attempted to take any of the land held by Germany, or Austria, or Bulgaria, or Turkey before the war. And making Germany pay a certain sum to help rebuild the ruined parts of Belgium, France and Serbia would in a way be an indemnity, but it would not be what is known as 'punitive indemnity'—that is, an indemnity fixed as a punishment.

"Why are some people opposed to annexations and indemnities?" asked Jimmy.

"The idea is this," said Uncle Harry. "In all past wars when the victors have annexed land from the defeated and made the defeated pay punitive indemnities, the annexations and indemnitives have left 'sore spots.' The defeated nation has always hoped for revenge, and a longing for revenge brings more trouble and more war.

"And if it is possible, when this war ends, nothing must be done that will plant the seeds for another war; too many lives have been lost and the sacrifices of the people have been too great. That's why the question of annexations and indemnities is being studied and discussed so much. The different governments are not yet agreed as to just exactly what is meant by these two terms, but if by the time the war ends it is clear to all the nations that 'no annexations and no punitive indemnities' are necessary to a lasting peace then the Russian program will be adopted."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondents' names will not appear in the articles.

The Test of Time.

Say what you will, time tries all things, only the best survive. Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy has been in use for more than forty years. Many millions of bottles have been sold and used during this time. It has stood the test of time because it can always be depended upon.—Advertisement.

Most Common of Bodily Ills.

By far the most common of bodily ills is constipation. The usual cause is the indifference of many people to Nature's call. The inclination is not heeded, or it is put off until a more convenient time. When this is done repeatedly, constipation is almost sure to follow. It is of the utmost importance that everyone establish a certain time for the bowels to move each day and let nothing interfere with it. When that is done and proper food and exercise are taken and an abundance of drinking water, the bowels are not likel yto give much trouble. When a laxative is required take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are mild and gentle, easy to take and agreeable in effect.—Advertisement.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Ford Cars Have Not Raised in Price

Contrary to expectations, there has been no increase as yet in the price of Ford Cars. While nothing official has been published as to raising the price, the wide-spread impression points to an inevitable increase at any time.

The world-wide demand for Ford cars has increased to such an extent that even with this month's production of 80,000 cars, dealers universally are unable to take cars of the demand.

You should order now. You will not have to wait as long now as later. You will be having the advantage of price, and a dollar saved is a dollar earned.

ORGANIZE KNOB CLUB.

The bartenders at the meeting yesterday organized a branch of the "Knob" club, a society whose mission is "fun" and lots of it. This organization has been in existence in the international body of the bartenders for ten years and has furnished much amusement at the conventions. The Fort Wayne branch elected the following officers: Al Lamont, royal highness; W. A. Jackson, secretary and knobber; Frank Fry, treasurer; Al Brabrandt, sergeant-at-arms; Charles Maxwell, inspector of knobs. The local union will meet in special session next Sunday to hear reports of the delegates to the St. Louis convention.

SUFFERED PARALYTIC STROKE.

While waiting for a train at the Nickel Plate railroad station, Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Sarah Dettman, mother of Mrs. Otto Meyers, suffered a paralytic stroke. The woman came here several days ago to attend the funeral of Mrs. William Meyers. She was taken to the home of her daughter when she had rallied sufficiently from the shock. She is improving.

Attending the recital were, in addition to Miss Bauer, Misses Helen Trisch, Evelyn Hinton, Margurite Wirth, Emily Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wirth.

Mr. and Mrs. Berg Heinricks and daughter, Miss Marjorie, and Mrs. Joseph Priesthoff and Hallie Cummins, of Anderson, drove through Saturday and visited over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Remmel, of Jackson street. Mrs. Heinricks and daughter will remain for a few days, the others returning Sunday evening.

One of many pretty parties given recently to honor Miss Lorinda Braun, who is to wed this week, took place on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Jerome Bobilya and Mrs. Arthur Rose was an assisting hostess. The young women of the company spent their time hemming towels for the coming bride, and they as well as a shower of individual gifts were heaped upon the table for Miss Braun to take home. Decorations of pink roses and swansonia were charmingly arranged and included the customary details in the way of place cards and so on.

George Crouse, jr., celebrated his fourteenth birthday anniversary on Saturday evening by entertaining his classmates of the Bloomingdale school eighth grade. Games were enjoyed and music and refreshments were a part of the pleasure Mrs. Crouse had arranged. During the evening George jr. was presented with a fine camera from his friends. It was a merry company and all had a happy evening.

Miss Emma Dornberg and Miss Edna Rohrbaugh gave a party of happy planning on Friday, when they invited Miss Margaret Barva, who is to be a bride soon, and a number of other close friends to the parlors of the Edison Lamp works. The amusements for the evening were a game of bunco, dancing and clothespin contest. A supper was by no means the least part of the pleasure. Miss Barva received gifts and everyone had a good time. Participating were Misses Lelia Horn, Eunice Roberts, Grace Burkhold, Marie Carpenter, Janie Miller, Mabel Stump, Rose Delagrange, Lillian Disler, Kathryn Ryan, Clara Kohlmyer, Zelma Long, Hilda Smith, Almira Lehmier, Hilda Ulmer, Marie Muldoon, Edith Rempus, Bess Jeff, Gladys Barva, Fae Stevenson and Martha Cutter.

Tracht—Bradley.

Miss Mae Bradley and Mr. Harold Tracht were married in Defiance, O., on Monday, June 4, at the home of the groom's parents. The wedding was not made public in this city until Friday evening when Mrs. Frank M. Rhodes, of Florida drive, an intimate friend of the bride, gave a party in her honor. It was supposedly a pre-nuptial affair and not until supper was served did the guests discover that it was post-nuptial instead. Knowing that there was to be a wedding this month the guests, were on the lookout for something to sew, something to see and something to eat in the midst of something lovely in the way of decoration. Consequently a miniature bride raised no particular exclamations, neither did the shower of pretty ribbons from the electrolier, nor the towels the guests hemmed, nor the cupids and hearts seen in decoration and in the things served for refreshments. But when Mrs. Tracht opened the center decoration of the table and disclosed a marriage certificate, license and a wedding ring, it came to light that their hostess was no longer Miss Bradley, but Mrs. Tracht, there was a great to-do about it, and about the sweet bride. Mrs. Tracht is a daughter of Mrs. Emma Bradley, of Beaver avenue. Mr. Tracht is proprietor of the Colonial billiard hall.

AT THE PALACE

"HIS BRIDAL TOUR."

Merry Farce by Lasalle Company at the Palace.

"His Bridal Tour," a merry farce-comedy that might stretch one's credulity if he were to be too captious in his seeking of plausibility in some of the scenes out which is just what good little farces are supposed to be, a merry whim, is the offering in which the Lasalle Musical Comedy company is appearing in the first half of the week at the New Palace. This is farewell week at the New Palace as the Lasalle company will on Thursday evening open in "Lovers and Lunatics," closing Saturday evening and then presenting for one day only the old time favorite, "The Time, Place and the Girl," and winding up the season.

There is no matinee Wednesday, the theater being used on that day for graduation exercises. The Lasalle company will take advantage of this fact to play the Elks ball club at Lawton park. Thursday afternoon is another half day off as some more graduations are to be done that day.

In the current offering the Lasalle quartet is royally received in some novel specialty numbers. These four versatile entertainers never fail to come through with something real.

GOOD HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A dingy oilcloth may be brightened by washing it in clear water in which a little borax has been dissolved and then drying with a flannel cloth which has been dipped in milk.

An excellent remedy for mildew is to saturate the article with kerosene. Roll it up and let it stand for twenty-four hours and then wash it in very hot soapsuds.

Boiled olive oil to which a few drops of vinegar have been added is fine for highly polished surfaces. Apply to moderate quantities and rub with a soft flannel cloth.

To clean gas and electric light shades and china, dust and wash in soap and water and dry thoroughly.

COST OF MEALS REDUCED BY COOKING IN CASSEROLE

"Casserole cookery has not received the consideration it should," said a woman yesterday when means of presenting nourishing food to the family at the smallest possible cost of money and energy were discussed.

"Most people have confounded casserole with chafing dish cookery and have considered it more or less of a fad. Chafing dish cooking is rather expensive and should be used by those living in rooms where it is impossible to use the long even heat that is necessary to casserole cooking.

"Casserole and fireless cookery is the greatest conservator of food values. Meat that is cooked by long, slow heat becomes tender and toothsome. The gravy is rich with fats and the addition of vegetables makes the dish an entire well-balanced dinner when a salad or a sweet is added.

"All meat should be cut in slices large enough for one portion and browned in fat. Chicken is sometimes cooked whole, but it will be found more delicious is disjointed and first browned in a little fat.

"This fat is more tasty if the onions to be used in the casserole are first fried in it. After removing the meat brown a little flour in the fat and then add water and the other vegetables and cook at least two hours—three is better.

"I give my family casserole from left-over beefsteak, to which I add two or three kidneys and a slice of bacon. Liver makes a delicious casserole and if one likes tripe there is no better way to cook it than with onions, carrots, potatoes and pimentoes in a casserole."

CAREFUL WORK NECESSARY IN HANDLING SOFT GOODS

Silks and satins are being so largely used for the development of dresses, suits and coats that it is important to observe certain rules at the very beginning of their possession if these materials are to give satisfactory service.

For example, large pins or needles should never be used in the fitting or the stitching of silk fabrics. They make permanent holes and, if extra large, break the threads, then the silk tears easily. Dressmakers should be cautioned against the use of such pins and needles.

Put new needles in the sewing machine before working on new silks. With old needles, even slightly blunted, the silk is certain to pucker and draw.

Be careful in plaiting or ruffling that the iron used is not too hot. An over-heated iron will crack any silk.

TRIMMINGS FROM GARDEN GOOD FOR FERTILIZING.

Never burn your leaves or anything which will decay. Put them into your compost heap. All the garden trimmings and lawn clippings, leaves, even garbage, may be brought together and by the use of lime kept from being offensive while undergoing the change which will make them invaluable for enriching your garden.

Nitrates and phosphates are excellent for the soil, but these are expensive and to many their price is prohibitive. This is another reason why your compost heap is an essential. Where it is possible a green cover crop of clover, alfalfa, peas or beans may be plowed under with beneficial results.

Except bones, which may be burned, almost anything may be utilized more effectively as compost than as ashes, which are difficult to handle and a large portion of which is likely to escape. Of course if you have wood ashes from the fireplace, save them carefully and use them where they will do the most good.

DON'T IMPAIR HEALTH BY HABIT OF WORRYING.

It is a trite saying that a sense of humor is a saving grace. The expression is especially true in a health sense. Fretting and fuming generate a poison in the system that shortens one's days. Fear and worry upset the digestion and disturbs sleep. Worry is mental work. When you are worrying you are working your brain. The person who worries a great deal either neglects his regular work or works overtime. Anger, too, damages the fine texture of the brain as well as other delicate structures.

In these troublesome times it is especially important to cultivate poise. Never lose your temper foolishly, and cheerfully do whatever war-time task you are called upon to perform.

France has not lost her sense of humor in spite of the war, neither should we. The French soldier has developed philosophy out of the war which may be summed up in the single phrase, "Why worry?" It is a good doctrine.

Do your bit and look pleasant about it and quit worrying. If it is not becoming your dignity to smile outside, smile inwardly. A smile loosens up the nervous tension and lets the body machinery work more smoothly and efficiently.

MUSIC SEVERAL EVENINGS A WEEK GOOD PRACTICE.

It is a salutary practice to have music in the home several evenings a week. In fact, it is well to have it almost every evening, for at least half an hour after the evening meal.

For music, if we are at all fond of it, has remarkably beneficial effects. It does much more than give enjoyment to the mind. It influences helpfully even the internal organs and process of the body.

Voltaire, that witty critic, when he said that our purpose in going to the opera was to promote digestion, proclaimed an established truth, the full meaning of which he, undoubtedly, had no idea of.

PULL LEAVES OFF STALKS AFTER PICKING FLOWERS

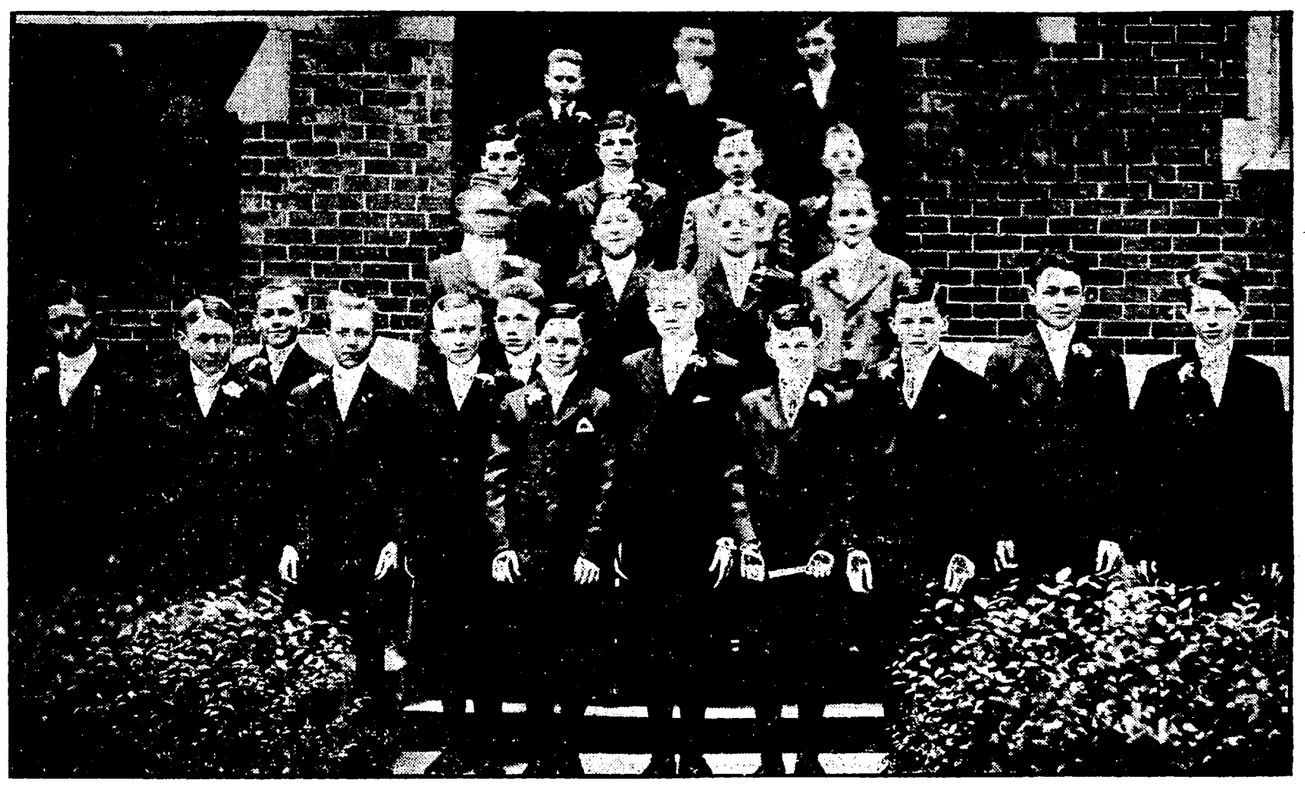
Always pull the leaves off the stalks of flowers before putting them in water—those leaves which would be in the water, not those above it. And with flowers from any hard stalked sort of shrub the bark should be peeled off as well as the leaves.

The flowers live very much longer if these precautions are taken. A scrap of charcoal in the water also is a great preservative.

When flowers wilt cut the stems and plunge them into hot water. It is marvelous what a reviving effect this will have.

CLASS OF THIRTY-NINE GRADUATES RECEIVES DIPLOMAS AND CERTIFICATES AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH SUNDAY

GRADUATES FROM ST. CATHERINE'S ACADEMY.



GRADUATES FROM EIGHTH GRA DE OF ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOL.

The above are pictures of the sixteen young women graduates from St. Catherine's academy and twenty-three young men of the St. Patrick's parochial school.

The annual commencement exercises were held Sunday morning at St. Patrick's Catholic church, when diplomas and certificates were conferred. Rev. J. F. Delaney delivered the address and presented the diplomas. He also was celebrant at solemn high mass.

The young women in the top picture are: Gladys Groman, Margaret Costigan, Grace Kinney, Frances Landstoffer, Henrietta Dodane, Catherine Kelly, Gertrude Grosjean, Gladys Kleber, Mabel Delagrange, Walburga Baker, Edith Grahan, Dorothy Ross, Helen Litot, Catherine O'Reilly, Claire Zurbuch, Frieda Winegart.

A reception will be given this evening for the sixteen graduates from St. Catherine's academy at St. Patrick's lyceum.

BOUDOIR CAP AND GOWN.

RICHARDSON DESIGN FOR YOKE AND CAP.

(By Betty Brown.)

Crocheting is one of the fashionable finger employments this summer. It is the present fancy to make practical pieces such as the gown yoke and cap of matching pattern designed by Richardson after a choice Cluny original. For a dainty, but laundry resisting gown yoke this pattern is excellent.

MOOSE WILL HOLD OUTING NEXT SUNDAY

Many Local Members to Attend All-Day Picnic at Hamilton Lake.

Over 100 members of the local lodge of Moose are expected to attend the outdoor picnic and celebration of the Loyal Order of Moose to be held at Island park, Hamilton lake, Indiana, next Sunday. The outing is being given by a number of Ohio and Indiana lodges and is open to the public. An excellent program has been arranged, with boating, band concert, speeches, drill contests and singing. William Trickett Giles, supreme secretary of the Mooseheart home, and Hon. W. H. Shinn, Montpelier, Ohio, representative of the Ohio general assembly, will deliver addresses. A silk lodge banner will be given to the best drill team and a lodge pennant to the team that finishes second. The program is as follows:

Morning.

10 to 11—Band concert.
11 to 12—Grand march.

Afternoon.

12 to 1—Old fashioned basket dinner.
1 to 2—Band concert.
2 to 2:30—Welcome address by Hon. W. H. Shinn.
3 to 4—Address by Wm. Trickett Giles.
4 to 5—Drill contests.
5 to 5:30—Boat race. One member from each lodge.

Evening.

8 p. m.—Campfire scenery.

Lodge Notes.

Henry W. Lawton camp, No. 35, United Spanish War Veterans, have elected five new members as follows: Basil Middleton, Bert H. Greiner, Charles Boblett, O. P. Hollaway and Chas. S. Brower.

Commander Samuel S. Kelker, of the Lawton Wayne post, No. 271, G. A. R., has received word of his appointment as aide-de-camp on the staff of Commander-in-Chief William K. Patterson, of the Grand Army of the Republic. The rank of colonel is conveyed with the appointment as national aide.

Jacob M. Stouder, brother of Frank E. Stouder, gave his son, James Vincent Stouder, the Master Mason degree. Mr. Stouder acted as worshipful master in the conferring of the degree upon his son. The local lodge will confer the Master Mason degree on a class next Friday.

Daughters of Workman, No. 1, will transact business at their meeting Tuesday, June 19, at the Lau building.

Mad Anthony Review, No. 27, will hold a tea Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lottie Slater, 2140 Fairfield avenue.

Here Comes the Bride in a Gossard Corset

No trousseau can be complete without a Gossard. Few girls but that will gladly choose the lesser of other wearing apparel to have the best Gossard obtainable at this time, the most momentous time of her life. Each year we fit many brides to their Gossard Corsets and assist them in the selection of their wearing apparel.

The exquisite materials and youthful lines of this season's models make them highly favored by the most carefully dressed woman. A selection of three Gossards is none too many for the trousseau, yet one or two may do. One for the ceremony, one for the trim tailored traveling suit and one for the morning hours on the return to the new home.

There is a Gossard for your figure type at the price you wish to pay.

ATTEMPTS TO ESCAPE FROM COUNTY FARM

Mrs. Lide Bennett Falls From Second Story Window, Breaking Arm.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Bluffton, Ind., June 18.—Mrs. Lida Bennett, who appealed to the governor to grant her possession of her child, made a ward of Wells county, fell and broke her arm in an attempt to escape from the county farm. Mrs. Bennett was confined in a second story room and when alone jumped to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet. Both bones of one wrist were broken and she was painfully bruised about the head and back and other arm. There is no vacant cell at the county farm, the only one there being used to confine an insane woman. For this reason Mrs. Bennett was locked in an upstairs room. The woman put up a fight against going to the county farm, but as she was dependent upon the township for support, it was thought the best place for her.

May Junk Traction Line.

From authentic sources it has been learned that an effort is being made to sell as junk the Bluffton, Geneva and Celina traction line, between this city and Geneva. The proposition had not been acted upon at a stockholders meeting of the company, although it was brought up for discussion at a January meeting, it is said. Since then, it is declared, one stockholder has obtained a number of signatures from other stockholders asking that the road be sold, he being willing to take junk prices. Should the road be sold for junk, many firms would be placed at great inconvenience, some practically put out of business. At Geneva, the city holds a twenty-five year franchise for lighting purposes. The Studabaker Garin and Seed Company elevators at Linn Grove and Vera Cruz, get their electric current from the traction company also. It is said that Tom Flynn is at the head of the company trying to buy the road.

Short Bluffton Items.

One hundred and fifty shares of Bliss hotel stock having a par value of $15,000, were sold Saturday afternoon by the Studabaker bank, administrator of the Michael Long estate. Kenneth Kunkel was high bidder at $7,500.

Mrs. W. T. Arnold was again elected president of the Woman's Home Missionary society in the North Indiana conference, which held their session in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. William Golden, 40, died at 8:30 o'clock last night at her home east of the city. She had been ill only a week from white swelling of the limbs.

PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO FATHER MUNGOVAN

Funeral of Departed Priest Attended by Diocesan Clergy.

Local and diocesan clergy, former parishioners from Indiana Harbor and Anderson, besides relatives and members of every parish of Fort Wayne and vicinity, attended the funeral of Father Thomas Mungovan, which was held at St. Patrick's church Monday morning. Solemn chanting of the office of the dead at 9:30 was followed by the solemn requiem mass at 10 o'clock. Rev. Edward J. Mungovan, pastor of St. Paul's church, Valparaiso, and a brother of the deceased, was celebrant of the mass, and Rev. Joseph F. Delaney, rector of St. Patrick's, delivered the eulogy.

Sunday afternoon an immense concourse gathered at St. Patrick's church to pay tribute to the memory of the dead priest. The body was removed to the church from the home of the sister, Mrs. Richard Markey, 209 West Creighton avenue, and held in state, while a congregation that taxed the seating capacity of the church gazed for the last time on the form of the beloved priest. Members of the Holy Name society and of the Knights of Columbus kept vigil over the remains Sunday night.

BOSTON LABOR LOYAL.

Boston, June 18.—A resolution sent here by the central labor council of Seattle, Wash., calling on all organized wage earners to demand the repeal of the army draft act and asking that there be no relaxation of the present restrictions on Oriental immigration, was promptly and unanimously voted down by the Boston central labor union last night.

ELOPE TO KALAMAZOO.

Lillian Harlor and Ralph E. Keim eloped to Kalamazoo, Mich., last Tuesday and were married. They returned to Fort Wayne Thursday, intending to keep the matter secret, but the marriage was announced to their friends Sunday. Mr. Keim is a chaffaur, living at 137 Wallace street. Mrs. Keim lived at 2019 Bayer street, and was employed at the Wayne Knitting Mills.

PREPARE TO GIVE TO RED CROSS THIS WEEK

News of Our Neighbors

NEW TRIAL DATE.

William Fishback Will Be Tried Friday for Murder.

Hartford City, Ind., June 18.—Judge Eichhorn, of the Wells-Blackford circuit court, Friday afternoon named June 22 as the date for the trial of William Fishback, who is charged with the murder of Roy Brown, the Redkey grocer.

The court also ordered a special venire of thirty names from which to select a jury. Fishback was taken from Portland to Hartford City Friday morning.

According to a report from Portland, Hyter Steward, who is said to be the star witness for the prosecution, has been locked in the Jay county jail there to remain until the beginning of the trial. He is said to have been drinking heavily for the last several days and it was his own wish that he be locked up so he could have a "clear head" when called upon to testify in behalf of the prosecution.

A. G. Emshwiller, of Hartford City, has been chosen to assist in the defense of the case. Attorney Fleming of Portland is chief counsel for the defense. Each will receive $400 from the county for his services.

FOWL CHOLERA.

Decatur, Ind., June 18.—County Agent Overton has received a report from the examination made of the chicken from the James A. Hendricks farm which he sent to the veterinary department at Purdue university for examination a few days ago, for the purpose of determining the character of the malady that was decimating the chickens on the Hendricks farm. The examination showed the chickens to be afflicted with fowl cholera, a disease that is almost certainly fatal. There is no known remedy and the only thing to be done is to adopt precautions to prevent its spread. This will be done at once, in the hope that the disease may be stopped where it is and not allowed to spread to other farms and to the coops of chicken raisers in the vicinity.

WOOL FLEECES STOLEN.

Hartford City, Ind., June 18.—Wool fleeces valued at $290 were taken from the farms of W. A. Curry and O. S. Ford, both living just east of Millgrove, and police in all of the nearby towns have been asked to be on the watch for the stolen property.—Milton Richey, living near Montpelier, was arrested Friday by a posse of farmers, members of the Blackford county Horsethief Detective association. He was brought before the grand jury, where it is said he confessed a number of thefts and made statements that will result in the arrest of other persons.

NEW CASHIER NAMED.

Lagrange, Ind., June 18.—Samuel Musser has been elected cashier of the Lagrange State bank to succeed the late Gunther C. Nichols. Carl S. Willard will take the place of Mr. Musser as assistant cashier and Homer Smith will continue as bookkeeper. Dr. A. J. Hostetler was named as a director, succeeding the late Wallace Belden.

BOTH ARMS FRACTURED.

Huntington, Ind., June 18.—An employe of the Oscar Hurdle farm south of Huntington, named Harvey, fell twenty feet to the ground from a barn and suffered fractures of both arms. He may have sustained other injuries. The bones of one arm were broken in twenty places, the physician said who attended the injured man.

AWFUL JOLT WHEN VAN TAKES TUMBLE

Seventeen Passengers Go With Truck Into Ditch.

"It was an awful jolt," said one of the seventeen passengers of a large auto truck after the machine ran off of the Lincoln highway bridge, six miles east of the city, and had tumbled into the ditch. Three members of the picnic party of seventeen were slightly hurt when the heavy car fell from the bridge.

Ben Alleger, 519 Greenlawn avenue, had his hand cut; Mrs. William Elder, 660 High street, was bruised and suffered from a nervous shock, and Miss Laura Heger, daughter of Gotlieb Heger, was bruised.

J. T. Peck, driver of the big truck, blames William Grabner, 2105 East Washington, son of Henry Grabner, justice of the peace, for the accident, which proved very damaging to the heavy machine. Peck claims that Grabner, driving a racing car, struck the front axle of the truck as Grabner passed the large machine. Grabner denies hitting any part of the truck. He did not know there was an accident, he said, until his friend, Carl Lauer, who was riding with him, said, "Look, they went in the ditch."

WOMEN! READ THIS!

Lift off any corn or callus with fingers and it won't hurt a bit.

Your high heels have put corns on your toes and calluses on the bottom of your feet, but why care now?

This tiny bottle holds an almost magic fluid. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Small bottles of freezone like here shown can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Don't limp or twist your face in agony and spoil your beauty but get a little bottle of freezone and apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you can lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses without suffering one particle. You feel no pain or irritation while applying freezone or afterwards. It is magic.—Advertisement.

BRAIN STORM HAS SUBSIDED

Dissension and Trouble at Hope Hospital Is Nearing End.

SETTLEMENT IS NEAR AT HAND

Col. Foster States That He and Dr. Weaver Simply Lost Their Temper.

Calmness and censorship prevails over the brain storm which came near making Hope hospital close its doors. Everything gives appearance that the dissension and trouble between the board and staff has nearly boiled itself out and that a peaceful settlement has been effected.

The Fort Wayne institution is in condition, located in its new quarters in the Macbeth building on West Lewis street, to receive patients and give them the proper care. As far as can be ascertained, although Miss Springer, the head nurse, absolutely refused to make a statement, Monday morning, stating that she was not on duty as yet, the nurses' strike being a thing of the past.

Col. D. N. Foster, it was reported, came near having a fist fight with Dr. B. P. Weaver at the meeting last Friday night, stated Monday morning after an absence from the city for a day or two that there was no indication of a fist fight at the time, but that both he and the doctor had unfortunately lost their tempers.

The veteran soldier and business man also repudiates the story that some one in the meeting on Friday night spat in his face. It is regarded as only one of the many unfounded stories arising from general gossip that has attached itself to the unpleasant affair.

Rumors of a Clique.

For many months rumors have been in circulation in the city that a clique of doctors was running Hope hospital. This fact was discussed at the board meeting last Friday night. It was Colonel Foster's idea that there should be a reorganization of the staff as soon as the hospital found new quarters. He stated that it was not his opinion that the staff should be dispensed with. It seems that it was the opinion of all the board members that the staff should be increased and that the policy which had been in force heretofore that all able surgeons be allowed to practice in the institution, should be broadened.

Out of this, evidently, grew the misunderstanding that the board intended to do away with the staff altogether. The members of the staff opposed it bitterly and soon the nurses said they would go on a strike and continue their training somewhere else unless the old instructors were all retained.

Dr. Porter's Statement.

Dr. Miles F. Porter, head of the staff of Hope hospital, declares that the statement that the staff has been narrow and worked more for the interests of their own pocketbooks than for the institution, is ungrounded and false.

WOUNDED SOLDIER WILL RETURN SOON

Meetings Being Held to Stimulate Recruiting in Fort Wayne.

John McMillan, the member of Company E, First Indiana infantry, who was accidentally shot through the leg a few weeks before the boys returned to Indiana, has written to friends in the company that he is going to start homeward in about three weeks. He states that he is now in a wheel chair and that next week the physicians and nurses will allow him to try to walk on crutches. The Fort Wayne soldier boy is at the base hospital as Houston, Texas.

Under the auspices of the two artillery organizations in Fort Wayne a meeting was held Monday noon at the Wayne Knitting mills in an effort to stimulate recruiting in Fort Wayne and secure recruits for the two batteries. Meetings of a similar nature will be held Tuesday noon at Bowsers and at the General Electric works Wednesday noon.

Physician Is Called.

Dr. James W. Squires, of Fort Wayne, has been named captain in the medical reserve corps of the United States army and is assigned to duty at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Semi-official word has been received and he is now awaiting definite orders from the war department.

Co. E to Camp Out.

All the old members of Company E will go to the farm of Fred Shaw, a member of the company, next Saturday afternoon. The members will take their tents with them and camp out during the night and will return on Sunday. It is believed that sixty-five men will accompany Captain McAdams to the farm, which is located near Columbia City.

BOY SCOUTS ICE CREAM SALE.

Troop No. 3, boy scouts, will have an ice cream sale at the home of C. Keslar, scout master, 435 Huffman street, to raise money for their needs.

PROMINENT FARMER CLAIMED BY DEATH

Frederick Saalfrank Passes Away After Long Sickness From Cancer.

Frederick Saalfrank, aged 55 years, a prominent farmer of Marion township, died at his home Sunday night at 11:30 o'clock. Death was due to cancer, and followed an illness of two years.

The deceased was one of the well known farmers of Allen county, having lived in Marion township all his life. The farm which he occupied at the time of his death, was located about nine miles southeast of the city on the Wayne Trace. He was a member of Rev. Rodenbeck's congregation at Soest, in Marion township. He is survived by the wife and seven children, William, Arthur, Herbert and Carl Saalfrank, Mrs. F. Benzinger and Miss Amelia Saalfrank; the following brothers and sisters, John, Henry, Louis, William Saalfrank, Mrs. C. Alschwede and Mrs. Charles and Mrs. Henry Scherer, the latter of Fort Wayne. Six grandchildren also survive. Funeral announcements later.

O'CONNELL.

Joanna Burt O'Connell, aged 78 years, died at 2:15 o'clock Sunday morning at her home, 304 West Jefferson street, after an illness of one year from a complications of diseases. She was the widow of John O'Connell, who for many years was a member of the Fort Wayne police force and who died seven years ago. Mrs. O'Connell was married to John O'Connell at the church of the Immaculate Conception in 1863. She was almost a life-long resident of this city, coming here with her parents from Cleveland, Ohio, when she was one year old. She was the mother of thirteen children, six of whom survive. They are William, Charles and Joseph O'Connell, of Chicago, and Miss Agnes, Hugh and Frederick O'Connell, of Fort Wayne. Mrs. O'Connell was a member of the Cathedral congregation, and the Rosary society of Sacred Heart league. Funeral services Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the residence and at 10 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment at Catholic cemetery.

CARSON.

Word has been received here of the death of John Carson, a retired Pleasant township farmer, who died a few days ago in Houston, Texas, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alonzo Swank. Mr. Carson had spent his entire life in Allen county, until last December, when he went with his wife to Texas. Several brothers and sisters, besides the widow, survive. Burial will take place at Houston.

ELSWORTH.

Samuel Elsworth, a gardener of Montpelier, Ind., died at the St. Joseph hospital Monday morning at 6:15 o'clock at the age of 77 years. He had come here for an operation and had been ill since last Thursday. He is survived by the widow and one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Stevenson, of Columbia City. Remains will be sent by Peltier's to Montpelier for burial.

EHLERS.

Etta Hunting Ehlers, aged 24 years, of Vermillion, Ohio, died Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the St. Joseph hospital where she had been a patient for four days. Remains sent by Mungovan & Ryan to Mortimer, Ohio, where funeral services and burial will be held.

MEYERS.

Henrietta M. Meyers, aged 8 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meyers, 1024 Pape avenue, died Sunday morning. Surviving besides the parents are three brothers, Alfred, Arthur and Alva.

GRIDER.

Mary Grider, aged 14 years, an inmate of the I. S. S. F. M. Y., died Sunday night. The remains will be sent to Rushville, Ind., for burial.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Meyers—Funeral services for Henrietta Meyers will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the residence, 1024 Pape avenue, and at 2 o'clock at the Huntertown cemetery chapel. Interment in Huntertown cemetery. Auto funeral.

FIFTY THOUSAND AT HEADQUARTERS

Liberty Loan Office Changed Into Headquarters for Red Cross Campaign.

Saturday night when the office for the Allen County Liberty Loan association closed it was found in checking up that a total of fifty thousand dollars had been subscribed for the bonds at this place.

These offices have been changed into headquarters for the Red Cross campaign which is to be conducted in the city and entire county this week. Literature is being distributed and the various committees are meeting here before they start out on their work of canvassing.

Although the headquarters for the Liberty Loan bond is now closed bonds can still be purchased at any of the Fort Wayne banks or trust companies.

Charles H. Worden, president of the county organization, has not as yet completed figures as to the exact amount of bonds that were purchased.

TWO-FIFTHS IS GOTHAM'S PART

New York City Alone Will Contribute $40,000,000 to Red Cross Fund.

CAMPAIGN BEGINS IN THE BIG TOWN

William Wrigley, Jr., Has Added $100,000 to His Bit for Fund.

New York, June 18.—The campaign to raise $40,000,000 set down as the city's share of the $100,000,000 Red Cross war fund began today with a small army of men and women assigned to thirty teams competing for the honor of bringing in the largest total contributions during the week. Organization of the vast machinery for collecting New York city's part of the fund required the attention of the local committee today. Active canvassing was not to begin until tomorrow. The twenty teams of men and ten teams of women are composed almost wholly of persons whose names are familiar to almost every household. Co-operating with these thirty committees are hundreds of substitute committees and aids so that not one citizen of the city will lose the opportunity of contributing what Henry P. Davison, head of the national campaign has called "the heart of the nation."

Tonight at the Red Cross dinner, members of the thirty teams will have allotted to them the names of potential contributors. These lists will form the working basis for each team and visits to the persons named will commence early tomorrow morning. At the dinner tonight addresses will be made by Henry P. Davison, chairman of the American Red Cross war council; William Howard Taft, another member of the council, and other leaders of the campaign. On Saturday, two days before the actual beginning of the campaign, more than $11,000,000 had been pledged.

WRIGLEY TILTS IT AGAIN.

Chicago, June 18.—William Wrigley, Jr., of the executive committee engaged in raising Chicago's quota of $8,000,000 of the $100,000,000 Red Cross war fund, today increased the amount in hand by $100,000. Already $1,300,000 has been subscribed here.

KICKS LIFE OUT OF "LITTLE RED DEVIL"

Edward Perry Sees All Sorts of Queer Things in Police Court.

Edward Perry, 40, startled the police court Monday morning when he suddenly leaped from his seat in the prisoners' row and ran to the side of the room. He began stamping in the corner. He was kicking the life out of a "little red devil," he said, when overpowered by police. Perry, who has been drinking heavily, will be held until Wednesday before he faces an intoxication charge.

Get Long Sentence.

Both Frances Donaley, white, and Amos Fry, colored, will be in jail 290 days, about ten months, because police removed them from a Lafayette street rooming house Saturday night. The couple pleaded guilty to an associating charge. Their combined sentences will be 580 days.

"You both deserve the same penalty and a heavy fine," Judge Kerr told the pair.

Tore Wife's Waist.

John Nora, 1800 Weisser Park avenue, tore away his wife's waist in a brawl Saturday evening. The husband was intoxicated, neighbors told police. Nora was fined $20 and costs. He paid his fine.

Looker Like Crusoe.

If Robinson Crusoe had a very black beard he looked like Osburn Embodi, who says he came from Toledo. Embodi awakened the court by stating that he is 19 years old and does not have to register for draft. Deputy Prosecutor Huffman is inclined to believe the beard instead.

Embodi says his mother lives in Stone Fort, Ia. Police will write to her and find if Embodi is really a young man gifted with a remarkable development of filaments. He will be held until Friday in the county jail. He was arrested when he alighted from a freight train Monday.

Other Police court ases.

Luther Chovis was fined $10 and sentenced to 30 days in jail after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a bicycle.

Frank Fordham, 30, goes buggy riding and spends his money for drink, his wife told in the case in which she charges child neglect. Fordham promises to give her his money in the future. The case is continued for a month.

Cases of public intoxication were: Herman Hartstein, fined $25 and costs; George Mills, $1; Edward McKinnie, $1; Fred Smith, $1. Harry Cursell will be tried on Wednesday. John McGeem, Osmier Benward, Mary Bryant, Tony Sundy, John Scott and William Foley were released.

COMMISSIONER CLEMENTS DIES.

Washington, June 18.—Commissioner Clements of the interstate commerce commission, died here today.

BRITISH UNION JACK ADVANCES UP BUNKER HILL

Boston, June 18.—The British Union Jack was taken up Bunker Hill for the first time in a military and civic parade commemorating the historic battle on the heights of Charlestown between the Minute men and the English Redcoats 142 years ago. It fluttered at the head of the bagpipe band of the New Brunswick kilties battalion, Two Hundred and Thirty-sixth Canadian Overseas regiment, in its farewell appearance before returning home after a two weeks' recruiting campaign here. The parade was the principal feature of the celebration of Charlestown. Thousands of sailors, marines and national guardsmen were in line with fraternal organizations and high school cadets.

Athletic events, band concerts, water carnivals, open air festivals, receptions and banquets were on the holiday program in Greater Boston.

LOSE THEIR DRAFT CARDS

Five Young Men Admit They Have Misplaced Conscription Souvenirs.

MUST BE QUESTIONED CLOSELY, IS COMMAND

One Lost His Vital Ticket in Excitement of the Horton Fire.

Five young men of Fort Wayne are sad victims of carelessness. They registered for conscription but cannot prove it. They have lost their registration cards.

The men who have asked advice from the city clerk on the subject of proving their conscription status are: L. J. Cooper, 2218 Weisser Park avenue: Clark Moulter, 704 Davis street; John A. Herby, 447 East Lewis street; Clyde Hamilton, 1115 Barr street, and Fred Rathert, 2029 Clinton street.

"Just carelessness," is the excuse given by most of the young men, when asked by Deputy City Clerk Leroy Swartz, what had become of their all important blue tickets.

"I left the card loose in my pocket. When I wanted it the ticket was gone," said Cooper, who visited the clerk's office Monday noon. "I will keep hunting, maybe I will find it."

Only one of the men had a fair excuse. He said he lost his attestation card in his activities in fighting the fire at the Horton Manufacturing company plant, on June 9. He has looked through the ruins of the burned mill room but thinks his eagle stamped certificate has been consumed.

Question Closely.

An order from Indianapolis received here Monday, reads: "Question very closely all young men who say they have lost their registration certificates. They may be dodging the draft. Find out by asking for numbers, places of registration, etc., whether or not they are telling the truth."

The message from the adjutant general states that many cases of lost registration cards are coming to his attention. A part of the cases are frauds, it is said.

Young men are again warned to guard their blue tickets which read: "To whom it may concern, Greeting," and other things which are safeguards against embarrassment.

Work of duplicating the registration reports has been completed. Copies of the cards are to be sent to the adjutant general on Monday afternoon.

MADE WHOLESALE RAID ON WHEELS

Sneak Thieves made a wholesale raid on bicycles, left at downtown street curbings, Saturday night. Seven wheels were stolen during the evening. A part of the number were recovered later, in other parts of the city.

The bicycle belonging to Lester Nelson, 1110 East Pontiac street, was taken from in front of the Grand theater. Police Clerk O'Connor found the wheel in his back yard Sunday morning. The seat, chain and wheels had been removed.

Other bicycles still missing, since Saturday night, and which are being sought by police belonged to George Stock, 725 Archer street; Morris Gaskin, 314 Suttenfield, and Ben Faulk, of the Morris Meyer Clothing company.

WEEK END CABLES TO SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

J. P. Freeman, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, announces that special arrangements have been made whereby the Western Union company will send week-end cables and cable letters of a social character to the soldiers, sailors and nurses of the American forces in England and France. The rate from the Fort Wayne office will be seven cents per word.

TO ASK ITALY FOR MURDERER

Special Case to Be Made Respecting Supposed Slayer of Girl.

POLICE WILL BE GIVEN A PROBING

Fail to Find Body of Ruth Cruger, Where Family Lawyer Found It.

New York, June 18.—Evidence against Alfredo Cocchi, proprietor of the bicycle repair shop in the basement of which the body of Ruth Cruger, the 18-year-old Wadleigh high school student was found on Saturday, was ready for presentation to the grand jury.

It was announced that District Attorney Swan planned to go to Washington to make a personal appeal to President Wilson that a special request be made of the Italian government for the surrender of Cocchi, who fled to Italy soon after Ruth Cruger disappeared, four months ago.

As a war ally of this country Italy is expected to waive its policy of refusing to surrender persons charged with murder except on the stipulation that the death penalty would not be imposed.

As material witnesses in the case the authorities today continued to hold, under heavy bail, Mrs. Mary Cocchi, wife of Alfred Cocchi; Victor Brady, a chauffeur, and Joseph Palumbo, a clerk. Both Brady and Kalumbo, the police assert, are friends of Cocchi's.

The failure of the police to investigate adequately the basement where laborers employed by Mrs. Grace Humiston, lawyer for the Cruger family, found the girl's body, also may come before the grand jury for investigation, according to announcements by assistants to the district attorney.

ROTARIANS IN CONVENTION.

Atlanta, Ga., June 18.—Delegates to the eighth annual convention of the International Association of Rotary clubs, were formally welcomed to Atlanta at the opening session of the five days meeting. Hundreds of visitors heard the address of welcome by Louis D. Hicks, president of the Atlanta Rotary club. Arch Klumph, of Cleveland, international president, presided.

MACHINE HITS A POST.

Kokomo, Ind., June 18.—Ray Murphy, of Galveston, aged 25, was injured Sunday evening seven miles northwest of here when a speeding runabout struck a post on a curve and turned over. Murphy was pinned under the car until help came. He will live.

To Help Russia With Railroads

JOHN F. STEVENS.

John F. Stevens, leading railroad engineer and head of the American railroad commission to Russia, which is on its last lap to Petrograd, preceding the Root special mission by a few hours. The railroad commission will confer with Russian railroad officials concerning road conditions in that country and means of bettering the service. Mr. Stevens is eminently fitted to represent America and her genius in the councils to improve the lines in Russia. His words will have great weight as he is looked upon as a leading authority on railroad operation. He is an engineer of great experience, having served on many of the country's biggest railroads in the capacities of president, director and engineer. He has also served as chief engineer on the Panama canal.—Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

INITIAL FLIGHT WAS STOPPED BY BICYCLE

Aeroplane of Peter Solt Temporarily Disabled by Collision.

Hard luck camped on the trial of Peter O. Solt Sunday afternoon as he attempted to make his first flight in the Curtiss biplane which he has built. The initial performance of the bird was slated to be staged at the golf grounds some time between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon and a large crowd assembled to see Fort Wayne's second birdboy get his start.

The weather was all right and at schedule time the aviator strapped himself into the seat for the flight. The motor was started and the "bird" started to skim over the ground. This time it headed for the railroad tracks which run along north of the grounds. The machine was brought back and made ready for another attempt.

This time the crowd gathered around closely and when the motor was started it was impossible to start at full speed because of the many people in front. Finally after they had scattered the throttle was advanced and the 'plane started to leave the ground when there was a crash and a sound of splintering wood. Some boy had left a bicycle standing in a rut in the path of the biplane and as Solt started to leave the ground a handle bar caught in one of the wheels, was thrown back against the propeller and taken around at such a rate that it cut off one of the shafts which holds the rudder and the elevating plane.

If the machine is repaired by next Sunday a flight will be made then, according to Solt, but it is probable that the repairs will not be completed until Sunday, July 1. After the accident, a collection was taken up by those present to assist Solt in paying for the damages to his 'plane and for this the aviator wishes to express his gratitude.

RURAL LADS PAY FOR UNSOPHISTICATION

Oliver Ties His Nag to Apple Tree and Walks Right Into Trap.

The ways of the city still baffle Jake Lakser and Oliver Bollman, two rural bred lads who were caught in a police raid, Saturday night.

Oliver lives nine miles from town. He "drove in" for the buggy ride, Saturday evening. He asked two Battery D boys where he could get a girl. The soldier lads directed him to the southwest corner of Harrison and Fifth streets. Oliver drove up the rear lane and tied his horse to an apple tree. He went in the house to ask the two girls, he found there, to take a buggy ride.

About the same time, Jake Lakser put his horse in a feed barn on Harrison street. He was told that he could purchase some fine Belgian hares cheap from Vern Morrison, who owns the house at the corner of Fifth and Harrison streets. Jake started to make inquiries. He was told to enter the house. He found Oliver and the two girls playing cards, he told. He joined the game. Soon police kicked in the back door.

Elmo Bell and Esther Surnight, two young girls, companions of the farmer youths, were taken in the raid, which was staged before 10 o'clock. Police testified on Monday morning in city court, that the house has been frequented by the Battery D. men for some time. Other men have gone there, neighbors have complained to the police.

Police were in hiding when a young man tripped lightly up to the rear door of the house, Saturday evening, officers said. The youth rapped four times on the door. The police then approached the house. The young man fled. The officers stated that several men came near the place when the girls and youths were being removed from the house.

The quartet of young people pleaded "not guilty" to a disorderly conduct charge in city court. They were convicted, however, and fined $25 and costs each. The girls went to jail. The lads said they would arrange to pay the fines of their companions. The girls were promised a prison sentence on their next conviction.

MOTOR RESERVE TO CONTAIN FIVE UNITS

Lists Are Closed for Present With More Than 150 Members.

Registration for the Motor Reserve corps closed for the present at the Commercial club Saturday night, when the committee that is passing on the applicants, held its final session. The list at present contains about 150 names, and it is assured that the new organization will be composed of five units.

As soon as possible, a meeting of all the members of the reserve will be held for the purpose of organization, and separation of the different vehicles into divisions. A truck unit is to be the first organized, and those wishing to offer machines for this branch of the service should communicate with Dan Beers, chairman of the motor club committee, or J. Kuhns, chairman of the Commercial club committee.

Red Cross Campaign to Be Ushered in With Banquet at Anthony.

PROF. B. G. NELSON IS CHIEF SPEAKER

Noon-day Luncheons for City Teams Every Day at Elks' Temple.

E. C. Miller,
Fort Wayne, Ind.,

Professor Bertram G. Nelson, University of Chicago, one of the most effective speakers in this city and tremendously effective in Red Cross, will arrive over Pennsylvania road on train leaving Chicago ten thirty Monday morning. Will go to Anthony hotel and await your arrival. Nelson will be powerful aid if you will permit him to talk to your people; yours from arrival until after meeting for the largest service he can render Fort Wayne.
HARRY A. WHEELER.

All is in readiness for the opening of the Red Cross campaign tonight when a booster banquet will be held at the Anthony hotel. The banquet will begin promptly at 6 o'clock with Judge J. W. Eggeman as toastmaster. Speeches and music will contribute the program and an outburst of enthusiasm is in anticipation. Professor Bertram G. Nelson, of the University of Chicago, an orator of acknowledged ability, will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Meetings of the various city teams will be held late this afternoon. These teams will meet each noon at the Elks' temple where luncheon will be served by Red Cross girls. Music will be provided at each of these luncheons under the direction of Frank Stouder, who has been made chairman of the music committee.

More Men Needed.

Chairman William C. Schwier announced today that he must have fifty-four additional men for the county organization. There are six townships yet unorganized and the men for these teams are to be selected from the following organizations: Patriotic Defense, Retail Merchants, Real Estate exchange, One Hundred Per Cent and Electro-Technic clubs. Mr. Schwier desires volunteers from any source. What he wants is men who are willing to work for the success of the cause.

Bryson Hayes will have charge of Jackson township. Township organizations completed are as follows: Scipio, captain, E. G. Hoffman; Springfield, captain, George W. Gillie, and Milan, captain, Henry A. Wetzel, University club; Cedar Creek, William A. Tonkel, captain; Perry, Will Johnson, captain, Rotary club; Eel River, D. O. McComb, captain; Lake, William Johnston, captain, Quest club; Washington township, Sam Kelker, captain; St. Joseph, Christ Vonderau, captain, Kiwanis club; Adams, William Eggeman, captain; Marion, A. W. Lepper, captain, Bowser Efficiency club; Madison, D. C. Stout, captain; Monroe, Dr. J. F. McArdle, captain, and Maumee, W. F. Ranke, captain.

All persons identified with the movement are very sanguine over the prospects of Allen county raising her proportion of the Red Cross war fund. Hon. Samuel M. Foster, a member of the executive committee, in speaking of the movement said today:

"If each individual American now contributes his 'bit', there can be no failure. America will, we feel sure, in this, again demonstrate her ability to handle a big task in a big way. That we may be able to perform this great task, we shall appeal to the generosity and for the hearty co-operation of the whole American people.

"Are the people of this country going to be content with a Red Cross organization which will take care of only our own army here and abroad? Is that our mission? I think it does not end there, rather, are we going to stamp the rest of the work with patriotism and appreciation on the part of one hundred and four million people? It remains for each and all of us to so imbue the rest of the people in our various and respective localities that we will respond in a way which will electrify the world."

Enthusiasm at Monroeville.

Postmaster A. S. Robinson, of Monroeville, was in the city today and reported great enthusiasm in favor of Red Cross at that place. Monroeville has been organized as follows: A. S. Robinson, chairman; C. L. Myers, D. E. Kauffman, H. O. White and V. V. Mitchell.

William Eggeman, captain of Adams township for the Red Cross campaign in the county, stated that Monday morning he received a call from Michael Sherdon, a resident of this township, asking that he be allowed to head the list with a subscription of twenty dollars.

Many New Members.

Increases in membership of the Fort Wayne chapter of the Red Cross continue to come in voluntarily every day. On Saturday the town of Ligonier reported an increase of 288 new members and about eighty were also received from this city. Lagrange sent in a list of twenty-five Monday morning. The town of Lagrange has been keeping up a splendid membership record, sending in some new members nearly every day.

Arrangements will probably be made so that a demonstration of the use of the new auto ambulance may be had at the headquarters on East Berry street before it is sent away to the war department. The new ambulance is constructed to carry four passengers.

Chiefs Drop Both Ends of a Double Bill at Evansville

KNOLL USES REGULAR LINEUP FOR KILLING

Higbee and Peterson Are Ineffective Against the Downstaters.

Evansville, Ind., June 18.—Failing to do the hospitable thing, Knoll & Co. played havoc with the Fort Wayne Chiefs yesterday afternoon, winning two games out of a double-ehader. The first one, in which Mark Higbee worked against Turner, ended 4 to 0, while the second was lost to Pitcher Peterson, of Fort Wayne, 7 to 1.

Turner was all to the good in the opener and he held the visitors to four hits which were scattered all the way through the nine innings. Winchell also held the Chiefs to four hits, although one run was counted. Manager Vandagrift was high man when it came to boots, three being chalked up behind his name.

The first game was over before it was well started. In the first inning Kibble opened with a single and went to second on Matthews' sacrifice. Hauger walked and both scored on Daubert's double. In the third Kibble registered a circuit blow with none on. The fourth frame saw the last of the scoring. Grefe hit and Boezle walked. Grefe was forced at third but after Altermatt's single had filled the bags. Boezle scored on a sacrifice fly.

The Chiefs were dangerous just once during the game. With tw oout the bases were filled. Smith, the next man up, however, grounded out and the stuff was off.

The second game was shameful, the Evas copping with ease that was sickening. The visiting defense was lifeless and the hitting was worse still, so that by the end of the seventh they were about ready to call it off.

CENTRAL LEAGUE.

Richmond, Ind., June 18.—South Bend and Richmond went halvers on a double bill yesttrday, the Beiders taking No. 1 4 to 2, while the locals came strong in the second, copping 7 to 2. Rapp was the hitting wonder of the day.

Dayton, O., June 18.—Dayton won the first of two games yesterday, winning from Grand Rapids 5 to 0. The second contest, however, was landed by the Black Sox, who defeated the Vets 9 to 2.

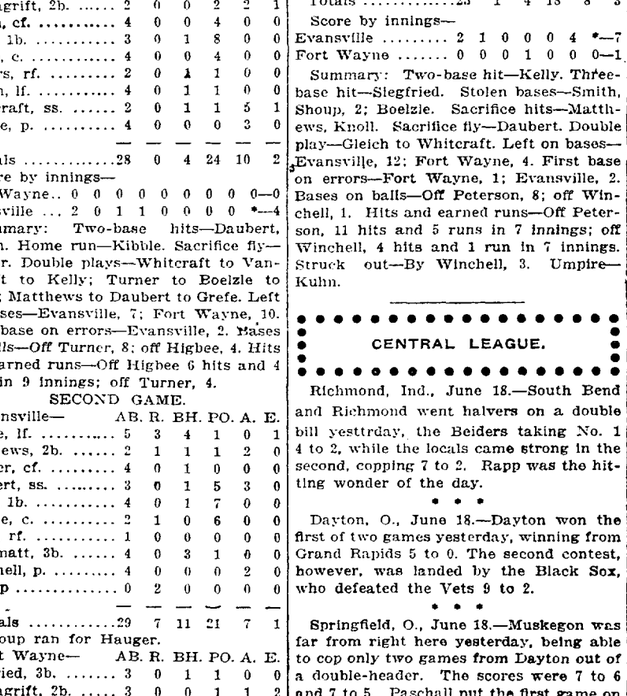
Springfield, O., June 18.—Muskegon was far from right here yesterday, being able to cop only two games from Dayton out of a double-header. The scores were 7 to 6 and 7 to 5. Paschall put the first game on ice with a circuit smash when the bases were filled.

KICKING GREAT EXERCISE FOR ALL MUSCLES OF THE BODY

(By Jim Rice, Famous Coach of Columbia Crew, and Physical Adviser of The Sentinel).



High kicking is one of the finest kinds of all round exercise that I know of. If the army department should adopt any of the methods to get our soldiers into shape that have been found to benefit the men of the Canadian armies then it will certainly place kicking on the list.

This strenuous exercise brings into play nearly every muscle of the body. There is nothing much the matter with a person who can kick as high as his shoulder, using first one leg and then the other, say thirty times without getting out of breath. If you cannot reach the shoulder level get as near to it as you can.

Stand first with the heels together and with the hands on the hips. Keep the chest well out. Then kick, with alternate legs, as high as you can without bending your limbs at the knee.

Let your body be supple during these movements. Throw your whole heart into all your actions. Swing the arms spiritedly. The strong high kick tilts the body slightly back and gives most of the muscles so much to do that they soon grow good at it and shapely and powerful accordingly.

Every time the feet are raised in this way the same muscles are used as in walking and running. But in addition considerable strain is also put on the muscles of the back and of the neck.

In fact it is difficult to think of any set of muscles that is not put into healthy motion by high kicking.

THIRD BASEMEN NOT BORN—HAVE TO MAKE 'EM.

(By Paul Purman).

Third basemen are made, not born.

It's the only position on the ball field where natural ability for the job is not the primary asset.

Most third basemen will agree to this and their judgments will be backed up by managers who have to figure out where they are going to get men to fill in at the hot corner.

To back up the theory it is of interest to know that of sixteen third basemen in the two major leagues only two broke into the game as third sackers. The rest were detoured to the corner after seasoning at second or short.

Frank Baker and J. Carlisle (Red) Smith, of the Braves, are the only undiluted third basemen in the two leagues.

The natural question is—why?

So I inquired around among league managers and find that a third baseman is made, not born, and a good brainy shortstop is the best thing to make him of.

"There's not a good shortstop in the league that wouldn't make a good third baseman," comments Hughie Jennings, who made a cracking good corner man out of Oscar Vitt, a second baseman. "But there are plenty of third basemen who wouldn't make good shortstops. The third baseman must have a good throwing arm and must be a quick thinker but he doesn't have to be a wonder on covering ground, while a shortstop who can't cover half the diamond is better off back in the bushes."

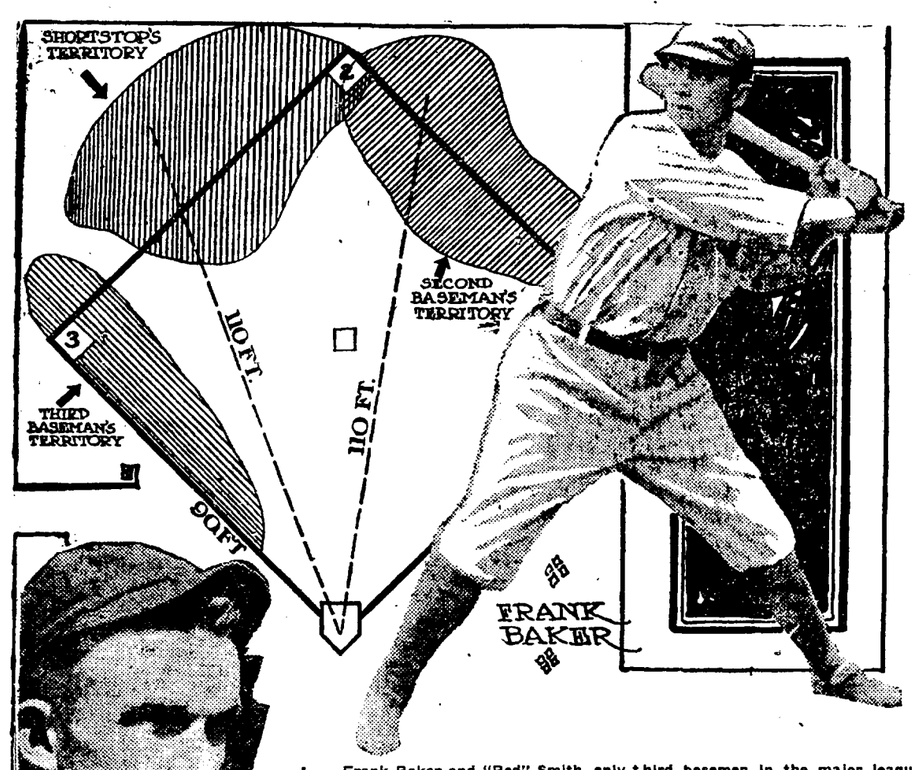
Fielder Jones has practically the same idea.

"Shortstops and second basemen have to cover a lot of ground," said Jones, "third basemen don't. For that reason a man who has all requisities of a shortstop or second baseman except ability to cover territory that might easily make a good third baseman. He must be able to handle everything that comes down his way and field bunts well. He must also have excellent judgment in finding out what the batter is likely to do."

Summed up the situation is about this:

A third baseman must be able to handle the hardest kind of ground balls. They come to him harder than to the shortstop or second baseman for he gets them from 60 to 90 feet from the batter while the keystone combination rarely gets ground balls as close af 90 feet and often much further away after they have lost part of their velocity.

To make up for this, however, the shortstop must handle three chances to the third sacker's two and the second baseman eight to the third baseman's five. Major league records for five years show this proportion.



Frank Baker and "Red" Smith, only third basemen in the major leagues who broke in as third sackers. Diagrams shows territory which infielders have to cover, indicating that shortstops must handle three chances to third baseman's two and second baseman eight chances to third baseman's five. Diagram also shows why ball usually is harder hit to third baseman as he must get it from 60 to 90 feet from the plate while the other infielders rarely come as close af 90 feet and usually play about 110 feet from the batter. The ground ball, of course, constantly loses velocity.

The third baseman must have an accurate and speedy throwing arm to make the long throws to first 127 feet away.

The third baseman must use almost infallible judgment in fielding his position in case of a bunt for he can easily be tricked by a batter unless he is up to his job every minute.

HOW THIRD BASEMEN STARTED.

Terry Turner started at first and shifted to short before going to third.

Buck Weaver had nine years at short before going to third.

Eddie Foster played short for six years.

Mike Mowery played first, second and third.

Oscar Vitt was an outfielder and second baseman.

Heine Groh served nine years at short and second.

Bates started as a second baseman.

Stock, McCarthy, Maisel, Austin and F. Smith were originally shortstops.

Heine Zimmerman was a second baseman for two years before going to third.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

First Sunday Game.

New York, June 18.—St. Louis checked the winning streak of the New York Yankees here yesterday 2 to 1 in the first major league championship game ever played in Manhattan borough on a Sunday.

The game was a benefit affair, the entire proceeds going to the First Reserve engineer regiment to be used for company funds and for persons dependent upon the young soldiers. A crowd of 30,000, one of the greatest throngs that ever saw the local Americans play, attended.

The game was preceded by a patriotic band concert, a parade of the First Reserve engineer regiment, which attended the game in a body, and rills by the contesting ball players. Many prominent officers of both branches of the service, including Major General Franklin Bell, commander of the department of the east, and Rear Admiral Usher, of the navy, were present.

The contest developed into a tight pitchers' battle between Ray Caldwell, the Yankee veteran, and Al Sothoron, the young pitching find of the St. Louis Browns.

Errors decided the games in the fourth. Pratt made two bases on Peckinpaugh's fumble and Baker made a high throw of Johnson's sacrifice bunt. Pratt was out at the plate on Sothoron's grounder to Maisel but Shotton's single drove in Johnson and Sothoron scored on Austin's sacrifice fly.

New York scored in the seventh. Miller was safe on a muff by Marsans and scored on singles by Peckinpaugh and Walters. Score: R.H.E.

LINCOLN LIFERS HAVE EASY JOB IN WINNING

Reach Lima Colonials for Fifteen Runs While the Buckeyes Get Two.

It was no job at all for the Lincoln Lifers to slaughter the Lima Colonials, a colored aggregation from the Buckeye state, at League park yesterday. The final score was 15 to 2, and the game for the Insurance men consisted principally of stepping up, taking a wallop at the pill and starting on a run around the bags. Every man but one hit and Devilbiss lead with three out of five times at bat.

Just before the game started the Colonials decided to use Staples, a native of Mississippi, instead of Haithcock, in the box. Staples soon was a solved boy and had to make room for Haithcock. Then it was too late, however, and even the star slabman couldn't stop the Insurance Men.

Oestermeyer pitched a good game, holding the visitors to four hits. The fact that the score was uneven didn't bother the crowd, which witnessed the game, for everybody seemed to enjoy it. There was a laugh in every play. Score:

SHOP LEAGUE CLUBS ALL IN FIRST PLACE

Four Clubs Are Tied at .600 and Hard Fight Is Expected.

All four clubs in the Shop league are tied for first place. This comes as a result of the cut in the circuit, which left two outfits out. Wins by the Pennsylvania and Turner clubs Saturday did the rest. Next week the Turners play Bowsers and Electricians meet the Railroaders.

Saturday's games, which were played at League park, were both high-class performances. In the opener the Pennsy club defeated Bowsers, 3 to 1. Good hurling featured the play of both clubs, Weberus allowing only five hits, while Dietrich heeld the Railroaders to four.

Lefty Grimes pitched a good game for the Turners, who won from the General Electrics, 4 to 0. More hits were made by the losers than the winners registered, but Grimes kept them scattered and always kept out of dangr. Scores:

GARRY HERRMANN ON FUTURE OF BASEBALL

Sport pessimists will do well to read Garry Herrmann's crisp, logical statement on the immediate future of the game in the July issue of the Baseball Magazine. The chief executive of baseball's supreme court does not fear to meet the outlook with a confident front:—

Predicting a gloomy future for baseball seems to be a popular pastime. Several extremists have not hesitated to prophesize that the sport would cease entirely next season. Others less pessimistic have foreseen all sorts of calamities which are about to assail the grand old game, varying from a destructive draft of players to a ruinous loss of patronage.

It is obviously no part of my official duty as chairman of the national commission to cry "peace where there is no peace" or to minimize the actual difficulties which do confront baseball. But frankly, I can see no justification for the views of the alarmists who see breakers ahead, nor do I for a moment believe that baseball will or should cease to be a permanent feature of American life.

When a nation declares war it is natural for many people to give way to hysteria. It is also natural to class most industries other than the manufacturing of shrapnel and the growing of grain and potatoes as unnecessary activities and, to that exent, luxuries. It is true that in time of war all industries must be subordinated to the supreme industry of successful warfare. But it should be obvious to sober second sight that the safest way to conduct war successfully in these days of huge armaments and tremendous appropriations is to maintain all legitimate business upon a plane as nearly normal as possible.

Organized baseball, it must be remembered, is not only a sport, it is gigantic industry involving the investment of millions of dollars and giving employment directly and indirectly to many thousands of men. As a mere industry it is entitled to the same consideration as other industries of like dimensions, for the revenue derived soely from business is a vital concern of any nation in time of war.

But, unlike most other industries, baseball is peculiarly dear to the American people. The business and working classes who remain at their vocations in time of war even more than in normal times, the mental relaxation which baseball furnishes. An individual cannot perform his day's work when laboring under a continual mental depression. Some relaxation, amusement if you will, is a necessity for all of us. Baseball, I believe, furnishes such relaxation in the highest possible form.

For there is nothing frivolous, nothing discordant, nothing out of harmony with the serious public situation, in a game like baseball. It tends to develop athletic ability and encourage love for athletic prowess which are the foundations of a strong military organization.

In the big concentration camps which are to be established the government rightly realizes that something is needed to occupy the minds of the soldiers when they are not busy at drill, and plans to encourage the playing of baseball games, and the organization of baseball teams. The English government has also acknowledged the usefulness of baseball under such conditions and has established and is maintaining baseball on a scale larger than ever as a mere adjunct to soldier life.

In short, baseball is essentially a war game and its activities, far from being curtailed, should rather be stimulated by the present war.

NEW MEMBER IS HIGH IN QUALIFYING ROUND

Ed Bond Lands at Top of Heap With Low Score of Eighty for Eighteen.

Ed Bond, a new member of the Fort Wayne Country club, landed high in the field of qualifiers for the spring championship and directors' tourneys, Saturday. CONCORDIA BOYS LEAVE FOR HOME

School Year Closes With Annual Commencement Exercises.

The majority of the students at Concordia college have departed for their homes in various parts of the country. The school year came to a close with the annual commencement exercises when twenty-two graduates were given their diplomas.

The graduation exercises were well attended and the program rendered was an enjoyable one. Rev. W. C. Meinzen delivered the baccalaureate sermon. Theodore Dorn delivered the valedictory and Rev. H. Grunau delivered the salutatory.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

G. R. & I. BRAKEMAN HAS FOOT CRUSHED

C. C. Billman Falls When Trying to Board Moving Locomotive.

Chauncey C. Billman, a G. R. & I. brakeman residing at 1337 East Creighton avenue, met with an accident at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon which resulted in the amputation of his right foot. Brakeman Billman was a member of Conductor J. A. DeWald's crew, on the local freight from the north, and after it arrived inthe eastyards, he cut the engine loose, threw the switch and then ran and made an effort to get on the engine as it was moving, to ride down to the round house. His foot slipped off the step, and while he retained his hold on the grabiron, the foot dragged and was caught by the wheels, crushing it badly. He was immediately taken to St. Joseph hospital, where the member was amputated at the ankle. Engineer John Gallagher was at the throttle of the engine. Mr. Billman is twenty-eight years old and married.

TYPOS FOR UNION BOOKS.

Address State School Board in Interest of Union Products.

Typographical union, No. 78, has adopted and ordered sent to the members of the state school board and the teachers a resolution relative to the use of the products of organized labor in the schools of the state. The resolution reads as follows:

"Whereas, The Indiana state board of school commissioners has advertised for bids for three books to be used in the elementary schools of the state, namely, a book on agriculture, a book on domestic science and a book on industrial arts; and,

"Whereas, Every book now used in the graded schools of Indiana is the product of organized labor; and,

"Whereas, We believe such books should only be the product of shops paying a living wage, under sanitary and fair conditions; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we ask the Indiana state board of school commissioners to accept the bid of some union printing concern, as thereby we will be assured that the text books used by the school children of Indiana will continue to be the product of sanitary shops, paying a living wage and working short, health-giving hours.

HONORED THEIR ORGANIZER.

Linemen's Union Presents Mr. Bennett With Elks' Charm.

Saturday night Arthur Bennett, organizer for the Linemen and the Electrical Workers, was presented with a handsome and costly Elks' charm by the local Linemen's union, No. 723. Mr. Bennett has accomplished a great deal in Fort Wayne for organized labor and the presentation of the charm by the linemen was in token of their appreciation of his labors and their regard for him. The charm bears a monogram formed by the letters I. B. E. W. L. U. 723. The meeting was well attended and three applicants were admitted to membership. It was also marked as the first gathering attended by A. C. Berger since recovering from his recent illness. The entertainment committee announced that they had arranged for an entertainment to be held on the Fourth.

NOT PROTESTING AGAINST TAX.

President Samuel Rea Says Pennsylvania Aims to Aid Government.

In a statement issued from Washington, today, Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, says of the hearings before the senate finance committee on the proposed revenue bill that the railroads are not protesting against any taxes. "We are in Washington inquiring what the proposed taxes are to be and to help so far as we can in making suggestions which will insure proper taxes for the government, and yet taxes that will allow the railroads and every other business not only to exist, but to extend to the senate and house of representatives full sympathy of the railroads in trying to frame a measure, which is one of the most arduous tasks they have on hand."

New Corn Remover in Big Demand, Say Druggists

Since the virtues of Ice-Mint as a corn remover became known in this country, druggists have been having an extraordinary demand for this product and it is predicted that this summer women will wear smaller and prettier shoes than ever.

The fact that this new discovery which is made from a Japanese product will actually remove corns—roots and all—and without the slightest pain or soreness, is of course, mainly responsible for its large and increasing sale.

You apply just a little on a tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it may be lifted out with the fingers—root and all.

Ice-Mint is a clean, creamy, snow-white non-poisonous substance and will never inflame or irritate the most tender skin.

Cutting or paring corns often produces blood poisoning, and people are warned to stop it.

Just ask in any drug store for a small jar of Ice-Mint, which will cost little, yet is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callous. You'll like it immensely.—Advertisement.

GETS NEWS OF BROTHER'S DEATH.

William Hassert, watchman at the Fairfield entrance to the General Electric works, was shocked Saturday by receiving a letter announcing the death of his half-brother in Chicago. The deceased was Charles F. Laning, a carpenter, and the funeral was held last Friday. The letter was mailed early in the week, but was delayed somewhere and did not reach Mr. Hassert in time for him to go to the funeral. The letter was brief and did not say whether death was due to natural cause or the result of an accident.

MOVING TO NEW QUARTERS.

William H. Fell, who has been sick three or four days, was able today to look after the transfer of his office headquarters from the warehouse building of the General Electric works, where he served as assistant to Warehouse Supt. R. O. Orff for some time, to the new building, No. 19, on the south side of Wall street, where he becomes general storekeeper. This is a nice promotion for Mr. Fell.

G. E. FARM IS PROSPERING.

The General Electric farm on the banks of the St. Mary's promises a magnificent crop. Potatoes and beans are the chief crops and they are doing well, each being eight to ten inches high. W. H. Fell, who was active in platting and distributing the lots among the boys, continues to take a big interest in the "farm," advising and encouraging the tenants as much as possible.

MOVING TO MOBERLY.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Owens are today packing up their household effects to ship to Moberly, where they will reside in the future. It will be remembered that Mr. Owens was transferred to that city June 1 in the capacity of division storekeeper for the Wabash. He held a similar position here and was succeeded by D. E. Guy.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Meager news of the killing of two men by the Pennsylvania Broadway limited in Crestline Sunday night was received here this morning. They were in an automobile and drove in front of the approaching train on the crossing. The names of the victims could not be learned here. Crestline is on the eastern division.

EAST ON SPECIAL BUSINESS.

Tomorrow night L. E. Bittenger, equipment clerk of the Pennsylvania motive power department, will go to Pittsburg to take up some special work in the office of the purchasing agent. Mr. Bittenger does not know how long he will be at Pittsburg.

GONE EAST ON BUSINESS.

Fred T. Huston, assistant motive power engineer of the Pennsylvania lines, has gone to Cleveland on business for the department.

W. J. NEIZER ON DUTY AGAIN.

W. J. Neizer, the Pennsylvania tinner, who has been sick, was able to resume his duties in the shops this morning. He worked only one day since the holidays.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

George M. Kessler, a Pennsylvania fireman, is sick and off duty.

L. A. Kobart is a new laborer in the Pennsylvania machine shop.

J. Laughlin, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, is taking a few days' lay off to visit friends in Lima and Pittsburg.

H. H. Boegell, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is taking a lay off to look after some business.

Blacksmith M. Feuchter is absent from his work in the Pennsy shops today on account of sickness.

S. H. Hayes, the Galena Oil company's representative, is calling upon patrons in the city today.

After a two or three days' absence on account of illness, E. P. Kahoe reported for work at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

J. Fraine, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, reported for work this morning. He had been off duty with an injured hand.

S. W. Knapp, of the Pennsylvania shops, is temporarily disabled. A grate bar fell upon his fingers Saturday, crushing the digit most painfully.

A. J. Attell, of the Pennsylvania lathe room, who was off duty last week on account of an injured eye, has reported for work.

F. Eastern, for two or three weeks a fluewelder's helper at the Pennsylvania shops, resigned this morning to "go south," he said.

Division Storekeeper J. B. Fowler, of the Pennsylvania, has returned from Pittsburg, where he spent Sunday with relatives.

Boilermaker A. J. Hirshfelder, of the Pennsylvania, is off duty on account of an injured eye, the result of a piece of steel lodging in the optic.

Robert E. Gunther, who was sick two weeks, resumed his duties as rivet heater at the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning.

Machinist John Nolan resumed work at the Pennsylvania tool room this morning, after spending a couple days with relatives in Columbia City.

Michael Ehrman reported for work at the Pennsylvania tool room this morning, after a layoff on account of private business.

Machinist Otto Alter, of the Wabash shops, has recovered from an illness which kept him from work for two weeks.

J. H. Stewart resumed charge of the traveling crane in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning, after being ill two or three days.

J. T. Benz, of Cleveland, who had been spending a vacation with his parents, left for his home yesterday to resume his duties as traveling salesman for a manufacturing company.

W. J. Stolt, of the dynamo assembling department of the General Electric works, and his wife left yesterday for Denver, Col., where they will spend two weeks.

Machinist and Mrs. Fred Shoner, the former of the Pennsylvania tool room, were guests of friends at Blue lake Saturday and Sunday. They made the trip on a motorcycle.

Machinist William Hanson is taking a layoff to attend to some private business. Machinist Welsh is off duty on account of sickness. They are employed in the Pennsylvania tool room.

P. H. Goda has gone to Chicago and George Emrick has gone to the Eastern division on business for the Pennsylvania company. They are motive power inspectors.

Chief Clerk Fred H. Schaphorst, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, is out on a vacation this week and the duties of the office are being performed by Elmer V. Wiebke.

Ambrose Conners is seriously ill with typhoid fever at the St. Joseph hospital, where he was taken last Friday. He is employed at the Pennsylvania shops.

The Fort Wayne Building Trades Council will meet tonight, when matters of interest pertaining to the allied building crafts will be taken up and labor difficulties discussed.

Charles Buckley, of the Wabash shops, who had a leg fractured by a fall from a locomotive tender five or six weeks ago, is now hobbling around on crutches and will leave the Peru hospital the latter part of the week and come home.

Charles Carlin, the B. and O. brakeman who had one of his arms and part of the shoulder crushed by falling under a train at Defiance several days ago, is going to recover from the accident. He is in the hospital at Garrett, and "is doing well," the attendants say.

The National Carbon employes of Fostoria, and members of their families had an outing at Beach park Saturday and the Nickel Plate furnished a special train to carry the party. There were over 400 men, women and children aboard the train.

General Machine Shop Foreman W. B. Madara and Tool Machine Shop Foreman Art Willims, of the Pennsylvania, have returned from Cleveland, where they inspected some machinery which will soon be installed in the local Pennsylvania shops.

Community Tea.

Arrangements for the Red Cross community tea to be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carter have been entirely changed and will be given in St. Peter's school hall, on Wednesday, from 2 to 8 o'clock.

As this is campaign week for Red Cross the ladies in charge wish a good showing, hence the change where they will have plenty of room to meet their friends. Mrs. W. S. Morris will give a talk on Red Cross work about 3 o'clock. There will be another speaker in the evening. The general public is invited.

Light refreshments will be served for which a nominal sum will be charged. Anyone wishing to give a donation, the same will be greatly appreciated.

AID THE RED CROSS.

Bishop Alerding Urges Catholics' Support to the Campaign.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Herman Joseph Alerding issued to all pastors of the district a letter which was made public in the Sunday morning masses and which requests all Catholics to take an interest in the work of the Red Cross society and to assist as much as possible in the campaign for $80,000 which is to be conducted in Allen county this week.

In their regular monthly meeting held Sunday afternoon, the Young Ladies' sodality of the Cathedral subscribed $50 to the cause. Before delivering his baccalaureate sermon at St. Patrick's church Sunday morning, Rev. Joseph F. Delaney spoke of the Red Cross in glowing terms.

Picnic for Orphans.

The ladies of the St. Vincent's sewing circle will give their annual picnic for the benefit of St. Vincent's Catholic Orphan asylum Thursday afternoon and evening in the grounds surrounding the orphanage. Supper will be served on the grounds and refreshments may be purchased in the afternoon and evening.

Church Notes.

Married ladies of St. Andrew's Catholic church will give a card party in the school hall Wednesday afternoon.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

James Steed came mighty near causing a panic on an Ohio Electric car bound for Lima Sunday morning, when he locked himself in a toilet and proceeded to announce in a loud tone of voice, "I did not kill that man." At New Haven the door was forced and Steed was taken over by Marshal Lester Gerardot, who found three knives on him. Steed had come from Lima on the first car Sunday morning and was going back on the car which leaves here at 9:05 o'clock, when the attack of violence came upon him.

PROGRAM FOR OLD SETTLERS' MEETING

Big Time Is Expected in Auburn on Thursday, June 21.

Special to The Sentinel.

Auburn, Ind., June 18.—The Old Settlers' meeting will be held in this city Thursday, June 21. The meeting will be held at the Eckhart park and the program will begin at 9:30. Mayor McClellan will give the address of welcome and the response will be given by Mayor J. A. Clevenger, of Garrett. The remainder of the morning session will be given over to the business of the association. From 1 to 1:30 a band concert will be given. Music by a quartet; invocation by Rev. F. A. Hall. Phillip Noel, president of the association, will then give a brief address, which will be followed by the committee's report and election of officers. T. C. Ford, biographer of the association, will read his report; Vice President Isaac Speer, short address; Judge Dan Link will then address the old settlers. After short talks by many of the old settlers present the crowd will sing America.

Auburn Short Notes.

Wednesday, June 20, will be a big day in this city, when 196 eighth grade graduates will gather in this city to hold their commencement exercises. There will be a morning and afternoon meeting, to be held in the Court theater. The graduates have sent out 2,500 invitations and a crowd is expected. County superintendent will present the diplomas to the large class of graduates.

F. A. Pribbenow has resigned as physical director of the Auburn Y. M. C. A. and Howard Bundy, of this city, has been chosen as his successor. Howard will leave in a few days for Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, where he will take special training to fit himself for his new position.

A big Red Cross rally was held in the assembly room of the court house Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the final arrangements for the membership campaign completed.

B. W. Beidler, of this city, has been selected to take the place of N. T. Jackman, of Waterloo, as a member of the DeKalb county board of review. The change was made owing to the resignation of Mr. Jackman.

REV. FOLSOM TALKS TO GARRETT CITIZENS

Delivers Address in Interest of Red Cross Campaign Saturday.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., June 18.—The Red meeting held at the Baptist church Saturday evening was well attended and those who missed hearing Rev. A. J. Folsom, of Fort Wayne, who delivered the address, surely missed a treat and should he return here he would be greeted by a packed house. His lecture has fully aroused the people to the great importance of the Red Cross. The Garrett chapter already has a membership of 250 and has nearly $300 in cash. A big meeting will be held here again Monday evening.

THE MARKETS

FINE WEATHER BRINGS LIGHT RECEIPTS HERE

Wheat Remains Steady After Decrease Made Here Saturday.

The fine weather of Monday spelled a lightening of receipts on local markets. The street mart was nearly deserted of producers, while dealers reported that they had nothing in at all. This was to be expected as farmers still have lots of work to do in connection with cultivation and must take advantage of every good day as it comes.

Wheat remained steady in its new position taken Saturday, at $2.72@2.74 per bushels. Receipts were light in this department Monday but there are no indications of the grain going back to its old stand at the present. The city weighmaster had a very lonesome morning, receiving and weighing only eleven loads. Nine of these were hay, which sold at $16.00@18.00, the prices which have predominated for some time. Two loads of oats brought 70c per bushel.

WORLD SHIPMENTS EASE WHEAT MARKET

Prices Open Down and After Rally, Sag Again—Corn Shows Strength.

Chicago, June 18.—Large world shipments tended today to ease down the wheat market. Opening prices which ranged from ½c to 2½c lower, with July at $2.19 and September at $1.95, were followed by a slight rally and then a fresh setback.

Prices closed heavy, 10⅜c to 10½c lower, with July at $2.11⅛ and September at $1.95.

Favorable weather had early transient bearish effect on corn. After opening unchanged to 2c lower, prices rose all around to well above Saturday's finish.

The market closed weak at 1c to 2⅛c net tdecline.

Oats were governed by the action of corn.

Brook View Lots Nearly All Selected

Only seventeen lots which have not yet been reserved.

This was the word given out this morning by the Wildwood Companies in response to an inquiry concerning Brook View. Because the people simply would not wait for the sale which was to open on Wednesday, they were given permission to make reservations or selections of lots in advance of the opening, and so eager has the public been to choose from the various lots in this beautiful new subdivision that oonly seventeen had not been reserved this morning. Without doubt these will all have been taken by Wednesday, consequently those who desire to purchase from the lots offered for sale will have to make an immediate selection.

STOCK MARKET HAS SOME MILD SHIVERS

Apprehension as to Money Rate Causes Leads to Irregularity.

New York, June 18.—Equipments and specialties, notably the prominent steel issues, were the features of today's early trading. United States Steel lost a large fraction with Lackawanna Steel, while Bethlehehm Steel new stock and Republic Iron yielded between one and two points. Other war supply shares, such as Industrial Alcohol, Texas company, Woolen and Oils were lower. Marine preferred, Airbrake, the minor motors and Savage Arms featured the stronger stocks. Norfolk and Western and Delaware and Hudson represented the rails at gains of one to two and one-half points.

The market moved aimlessly during the morning, some apprehension being shown respecting money rates. Call loans opened at 6 per cent, duplicating the high rate of the year. Motors and other speculative issues formed more than a proportionate share of the trading mostly at higher levels, while standard stocks continued heavy or irregular. U. S. Steel fell under its minimum of the opening and related issues registered extreme recessions of one to two points. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies broke 2¾, and Metals, Alcohol, Central Leather, American Woolen, Oils and Sugars developed increased heaviness.

Bonds were steady with sales of odd lots of the liberty issue at fractional premiums.

CALLED SIX MORE JURORS

Lawyers Could Not Choose Jury Out of 25 Special Veniremen.

KOEHLER CASE ON IN CIRCUIT COURT

Court Room Is Packed With Men and Women to Hear the Evidence.

Counsel for the defense and the prosecution were unable to agree on twelve men for the jury in the Sammy Koehler case in circuit court out of twenty-four veniremen chosen by the jury commissioners last Saturday.

At 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Judge William Eichhorn, of Bluffton, who has been named special judge, dismissed the jury for a fifteen-minute recess while the sheriff was busy rounding up six more men who had been drawn by the jury commissioners. Eleven men had been decided upon at this time. Twelve men were dismissed up to this time while the thirteenth man who was chosen it was found had left the county a year ago and was now residing in Detroit.

The eleven men who had thus far been chosen were all farmers with the exception of one who was a salesman by occupation and resided in New Haven.

The circuit court room was filled to overflowing with men and women who came early Monday morning for the beginning of the trial. The majority of the spectators were women.

Sammy Koehler and Imogene Myers, the defendant and prosecuting witness, respectively, were in the court room the entire day. Officials who have not seen Imogene since she was spirited away from Woodburn, persist in telling of the changed appearance of the pretty little girl. Her hair, which was formerly a jet black, is now a rich light brown. The little girl was very much composed Monday.

The majority of the venirement who were excused stated that they had formed an opinion from accounts of the case which they had read in the Fort Wayne newspapers.

Judge S. M. Hench, William Ryan and Louis Dunton are counsel for the defense, while the state is represented by Prosecuting Attorney Frank Emrick and his assistants, John Huffman and Byron Hayes.

Charge Non-Support.

Charging that her husband has failed to properly support her and her two children for the past five years, Pauline Kennedy has begun action for divorce against Phillip, to whom she was married Feb. 13, 1899. She complains of the defendant and states that he uses intoxicating liquors to excess. The plaintiff also wants the custody of the children.

Marriage Licenses.

Oliver J. Muldoon, farmer, to Margaret Barva.
Francis L. Adamski, well driller, to Viola K. Bowers.
William Smith, jr., carpenter, to Elizabeth V. McConnell.
John A. Ferguson, laborer, to Harriet J. Ferguson.
Charles W. Knerr, conductor, to Frances Bray.

Outbursts of Everett True

Has Not Resigned as Liberal Head

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to reports that he had resigned the leadership of the liberal party at a caucus, said: "It is not true. My resignation was not discussed in the caucus." The Ottawa Citizen, in a late edition, says: "Sir Wilfrid's denial of the definite announcement of his resignation is not taken to conflict with the widespread rumor the commons generally accepted as true, although liberal members are silent as to what occurred, except to say that in the party caucus he intimated his desire to be relieved of the leadership if the party was not satisfied with his stand on the coalition proposals. It is said that he will retain his seat in the commons and be leader for Quebec, but another leader for the liberal party as a whole will have to be sought. The Hon. E. F. Graham, temporarily, at least, is likely to be the man." (Copyright Underwood & Underwood.)

In Charge of a Hospital Camp

LIEUT. J. C. LOCKWOOD.

Lieut. John C. Lockwood, one of the chief medical officers. It is expected that over 2,000 men will be in training at the camp within a short while. —(Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.)

Yes—There Are Many People in This Town Who Make Money Keeping Boarders!

A boarding house that is run on "business principle" will always prove to be a profitable business—and especially suitable for women who have some business ability.

But a woman who expects to make "keeping boarders PAY must be as good an advertiser, IN HER OWN WAY, as the most successful merchant in town."

JINGLE BELLS MAKE LATEST FLOWER TRAP

Mrs. George Cole Says Detecting Design Will Work for Onions.

"Tingle, ling, ling," sounds the musical warning of the latest detecting device which announces the approach of a posey thief.

Mrs. George Cole, 1814 South Anthony boulevard, is the inventress of the warning signal. She worked out the plan after several of her choice posies had been removed under cover of darkness.

Mrs. Cole does not intend to secure a patent on her simple, yet effective alarm scheme.

"Oh, yes, it would work just the same for onions and such," she told The Sentinel reporter. She does not know whether or not the principle of motion and vibration could be adapted for a submarine warning. She is not familiar with the submarine problem, she admits.

But she was sure that somebody was taking her flowers. Two geraniums had disappeared from the window box and a beautiful dark blue flower was gone, on Friday morning. Mrs. Cole thought up the scheme for her posey trap as she proceeded about her house work on Friday. She set more choice geranium plants in the flower box on Friday evening and prepared to spring her flower trap.

The plan was simple. A dark chord was tied to a geranium. The other end of the chord was tied to a string of sleigh bells, which were suspended from the ceiling at the foot of the stairs. Mrs. Cole took her station near the bells. She laid a revolver, loaded with blank cartridges at her side. She read a book.

"Jing-a-ling," softly tinkled the sleigh bells. Mrs. Cole sprang from her chair and ran to the window. A woman's form was fleeing into the night. Mrs. Cole had forgotten to pick up the revolver in her haste to reach the window.

The fleeing woman turned down the alley, near at hand. Next day Mrs. Cole tracked the posey taker by the geranium petals which had been detached in the speed of the flight, on the night before. Mrs. Cole says the tracks led to the back yard of Mrs. Max Krull, 1814 Lanternier avenue. She furthermore states that she recognized two sweet-eyed pansies and several geraniums in the flower bed, freshly made by Mrs. Krull.

Detective Sergeant Junk was notified of the theft. He brought Mrs. Krull in police court Monday morning. The detective said that the woman had told him she purchased the blooms on the market.

Mrs. Edward Emrich, 1624 Lanternier avenue, testified that she had also lost several flowers and believed they were now blooming in Mrs. Krull's garden. Mrs. Krull pleaded guilty to the petit larceny charge. She is the mother of two children. She is a Rumanian and was able to understand the court only through interpretations of her husband.

The case is continued indefintely. Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Emrick will go to the Krull flower bed and regain their property.

CAMPAIGN STARTS AT COLUMBIA CITY

Whitley County Is Expected to Oonate $7,500 to Red Cross Fund.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Ind., June 18.—A meeting of the Red Cross society was held in the Commercial club rooms Saturday afternoon which was addressed by DeWitt McLallen, of the First National bank, Attorneys B. J. Bloom and D. V. Whiteleather and a number of other speakers. No money was asked for at this meeting as the big drive will start Monday. Whitley county is now divided into eleven districts, with the exception of Troy and Etna townships, which have been combined, and Columbia township, which is divided into three districts. The territory outside of the incorporated city of Columbia City represents one territory, all of Columbia City south of Market street represents another territory and all of Columbia City north of Market street represents the third territory. The lieutenants appointed for each territory have selected ten coworkers and in all Whitley has about 150 men directly connected with the work of collecting the $7,500, Whitley's share of the Indiana assessment.

Columbia City Short Items.

William Entrikin, for eight years and one month in the employ of the Whitley County Telephone company, has resigned his position. For the past few years he was in charge of the switchboard.

The funeral of Levi Walker occurred Saturday morning from the Sheckler Baptist church in Thorncreek township. Burial in the Stough cemetery.

Enoch Blaisdel, aged 63 years, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sam Murray, of Washington township, Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock. He is survived by three sisters and two brothers. His wife passed away years ago. The funeral occurred Monday at 1 o'clock from the Washington Center U. B. church.

Viola Lucile, the two-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, of Smith township, died Saturday morning and was buried Saturday afternoon in the Blue River cemetery.

TO CONSERVE SHEEP SUPPLY.

Chicago, Ill., June 18.—Packers, breeders and others interested in the sheep industry started a movement today against the slaughter of ewe lambs and to provide for their purchase from ranchmen for distribution in the middle western states. Later it is said, there will be a meeting of sheepmen here and colonization interests to discuss plans for increasing the production of sheep.

CAPT. G. L. BYROADE CALLED TO NEW FIELD

Concordia College Military Instructor Is Summoned by War Department.

Receiving instructions Saturday evening with orders to report to Chicago Sunday morning, Capt. George L. Byroade, for three years military instructor at Concordia college, was assigned to his new post at once. The place to which he has been detailed has been censored, but it is somewhere "in the west."

CAPT. GEORGE L. BYROADE.

Captain Byroade had been expecting orders of this nature for several months, so that the instructions to report at the Central department at Chicago did not come unexpectedly.

The pleasant army man, as he was regarded by hundreds in Fort Wayne, is a recognized military authority as well as an expert on all lines of sports and took active part in coaching teams in various lines in sportdom. As coach of the Friar football team he was crowned with unusual success.

The captain came to Fort Wayne to take charge of the work at Concordia college February 1, 1914. He was head of the military department at Culver university for three years and occupied the same position at Morgan Park academy, Chicago, and Blee's Military academy for three years. He also saw active service during the Spanish-American war.

Mrs. Byroade and the children, Miss Margaret and Jack, will probably join the husband and father in a few weeks.

EARL COOPER WINNER OF SPEEDWAY CLASSIC

Does Entire Two Hundred and Fifty Miles Without a Single Stop.

Chicago, June 18.—Driving a Stutz, Earl Cooper won the two hundred and fifty mile auto race at Speedway park Saturday, doing the distance without a single stop in 2:25:28. With the first honors hereceived a cash prize of $8,000 and a silver trophy.

Ralph Mulford, who broke the American speedway records for 150 and 200 miles, finished second and Eddie Hearne third. Fourth place went to Cliff Durant and Walter Haines pulled up fifth. Ralph De Palma, the favorite, gave Mulford a desperate race for 200 miles, but he was forced out of the running because of a leaky gasoline pipe and engine trouble. The Italian worked frantically over his motor for twenty minutes and when he resumed he was miles behind the leaders.

Changing tires in the 231st mile robbed Mulford of victory. Although off the track only forty-three seconds, Mulford lost the lead to Cooper, who steadily increased it, finishing a mile ahead of his rival. Cooper's average for the distance was 103 1-10 miles an hour.

Mulford did not make a stop until a change of tires became necessary.

Two accidents marred the race. Joe Thomas and his mechaician, Henri Worth, escaped with a few minor bruises when their car, speeding at the rate of 118 miles an hour, crashed through the fence on the back stretch. The car driven by Joe Boyer also went through a fence on the turn but neither Boyer nor his mechanician was injured. The machines, however, were wrecked.

The pace proved too hot for Barney Oldfield, who was forced out of the race in the 48th mile because of a broken connecting rod. Louis Chevrolet, winner of the Memorial day race at Cincinnati, was a victim of tire and engine trouble and finished tenth. Twenty-seven drivers started, but ten dropped out before the 150-mile mark was reached. In addition to winning $4,000 as second prize, Mulford also won two prizes of $500 each for leading at 100 and 200. De Palma, although out of the prize money, was given $500. Hearne, who finished third, got $2,000; Durant fourth, $1,500, and Haines fifth, $1,000.

Sums ranging from $900 down to $500 went to the following drivers, who finished in the order named: Henderson, sixth; Lewis, seventh; Vail, eighth; Fountain, ninth; Chevrolet, tenth; Milton, eleventh, and Alley, twelfth. Officials of the speedway plan to donate the profits of the meet to a war fund relief.

To Get Food Crooks, Not Hurt Honest Business

DEBATES ON FOOD CONTROL BILL ARE BEGUN IN CONGRESS

JOE CANNON LINES UP AGAINST BILL

Washington, June 18.—The food bills were pressed to the front in both houses of congress today and with the personal influence of President Wilson pressing for their immediate passage it was more than likely that nothing else would be done until they were disposed of.

While the bill was being explained to the house by Representative Lever as a measure which would harm no honest business man but would drag "crooks" and speculators into the sunlight a letter from President Wilson and Representative Borland was made public in which the president warned the opponents of the bills should they defeat them they must be prepared to take the responsibility for food conditions and prices which were predicted to follow.

The great majority of the house greeted the opening of debate with bursts of applause and approval but the opposition was silently making ready for its attack.

In the senate the opposition also was ready. Led by Senator Reed, of Missouri, Senator Smith of Georgia and Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, all democrats, it was contended that the first food bill already passed and now awaiting conference with the house, contained provisions to check speculation and price-fixing which made the

DELAY WITH CANTONMENTS

War Department Will Not Be Ready for Troops September 1.

CANNOT COMPLETE THE CAMPS IN TIME

Plans at First Announced Have Been Abandoned by the Officials.

Washington, June 18.—Unless there are unforeseen developments to hurry construction of the sixteen cantonments for training the new national army, the first increment of 660,000 troops will not be in training by September 1, as generally has been supposed and in fact may not get into training for six weeks thereafter.

War department officials said today that no specific date ever had been set for the opening of the training camps. Secretary Baker, however, in a letter to Senator Jones, several weeks ago, answering a suggestion that some of the troops be used for harvesting, spoke of September 1 as the probable date of opening the camps and pointed out that most of the harvesting would be over by that time.

War department officials generally had fixed September 1 in their minds as the time training would begin. The first body of officers for the new army now being trained in camps throughout the country is to be turned out in August to make room for the next body. This was arranged on the plan of having the draft complete, exemptions disposed of and troops ordered into training camps by September 1.

CROSSES OF THE LEGION OF HONOR GIVEN TO HEROES

Paris, June 18.—President Poincare, accompanied by Leon Bourgeois, minister of labor, has visited Rheims, where he pinned the cross of the Legion of Honor on the breasts of Cardinal Lucon, Deputy Mayors De Bruignac and Charbonneaux and Managing Editor Dramas, of l'Eclaireur de l'Est, which continued to appear throughout the battle. The ceremony took place in the building where the municipal officers have been lodged since the city hall was burned down. Afterwards the president visited the cathedral and the quarters of the city which have suffered most from the German guns.

(Copyright Underwood & Underwood.)

The Fijians are now our allies. The war, with its ever-widening grasp, has finally reached the Fiji Islands, and the well-knit, muscular men of the east are coming to take part in the great conflict of the west. The above group of Fijians are passing through Canada on their way to France, not to fight as their countenances and their history might indicate, but to serve as stevedores on French transports. They recently disembarked at Vancouver, and will leave for Europe from an eastern Canadian port. When they arrive at their destination they will have half circled the globe. They may be the vanguard of a greater body to come and take part in their favorite sport—fighting. The photograph was taken when they were lined up for review by General Strong, commanding the Hawaiian department, at Honolulu, where they stopped en route. Their going to France illustrates vividly that country's shortage of men.

ALLIES APPEAR TO BE GETTING READY TO MOVE

British Withdrawal From Some of Their Positions Indicates Sarrail's Purpose.

(By The Associated Press.)

Developments of some importance apparently are impending on the Macedonian front, following the recent clarification of the military situation in Greece coincident with the abdication of King Constantine.

The most pronounced movement is a withdrawal by the British without pressure, of their advanced positions established some distance east of the Struma river, on the extreme easterly end of this front. Several towns have been evacuated by them and occupied by the Bulgarians.

Simultaneously comes news of pronounced reconnoitering activity by the entente forces in other parts of the front, notably along the Vardar, in the central sector.

It has been frequently pointed out by military observers that virtually the only practical route for a successful advance to cut the lines of the central powers in the Balkans and reclaim Serbia, is up the Vardar valley, along the railway line there.

The present activities, while they have not developed far enough to make the thing a certainty, none the less point to the probability that an offensive by General Sarrail in the only likely sector—that embracing the Vardar valley—is imminent.

Had this been decided upon, it would be a natural move for the British to relinquish the advanced ground they held along the Struma and withdraw, as they have done, to the bridgehead near the river, thereby strengthening the entente right flank for defensive purposes, while the offensive stroke was delivered by the center.

An aggressive move, it would seem, has now been made possible by the removal of the menace to the allies from the rear which existed as long as Constantine was on the Greek throne and his pro-German politicial advisers in control of the Greek military situation. Both the Russian army and the Russian navy are giving more evidence of aggressive intent. Recent German and Austrian statements have instanced increasing activities by the Russian military forces in various sectors, notably Volhynia and Galicia, where the great Brussiloff offensive was in full swing this time last year.

The Russian naval arm also have been largely in evidence in Baltic waters, that Berlin announces it has been found necessary to carry out extensive air raiding operations on Russian bases in this area.

In the Arras battle area the British were subjected to a heavy counter attack this morning on the new position they won last Thursday east of Monehy le Preux. They held fast to the main point, the important Infantry hill, but had to fall back from some positions they had established further in advance.

BRITISH RETIREMENT.

Committee Meets at Commercial Club Every Evening.

HOLD FIRST SESSION ON MONDAY NOON

Mature Men Are Desired for Second Camp, Which Opens in September.

Applications for the second officers reserve training camp, which opens in Seeptember, are being received daily by the examining committee under Capt. E. H. Kilbourne at the Commercial club. The first session of the board was held Monday noon from 1 o'clock until 1:30.

Starting Tuesday, June 19, the board will discontinue the noon sessions and will meet only in the evenings from 7:30 until 9:30. The application blanks from the war department have not yet arrived, but are expected in a few days. In the meantime preliminary applications are being received, with the three letters of recommendations required from each applicant. Examination starts July 15, and will end three weeks before the opening of the camp. Applications can be filed with the committee until August 10.

AMERICANS IN FATAL MISHAP IN AEROPLANE

Paris, June 18.—The Paris Herald says that Benny Woodworth, of San Francisco, chief of the first section of the American ambulance field service, has been killed and Lincoln Chatkoff, of New York City, piloting the Lafayette Squadrille, dangerously injured in an airplane accident.

Woodworth went to the headquarters of the Lafayette squadron in Champagne on Friday evening where he met his friend Chatkoff. They decided to fly over and visit some friends, about six miles away. Chatkoff rose to a height of about 150 feet and commenced to execute a series of evolutions, beginning with several spirals and then nose diving toward the earth. Eye witnesses say that when near the ground the pilot seemed to make an effort to right the machine in order to rise again. Chatkoff either miscalculated the distance or something went wrong with the apparatus, for the machine never altered its course but plunged headlong and buried its nose in the earth.

Woodworth was killed instantly, one of his legs being severed and the other crushed, suffering in addition other terrible injuries. Chatkoff sustained serious injuries, also fracturing his skull and suffered other wounds. He is now in a critical condition.

PRESIDENT HAS WARNED FOES OF THE FOOD BILLS

Washington, June 18.—President Wilson today in a letter to Representative Borland concerning the administration food bills, warned opponents of the measures that they must be prepared to bear the responsibility for the defeat of the bill.

"A certain disservice has been done the measure by speaking of it as the food control bill," wrote the president. "The object of the measure is not to control the food of the country, but to release it from the control of speculators and other persons who will seek to make inordinate profits out of it and to protect the people against the extortions which would result.

"It seems to me that those who oppose the measure ought very seriously to consider whether they are not playing into the hands of such persons and whether they are not making themselves responsible should they succeed for the extraordinary and oppressive prices of the food in the United States. Foodstuffs will, of course, inevitably be high, but it is possibly by perfectly legitimate means to keep them from being unreasonably and oppresively high."

VAST QUANTITY OF FUEL BOUGHT FOR NAVY'S USE

Washington, June 18.—Secretary Daniels has ordered coal and oil producers to supply the enormous quantities needed by the navy at prices to be fixed later by the president when the federal trade commission has determined a fair rate. The navy will use 1,750,000 tons of coal and 50,000,000 barrels of oil purchased under this application of the authority granted by congress.

Similarly, steel for the entire navy building program is being bought at a rate fixed when Secretary Daniels rejected the proposals of the steel-makers as too high. Secretary Daniels today said the coal operators proposed to furnish navy coal at a rate of $2.95 a ton at the mine. The navy has been paying $2.88 a ton delivered. The secretary directed the companies to ship immediately the orders being prorated among the producers agreeing to pay the tentative price of $2.33 at the mines pending a report from the federal trade commission.

TERRIBLE TOLL OF GERMAN U-BOATS IN BRIEF FOUR MONTHS

Washington, June 18.—The German submarine toll of British merchantmen since February 17, as shown in official British figures compiled here today, is 322 vessels of more than 1,600 tons and 135 of less than 1,600. British steam fishing vessels sunk in that period numbered 78. Records for sailing fishing vessels are incomplete, but a three-week total was 78.

Submarines in the period given attacked 299 ships successfully and the weekly percentage of unsuccessful attacks has ranged from 51 to 75. During the last week given—the seven days ended with June 9—it was 52.

Arrivals and sailings from British ports since the intensive submarine campaign began have averaged about 2,500, but these include channel sailings.

The British figures do not give the tonnage of vessels sunk, but officials say that 5,000 tons would be a fair average probably for vessels of more than 1,600 tons sunk. Computing the total at that average and putting the average of the smaller ships at 1,000 tons, the total loss during slightly less than four months" submarine warfare would reach 1,745,000 tons, or about 250,000 tons less than the entire world's shipping output during 1916.

REGISTRATION IS EXPLAINED

Committee Makes Report to Democratic District Chairman Luecke.

NO VOTER EXEMPT FROM REGISTERING

Either for General Election or Delegates to Constitutional Convention.

A report interpreting the registration law passed by the last general assembly has been made to Martin Luecke, democratic district chairman, by a committee appointed by him for that purpose, composed of William Fruechtenicht, Harry Hilgemann and E. O'Rourke.

The report in full is as follows:

"Your committee, appointed to interpret the registration law, begs leave to make the following report:

"The registration law, passed by the last general assembly of the state of Indiana, provides

"That every person must register for any general election, and that there must be a registration of all voters desiring to vote at any city election in cities of first and second class.

"The city of Fort Wayne will, therefore, have registration beginning May 7 and ending October 8, 1917. The place of registration is in the council chamber, city hall.

"The last legislature also passed a special registration law, providing that all persons desiring to vote for delegates to the constitutional convention, which election will be held September 18, 1917, must register. This special registration will be for a period of sixty days, beginning June 22nd, and ending August 20, 1917. The boards of commissioners of the various counties must designate the room or place in the court house where this registration is to take place. In Allen county it is in the clerk's office in the court house.

"The registration rooms are in charge of the chief clerk of registration, a deputy clerk of registration and such other assistants as the board of registration commissioners may appoint.

"Every person, man or woman, desiring to vote, must register, regardless of the fact that they have registered and voted last year, or not. The registration room or place will be open from 8 o'clock a. m. until 5 p. m., during the registration period. A person who has not registered cannot vote.

No Voter is Exempt.

"All voters must register in any of the following methods:

First—By going to the registration place in person and there file his registration application (need not be sworn to).

Second—By sending registration application by a messenger. Such messenger must be a legal voter, and the application in that event must be sworn to before a notary public, or any other officer having a seal.

Third—By filing the registration application with the inspector at the primary election.

Fourth—By mailing the registration application to the board of registration commissioners, in which event the application must be sworn to before a notary public, or any other officer having a seal.

"Registration applications may be obtained from the board of registration commissioners and from the chairmen of the political parties, excepting blanks to be used for the special registration for the election of delegates to the constitutional convention. These must be obtained from the board of registration commissioners.

Who May Register?

Any person who will be a legal voter at the next election, city, special or general, is entitled to register. Such person need not be a legal voter at the time of registration.

"Every citizen of the United States, or any person who has declared his intention of becoming a citizen, who has resided in the United States one year, in the state six months, in the township sixty days, in the ward or precinct thirty days prior to next election, and who has registered are legal voters. Women must be citizens of the United States. A woman is not entitled to vote by merely having declared her intention of becoming a citizen and having resided in the United States one year. A woman by her marriage assumes the political status of her husband. If an alien woman marries an American citizen, she thereby assumes her husband's citizenship.

"A citizen is any person born in the United States, or who has been naturalized. The naturalization of the parent naturalizes his minor children.

Each voter who is naturalized, either by his own act or by the naturalization of his parent, should before he goes to the registration place, ascertain the date of his arrival in the United States, the date of his father's arrival, and the date of his naturalization or the naturalization of his father.

Every person born in the United States, regardless of the fact whether his or her parent took out naturalization papers, is a citizen of the United States.

Registration is only an additional requirement and qualification of the voter. If the voter has not the other qualifications required, he is not entitled to vote.

Sign your name to the registration applications personally.

In case a person is unable to write his name, he may have his name written for him by an officer only, who has a seal and by no one else.

Persons residing in the city of Fort Wayne, and desiring to vote at the city election, as well as the delegate election, must register twice, once with the city board and once with the county board of registration commissioners.

The committee appointed by the governor finds that persons in all cities and towns except Fort Wayne need not register for such city and town election but must register for the county election and for the election for delegates to the constitutional convention.

MUST BATTLE SAYS RUSSIA

Duma Passes Resolution Ordering the War to Go to Finish.

NO SEPARATE PEACE TO BE THOUGHT OF

Swiss Socialist Meddler Is to Be Expelled From Russia.

Petrograd, Via London, June 18.—The duma, in secret session, has passed a resolution for an immediate offensive by the Russian troops.

The resolution declares a separate peace with Germany or prolonged inactivity on the battle front to be ignoble treason toward Russia's allies, for which future generations never would pardon the Russia of the present day.

"The duma, therefore, considers," the resolution adds, "that the safety of Russia and the maintenance of the liberties which have been obtained lie in an immediate offensive in close cooperation with Russia's allies."

Rebuke to Peace Envoy.

The first act of the Pan-Russian congress of all councils of workmen's and soldiers' delegates, upon which depends the immediate destiny of Russia in regard to both international and domestic questions, was to ratify the expulsion by the provisional government of the Swiss socialist, Robert Grimm, who is reported to have been the medium through which the Germans attempted to arrange a separate peace with Russia.

Grimm's case was taken up when the congress assembled last evening, immediately after the delegates had elected as their president N. C. Tcheidse, president of the Petrograd council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates.

Vote is 640 to 121.

Grimm's expulsion was approved by the passage, with a vote of 640 to 121, of a resolution indorsing the action of M. Tseretelli and M. Skobeleff, socialist members of the cabinet, who investigated the activities of the Swiss socialist and brought about the order for his expulsion.

The congress expressed the view that the action of the ministers correspond perfectly with the interests of the Russian revolution and the socialist internationale. It welcomed the decision of the ministers to publish the full details regarding the Grimm affair.

Note Asks Conference.

The announcement last week that the cabinet had decided to suggest a conference of the entente allies for examination of treaties was followed yesterday by the publication of the note sent to the other governments in question.

The note suggests a conference to revise the agreements existing among the allies as to war aims, with the exception of the London agreement, which provides that none of the signatory powers shall conclude a separate peace.

TELLS OF GERMAN ORDERS.

Stockholm, via London, June 18.—Additional details of the German peace offer to Russia are contained in the Social Demokraten's translation of the telegram said to have been addressed by A. Hoffman, a member of the Swiss federal council, to Robert Grimm, a Swiss socialist, who has been in Russia for some time. The newspaper's version of the telegram contains the following:

"I am convinced that Germany and her allies would immediately take up peace negotiations at the wish of Russia's allies. As to what concerns the German war aim, you can read articles in the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. There, after consultation withChancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, the declaration has been made regarding annexation to the effect that Germany does not desire any increase in her territory, or any economic or political expension."

DEBATES ON FOOD CONTROL BILL ARE BEGUN IN CONGRESS

THE DEBATE IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, D. C., June 18.—To bring "food crooks out into the sunlight" but not to injure honest business is the aim of the food control bill, Chairman Lever of the agricultural committee declared today in opening debate on the measure in the house.

A wave of applause greeted his statement, adding strength to his prediction that the bill will pass the house by a large majority perhaps by the end of the week.

"It is not intended that any honest business man shall be hurt," declared Mr. Lover. "It is the crook that shall suffer in the sunlight and the crook, unpatriotic, selfish and greedy that we are after."

Look Who's Here.

Opponents or the bill under the leadership of Representative Haugen, of Iowa, former Speaker Cannon, of Illinois, and Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, were ready to lead an attack. "The contest between German autocracy and American democracy," said Representative Lever, "will be determined in the end by the character and strength of the organization which one can put against the other. A loose-jointed, unorganized democracy has no ghost of a chance in a contest with such an autocracy as is Germany. Organization is the only weapon with which organization can be overcome. An organization as the term is used here means not only the whipping into shape the man power of the nation, the money power of the nation, but as well every resource of the nation which may be used in the contest."

Anticipates Attacks.

Anticipating attacks on giving the president extraordinary powers, Mr. Lever contended, the situation warranted them.

"We must either confer the so-called autocratic powers upon the constitutional head of our government or be prepared to have them assumed by the German kaiser," he said. "No war was ever won by a debating society. The time is upon us for getting down to brass tacks. Every man, woman and child must be prepared to make sacrifices—great sacrifices—and no man is going to be permitted to stand behind fine-spun theories and technicalities in his opposition to this measure. This is no pink tea affair, nor is it a ladies' sewing club.

War Against Autocracy.

"It is war against the most powerful autocracy the world ever saw. Germany took control of her food situation within five days after the declaration of war. Hungry armies do not win victories; men who fight must be fed. Those who send their loved ones into the ranks likewise are to be fed. The supreme duty as well as the supreme necessity of the hour, is to feed our fighting forces, the fighting forces of the allies and absolutely provide necessaries at living prices for our own people and as largely as we can the civilian population of our allies."

Without an agency of control which would stimulate production, eliminate waste and conserve the food supply, he declared, this country cannot furnish the bulk of food to the allies.

built for the army under a special form of contract by the terms of which no contractors will be permitted to overcharge the government, the maximum profit on any contract being fixed at $250,000. The government also will have complete supervision over the work and may terminate any contract at will.

The terms of the contract were made public today by the war department. The primary object in the wording of the agreement is to secure speedy construction and avoidance of unnecessary expenditures. The contractor is to be paid his expenses and a percentage of their total amount, out of which he must meet his overhead costs.

His profits are to come from the difference between this percentage and overhead expenses.

The emergency of rapid construction is indicated in an early paragraph of the contract, wherein, according to the wording, the contractor agrees to "do all things necessary for the construction and completion of the work." It is stated that no restrictions will be placed upon the contractor likely to hamper the work.

positive sciences." Since the revolution M. Gorky has been participating actively in politics as the founder and editor of the extreme democratic newspaper, New Life. As a result of severe work and overstrain he had a return of his old lung complaint in April, but has recovered. The correspondent today interviewed the famous writer, who began with the announcement that he was abandoning politics and in future would devote himself to cultural and artistic questions.

Ignorance the Cause.

"The reason is," he proceeded, "that I have formed the conclusion that the evils from which Russia is suffering have as their first cause our painful backwardness in scientific and technical knowledge. To that may be traced the present political instability of which you hear so much.

"In regard to politics I will merely deny the stories circulated abroad that I am an adherent of the factions which desire peace even at the price of Russia's destruction. I am accused of being one of the Porazhents, a new term of derision applied to that faction. My position merely is that I condemn all wars and expect the war will be ended by the combined action of the world's democracies.

"As regards our internal conditions, I advise you not to believe the talk about anarchy too readily. Undoubtedly anarchy exists temporarily, but its seeds existed long before the revolution. The fact is that under the conditions of the old regime of despotism, arbitrariness, cruelty and falsehood Russians could not develop a sense of order and justice.

Due to Old Conditions.

"Today many are disillusioned. I am beginning to receive letters proclaiming that the revolution is ruining Russia. This querelousness is a natural product of our national passivity and is equivalent to crying fire without summoning fire brigade. We must have a positive and constructive scheme for curing all underlying ills. The medicine, I am convinced, is science. Nearly all the evils of our daily life spring from the absence of science.

"Through lack of science half of our peasant children die before reaching the age of five. From the same cause nearly all the peasant women suffer from women's complaints. The Moujiks cultivate the land so badly that the average yield is less than one-fourth the yield obtained in England or Belgium. Conditions in our cities are equally bad. We have no drainage anywhere. Our town soil is poisoned. We are choked with smoke and dust. Town children are rickety, nervous wrecks. Against such evils we need not sterile dreams, but science, technique, machines, efficiently developed industry.

Science Must Give Relief.

"To assist in bringing this about there should at once be created scientific institutions; for instance, institutions of applied mechanics, chemistry and biology and the whole series of bacteriological, hygienic and general medical institutions. If thereby we cleanse Russia physically and intellectually our anarchy will cease. Those are the ideas underlying my new movement; ideas which led to the foundation of the free association for development and dissemination of the positive sciences.

"I have admirable collaborators and intend to appeal to all classes of workers, manufacturers and professions to assist and to provide the vast sums which are necessary.

"Soon anarchy will be uprooted by order. Believe me, Russia is not lost. I believe firmly in our nation's genuine aspirations to higher civilization. I consider our troubles transitory and easily curable by means of the steady and fervent application of the two supreme principles—knowledge and work."

A NEW IDEA

The Twenty Payment Plan is a new idea in borrowing money on Furniture, Pianos, Victrolas, Live Stock, etc.

The plan permits you to borrow money at the legal rate of interest and repay it in twenty monthly payments. However, the borrower may repay the loan in full or in part at the end of any month. Interest is charged only for the actual number of months loan is carried.

and it has gained among the other parties. Even Former Premier Maura, leader of the conservatives, agrees that there is ground for dissatisfaction.

Senor Romeo, editor of the Correspondencia de Espana, summed up the grievances in a forcible article recently.

Should Imitate Army.

He wrote:

"We ought all imitate the soldiers in refusing to be downtrodden a moment longer. The soldiers have shown us the only way possible—an organization with the firm determination to carry our point, regardless of sacrifices.

"The whole of Spain with the exception of a thousand families who monopolize the sweets of office, is sick to death of the favoritism which condemns the country to external stagnation and is only waiting for the signal to rise like one man and do away with it forever. Favoritism is the canker which is killing Spain and will put an end to her unless we put an end to it."

The officers' defense committee demand briefly that rewards should be proportionate to service and that promotion should be by merit, with due regard to the claims of seniority. Their action was on the whole well received by the public and brought about the downfall of the Prieto administration. The example is being followed all over the country. Defense committees of all sorts of professions and trades, as well as of government servants are spring up everywhere.

Cordova Manifesto.

At Cordova a number of prominent men, including engineers, university professors, manufacturers, workmen and priests have published a manifesto demanding a new political system totally different from that hitherto in existence and during the formation of defense committees similar to the officers' organizations throughout the country. In the meanwhile there is a growing movement in favor of the reopening of parliament.

Three liberal deputies, Senors Darriobro, Basolga and Pacheca, have addressed a manifesto to the senators and deputies, protesting against the closing of the Cortez under the present circumstances. It seems that the government wishes to allow time for the agitation to die down before submitting a solution of the grave problems raised by the army officers and by labor troubles.

The Problem Confused.

Premier Dato in an interview said: "The whole question is to know how to meet the aspirations of the country. The government is therefore taking note of all claims of grievances and justice will be done without delay. We shall be guided by the judgments of public opinion. We do not pretend that we live in an Arcadia, but we think we can say that we have brought about a relaxation of the strained situation which permits us to view the future with confidence." Among the steps the government is taking is a reorganization of the higher commands in the army, which is being studied by the minister of war, General Primo-Rivera. While Premier Dato enjoys general respect his confidence in the outlook is not altogether shared by political observers who unanimously agreed the situation continues one of extraordinary difficulty on England, Andrew Bonar Law, member of the British war council, said the government intended to take steps not only for damaging the enemy, but for preventing raids on England.

It was a mistake, Mr. Bonar Law said, to assume that air raiding was confined to the enemy. The British air forces in France had raided German communications and all important military objectives behind the lines, which were of sufficient importance to justify such enterprises.

PERSHING HARD AT WORK.

Paris, June 18.—Maj. Gen. Pershing was hard at work in his office today. He has completed the round of social functions in connection with his arrival and has a busy week ahead of him in dealing with important questions regarding arrangements for the arrival of the American troops.

GERMANS RAID RUSS BASE.

Berlin, June 18.—German airplanes on Friday effected a landing on an island in the Bay of Riga and destroyed a Russian base there. It is announced officially. The statement follows:

"Greater activity by Russian naval forces in submarine and mine warfare made necessary defensive measures on the German side, which had the following results: 'On June 13 our airplanes dropped explosive and incendiary bombs in large quantities on Russian bases, obtaining good results. On June 14 the military station on the island of Runeo, in the Bay of Riga, was bombarded with visible success. Following this enterprise our airplanes on June 15, landed on the island and destroyed the remaining portions of this base. All our airplanes returned.'"

HAS REAL PEACE TERMS.

Amsterdam, June 18.—Via London.—The Vienna Fremdenblatt says that the statement of the Nord Deutsche Allgemenie Zeitung will dissipate all doubt about the German government's firm resolution in regard to peace with Russia without annexation or indemnities.

The paper adds, however, that such declarations only indicate the general character of the peace to be concluded and continues:

"More precise stipulations for this peace, for example in regard to the Polish state and the foundation of friendly relations with Russia, must first be settled by direct negotiations."

BRITISH IN FRANCE RETIRE.

London, June 18.—The British have fallen back from some of their advanced posts in northern France, according to an official statement issued by the war office this morning. The main positions are still held.

The statement follows:

"Early this morning the enemy delivered a strong local attack, under cover of a heavy bombardment upon the positions captured by us on the morning of June 14 east of Monchy le Preux. After severe fighting our troops were compelled to fall back from certain advanced positions which had been captured in front of our main new position, which we still hold, on Infantry hill.

"There was considerable artillery activity on both sides during the night north of the Scarpe. Hostile artillery activity continues in the neighborhood of Ypres."

VIENNA OFFICIAL REPORT.

Vienna, Sunday, June 17—Via London, June 18.—The following official announcement was given out here today:

"Eastern theater—Local patrol skirmishes occurred on the eastern border of Hungary. Russian raiding parties were repulses near Brezezany.

"Italian theater—In the region of Gerizia, Austra-Hungarian air squadrons threw bombs successfully on an Italian concentration point. Otherwise there were no developments.

"Southeastern theater—The situation is unchanged."

right arm were burned by pieces of burning enamel, which fell from the blazing fume pipes in the enameling room.

The blaze, which spread through all the fume shafts in the new enamel department, was well under way when discovered by employes at the plant. The pipes were soon red with heat and it seemed for a time that the whole plant would be swept by the blaze.

Fire station No. 5 was summoned and all machinery stopped. Girls working in the finishing department left their work for a few minutes. Firemen turned the heavy streams of water into the big pipes and soon the blaze was under control. Damage to not exceed $50, says Manager Jacobs.

This is the second fire within a month that has broken out in the enameling department. The chemical preparation, which is used in wiring, is highly combustible and easily ignited. Arrangements will be made to have the fume pipes divided in sections so that the entire plant will not be imperiled in case of fire in the pipes.

Michael, stock room clerk, was among the first into the department where the pipes were blazing. He was aiding to shut off the engine valves when the burning chemical fell on his face and arm.

The age limits for the second camp are to be the same as the first, but in the official instructions from the central department, notice is given that preference will be given to men from 31 to 44 years of age, as the government is desirous of getting men of more mature years for the second camp. Application blanks will not be withheeld, however, from men of younger years who meet other requirements.

Almost as great interest is being shown in the organization of the second camp as was shown in the first. At the first session of the committee Monday noon a large number of applicants appeared, among them several business men, and men of mature age and executive experience.

The next meeting of the committee is to be held Monday night at 7:30, and every night thereafter applications will be received by the committee at that time. All men who have made applications for the previous camp must now make new application for the second camp.

OLDEST TO REGISTER IS PAST EIGHTY-NINE

Half of Four Thousand to Sign for Vote Are Women.

Daniel C. Null, 1222 Taylor street, is the oldest citizen to register for a ballot in the coming city election, so far. He is eighty-nine years old. He was born in Pennsylvania on August 28, 1828.

He is a very active man for his years. He says he believes he can do more work than most of the "young bucks" in a day right now. He is the grandfather of Postmaster E. C. Miller.

About 4,000 citizens have signed for the right to vote in the city election next fall. Fully half of that number are women, the registration clerks say.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Alfons Lamprecht, 1003 Third street—a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. George Bullemier, 1336 Wabash avenue—a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kroesch, 2538 John street—a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Doehrmann, 1210 Anthony boulevard—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. George Welling, 610 East Madison street—a girl.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued to the Wildwood Builders' company to erect frame house, 1220 Packard avenue, $3,600, and to C. D. Coil, 1310 Ewing street, remodel house, $500.

VACATIONS FOR STRIKERS.

Waterworks Men Are Given "Lay Off" by Board.

James Erwin, chief clerk of the waterworks department and president of the Municipal Employes' union, No. 15,308, was given a suspension from his duties for thirty days by the board of public works Saturday afternoon because he had talked in an unseemly manner to board members on Thursday and had caused three other waterworks department men to leave their jobs. Erwin will be off duty, without pay, until the middle of July.

John Swaidner, storekeeper, who telephoned other workmen that a general strike was on at the time of the trouble between the board and Erwin, was also granted a thirty-day leave of absence.

George McCarthy, machinist, and William Wagner, plumber, who threw up their jobs on Thursday, were given a ten-day suspension. The other men, pumpers at the wells, who threatened to strike unless their pay was increased, will not be suspended.

GOVERNMENT EXPERT REORGANIZING ROUTES

Will Aid to Efficiency of Thirty-nine Delivery Lines.

George H. Chase, of Washington, D. C., postal expert, is at work in the federal building in an effort to simplify the rural routes of Allen county. Chase has taken the office of the postoffice inspector and is laboring over charts and county maps. He will attempt to shorten the thirty-nine routes of the county by wiping out all retracting possible.

Chase cannot say at this time whether or not his work will cause one of the lines to be abandoned. He will be in conference on Tuesday and Wednesday with Postmaster E. C. Miller.

STATE STATISTICIAN COMES FOR LECTURE

Will Show Importance of Records in Illustrated Talk to Public.

Dr. C. A. Carter, state statistician, will come to Fort Wayne Tuesday for an illustrated lecture on "The Importance of Figures." He will give a public talk at the assembly room of the court house at 8 o'clock. All physicians of the city are especially urged to attend the lecture.

Dr. Carter will illustrate the methods of keeping records. He will explain the value of birth and death certificates. He has had years of experience in his field, and his talk is sure to be enlightening to all who attend.

EXPRESS GRATITUDE FOR AMBULANCE GIFT

Medical Department of Army Thankful for the Donation of Fort Wayne.

Mrs. J. H. Gilpin is in receipt of a letter from the medical department of the army in which great appreciation for the auto ambulance is expressed. The department also furnishes the information that the ambulance will soon be called for.

The letter to Mrs. J. H. Gilpin which is self explanatory, follows:

Dear Mrs. Gilpin: The Surgeon General directs me to acknowledge receipt of your telegram of the 13th inst. to the effect that you have in your care an ambulance built by the General Motors company and donated by the citizens of Fort Wayne to the Medical Department of the Army and to express to you, and through you to the donors, his great appreciation of the kindly feeling toward the Medical Department of the Army so generously manifested in this gift. This department accepts the gift at Fort Wayne. A government bill of lading covering its shipment to the designated point of final disposition will be sent to you within a very few days.

Very respectively,
EDWIN P. WOLFE,
Major, Medical Corps, U. S. A.

Kendallville Man Gave Excuse That He Cannot Read or Write.

An "alien enemy" from Kendallville wanted to register for permit to enter industrial zones, on Monday morning. The attorney who represented him, and who telephoned to Fort Wayne, Monday, was told that it is too late for the man to sign permit papers.

"The barriers are closed," said Deputy United States Marshal Harry Muller. "I gave orders to stop the registration, Saturday night."

The attorney for the Kendallville man stated that his client can neither read nor write and had not known of the registration law until Sunday.

Muller will have a deaf ear to all who ask to sign permits at this time, he says. He will use the next few days in compiling the records already at hand. The entire clerical force will be put at work for possibly the remainder of the week arranging and signing the 500 "good intention" papers on record.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Saalfrank—Funeral services for Frederick Saalfrank will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, sun time, at the residence in Marion township, and at 2:45 at the Lutheran church at Soest, Rev. Rodenbeck officiating. Interment in church cemetery.

TO GIVE PEDRO PARTY.

Branch 1173, L. C. B. A. will give a pedro party Tuesday evening, June 19, at St. Peter's school hall at 8:30 o'clock. This is a public event.

TOO MANY FISH.

Police Lieutenant Harry Grimme and a few of his gentlemen friends motored to Lake George Saturday for a fishing expedition over the week-end. On Monday morning word was received that the automobile used by the party had broken down on the return trip. It is thought that the damage to the machine was due to the excessive load of fish which the car was forced to carry.

Dr. Carrie Banning will speak at the First Methodist church Monday evening on "The New Constitution and How to Vote."

The Corona Girls will have their business and social meeting Monday night with Miss Hazel Shoub, 1224 Broadway.

She Drops Note Pad to Become Heiress

Dropping her shorthand notebook Signa Applegren, 22, answered the phone in Sioux City, Ia., the other day, to discover she was heiress to $1,000,000.

Signa is going to Teheran, Persia, to get the million, she says.

Twenty years ago Chris Applegren, Signa's great uncle, left America. Wandering through South America, Africa, Europe and Asia he accumulated a fortune. News of his death just reached Sioux City. The fortune was left to Signa's father, but he is dead and she's his sole heir.

WHY DOES NOT GOD STOP THE WAR?

A Sermon Preached in the First Presbyterian Church, June 17, by Rev. H. B. Master.

Text: Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness. Judges 14:14.

On one of his journeys into the land of the Philistines, Samson, who is one of the most striking figures in Israelitish history, slew a lion. Coming to the same place a little later he discovered that in the carcass a hive of bees had swarmed, and he took the honey and found it sweet and nourishing. At his wedding feast in Timnath he turned the experience into a riddle and said to his guests: "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness."

Through all the subsequent centuries men have pondered that riddle and have found in it more than Samson himself ever dreamed. It is a summary of a good deal of human experience. Out of that which is terrible and destructive comes forth strength and power; out of that which seems to threaten death comes forth blessing and deeper, richer life. Which, perhaps, is only another way of saying there are times when the Providence of God seems very lionlike, but back of it is His sovereign eternal and unchangeable love.

In this week's issue of a well-known magazine there is an article with the title, "If God Reigns, Why Not Stop This Terrible War?" The writer of the article, presumably one of the editors, answers the inquiry in this way: Let me answer it this morning in my way. I do not know. Nobody knows! It is the very question men might have asked, and probably did ask during the civil war which cost America some of the best blood and noblest lives of which the land could boast. Why did not God stop the Thirty Years' War in Germany? Why did He not stop the Wars of the Roses in England in which an hundred thousand of the flower of Great Britain's men were slain? Why did he not stop the Hundred Years' War between France and England, from the days of Edward III to those of Joan of Arc? The answer is that so far as all these conflicts are concerned He did stop them when His hour had struck; when enough men of a generation had learned certain lessons. When the welfare of the race was best subserved by peace, then God issued His fiat and the conflict ceased. In His own way and in His own time God will again reveal how the wrath of men may be made to praise Him.

Far more searching, however, than the question, Why does not God stop the present terrible war? is this one: "Why did He not prevent its beginning?" Why did He not prevent all the other conflicts which have cursed the earth and brought death and desolation with them? There is a question, and it brings you face to face with another inquiry harder than all others to answer: "What room is there for evil in a universe reigned over by an allwise, all loving, all-powerful God?" Whichever way you turn, whatever be your theory of Providence, sooner or later that question comes up to disturb your peace, to destroy your theory. And like Banquo's ghost it will not "down."

Now no one knows the mind of the Almighty, no one has yet been able to lay the measuring line of his intellect along that of God; and nothing seems more certain than that in many respects at least His thoughts are not as ours and His ways are not as ours. Therefore it is impossible to say with any certainty why He acts thus and so, or what His plans for the future may be. There is just one fact to which we can cling, to which we must cling: the Judge of all the earth will do right. We must trust Him when we cannot see very far ahead, when we do not understand His purpose in permitting certain things to come to pass. We know, for example, that God is ceaselessly at work in this world; that He is deeply interested in the affairs of men; that nothing which influences them for good or evil is a matter of indifference to Him. In his plea that the meetings of the constitutional convention of 1787 be opened with prayer, Benjamin Franklin said: "I have lived, sir, a long time, and the longer I live the more convincing proof I see of this truth, that God governs in the affairs of men." It was that same Benjamin Franklin who frankly admitted that what he himself had seen of the hand of God in American history had shattered his Deism to pieces. It was Mr. John Fiske, the philosopher, who wrote "As in the roaring loom of time the endless web of events is woven each strand shall make more and more clearly visible the living garment of God!"

This belief in a personal God, separate from the world and yet present everywhere; the God in whom we live, and move, and have our being; whose will runs unhindered among the stars and in the lives of men—this is not only the corner stone of our religion, but the great basilar fact of history as well. So when the inquiry is made, Why does not this reigning God put a stop to the present war, or, going a step further back, Why did He not prevent it, we may find a partial answer, at least, in certain facts which a study of His actions in the past reveal.

(1) We discover, for example, that in the accomplishment of His purposes God usually works through human agents. I have no doubt He could have decreed that the seed which you plant today should bring forth an abundant harvest tomorrow. What we actually observe is that God makes the harvest dependent upon human toil, and sun, and rain, and certain qualities of the soil. He demands the combination of all these elements in order to supply the world with bread. For

Back of the loaf is the snowy flour,
And back of the flour the mill,
And back of the mill, the wheat and the shower,
And the sun, and the Father's will.

In by-gone days when men did not understand the laws of nature as they do now, time and again they chose the sites of proposed cities in utter disregard of some neighboring swamp and the consequent certainty of disease and death. God could have saved men from the results of their ignorance in many ways, but the fact is that He allowed them to learn by bitter experience how to avoid such disasters. It was quite as wonderful a triumph to rid Panama of the mosquitoes which carried fever and plague as it was to dig the canal itself.

In New York city for years hundreds of babies died each summer because the milk which was fed to them was impure and unclean. When Mr. Nathan Strauss introduced his pure milk depots the most amazing results were achieved. Each year now a multitude of babies are saved whose death a few years ago would have been a foregone conclusion. God could have protected the babies against the greed and selfishness and ignorance of men, but what we observe is that He seems to have preferred to educate men to act as His agents. Why expect God to work a miracle to relieve a condition, the remedy for which lies in human hearts and human hands?

A physician of this city told me that in the days when he commenced to practice the mortality in cases of diphtheria was enormous, frightful. Since the introduction of the serum treatment, however, the deaths from diphtheria have been reduced to a minimum. Administered in time it is marvellously successful. God could have made man immune as against diphtheria but what we observe is that He chose to equip His servants with intelligence to discover the remedy, and the commonsense to employ that remedy.

It is true that in a moment of time God could wipe out the liquor curse which still slays its thousands and is the prolific source of so much of the world's misery. What we see is that He chooses to work through human agents. Here and there He raises up men and women who hate liquor with a steady hatred; through the years He recruits an ever increasing army of crusaders against the evil and some day when public sentiment is sufficiently aroused He will blot it out forever. The dawn of that day is even now whitening on the horizon. If you doubt it study the newspapers.

Why every great discovery which has advanced civilization; every mighty effort for moral reform; every great forward movement of the centuries, has been made or instituted by some man or men whom God equipped and used for that particular purpose. There is little enough profit in speculating as to what God could do, or theorizing as to what He might do, but you stand on solid ground when you study reverently and carefully what He has done and is doing. Such study always reveals that God works through human agents in the achievement of His great plans and the accomplishment of His perfect will.

Not only so, but in educating men to co-operate with Him, God's object seems to be to train them rather than to break them. Only this last week an acquaintance who is a great lover and skillful trainer of dogs told me of an experience which is very interesting. A friend of his invited him for a visit and promised him some partridge shooting. He accepted and took with him one of his most promising dogs. But at first, for some reason, the animal did not do himself justice and his owner said to the friend who was plainly disappointed, "I could break that dog in two hours, but I want him to use the intelligence the Lord gave him and to develop those powers which he has and we have not." When at the end of two days the dog had learned what was expected of him and had found himself and was working perfectly the man said to his owner, "I never realized before the difference between breaking a dog and training him!"

Well, there you have a great secret. In their criticism of God and His ways so many seem to deny the Almighty the intelligence which he has given men. God could break us in two hours, two days, two weeks, two months, two years, but from what we discover of His dealing with the race we are bound to infer that He does not want to break us but to train us! He does not furnish an elevator for the simple reason that He wants men to climb. He puts into human minds noble thoughts, into human hearts generous emotions, into human souls lofty ideals. The net result is that civilization, culture, refinement and righteousness increase with each succeeding age.

It is true we are often distressed by the apparent slowness of the process. Like the little children who dig up the seeds to discover how fast they are growing, we also are eager for immediate results. It was Theodore Parker who said of the abolition movement, "The trouble is that God is not in a hurry about this matter and I am!" But God never hurries. Nor are we the best judges of what is slow or rapid in the developmeent of a soul; or the education of the race. You remember that old Saxon story of the warriors sitting at evening in their hall when through the window came a small bird, poised a moment on fluttering wing, and then flew out into the darkness from whence it had come. Forthwith the poet compared man's life to the flight of the bird, out of the darkness, into the light for a breathing space, only to disappear again as the bird disappeared. It is the brevity of human life which makes us so impatient of the years of God which are so very long. Nevertheless common sense plus experience teaches us that it is never wise to sacrifice safety for the sake of speed. The most intense activity does not necessarily involve progress. We discovered that at the close of the civil war. We tried to hurry the emancipation of the negro. Freed yesterday we proposed to give him the ballot and all the other privileges of liberty today. The experiment was a dire and dreadful failure. It cost the very people we desired to help an enormous amount of suffering and delayed their upward march a good half century. Russia tried to hurry. She flung off the yoke of tyranny; she proposed to become a republic without any clear understanding of the principles of democracy and the result is anarchy with all its horrid license and inevitable weakness. Doubtless God could inspire all men with the highest ideals and holiest emotions and equip them with power to achieve the ideal—the obvious fact is that He has done nothing of the kind. There is still a good deal of the ape and tiger in some of us, and because there is so much of both in so many God seems to have allowed Himself a long, long time for the education of the race. His great object is to train us, not to break us; to make men of us, not puppets or rag dolls. The real wonder is that in sheer despair He does not hurry the process of our education. It is one of the marvels of Divine grace that He is so long suffering, so patient while He seeks to make us able and willing to co-operate with Him in the redemption of the world.

(3) For the third and final fact is that God has done everything within His power, short of destroying human freedom and man's moral responsibility, to prevent this present war. Through the past centuries He raised up men by whom He spoke to all nations of the earth. In the fullness of time He sent His own Son into the world to show men how to live and how they might win the power to live as He did. It was God's own heart which broke as He tried to help men realize the truth which alone can make them free. He has kept that truth before men in all its wonderful vividness and vitality for nineteen centuries. Short of the destruction of the world, or universal famine and pestilence—all physical disasters—what more could God do than He has done to prevent the war? If He grants the individual man freedom, the power of self-determination, liberty of action, if He refuses to coerce or break the will of one man, why should we expect Him to act differently where masses of men are concerned? Having done everything He could do, without taking away man's moral responsibility, to prevent the war suppose He should stop it tomorrow! Would stopping the war change the hearts of men? Would it blot out the hatreds and subdue the angry passions which the war has aroused? Would it restore or give any meaning to those many lives which have thus far been sacrificed? Why stop it before it is finished? Are there no gains already to offset the losses? Why, France has been reborn; England has won a new conscience; Belgium has learned obedience—a new obedience to the law of Christ—by the things she has suffered; Russia we may hope, will come unto real freedom; America! why, America, too, may be saved from her conventional Christianity and her very practical atheism.

Do you not see, can you not feel, that in this crisis of the world's history Christianity will come unto its own? Where but to the Christ, to what save His gospel, can the nations of the earth now turn? All our human achievements are bankrupt, proved to be incapable of restraining men from evil, of making them good and noble. Nothing but Christianity honestly believed, actually lived, practically applied, can prevent a repetition of this monstrous crime which has bewildered the world. Woe unto the world, said Jesus, because of offenses for it must needs be that offenses come; but woe unto that man—or nation—by whom the offense cometh. Woe, because there is no such thing as the wrath and wickedness of men prevailing; no such thing as this world being turned back to a darker and less hopeful day; no such thing as the permanent defeat of righteousness in a universe where the living God reigns. This is the message of all history; this is the sum and substance of prophetic revelation; this is the promise of the Divine Christ.

Ah, my hearers, be very sure that in God's way and God's time this war, like every other war, will be stopped, and until that great hour comes we will do our part to best advantage if we put our trust in Him and ponder the truth that "out of the eater came forth meat and out of the strong came forth sweetness."

ENGLISH BAND PLAYS PAEON OF VICTORY IN RUINS OF FRENCH CITY

The ruins of a large French town furnished a sympathetic background to the celebration of victory by the British band and Guard of Honor drawn up in the main street. The town has just been recaptured from the Germans and entry by the British celebrated by the song of victory. While the band is playing, the guard stands at attention.

How to Look Years Less Than Your Age

The most aged face will look years younger after the use of ordinary mercolized wax for from ten days to two weeks. This remarkable substance, because of its peculiar absorptive power, actually removes the thin veil of faded or withered outer cuticle, a little at a time. Gradually the fresher, more youthful skin underneath is revealed. This absorption process being a purely hygienic one, an entirely natural complexion is acquired—quite different from the artificial complexion, which appears anything but girlish, though often bearing painful evidence of childishness. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to rejuvenate any complexion. It is put on like cold cream at bedtime, and removed mornings with warm water.

To eradicate such age marks as wrinkles and furrows, make a wash lotion by dissolving one ounce of powdered saxolite in one-half pint witch hazel. This has wonderful astringent and tonic properties. It quickly effaces all kinds of wrinkles, no matter how caused, making the skin firm, smooth and young looking.—Advertisement.

MONDAY, JUNE 18, 1917.

RED CROSS WEEK.

Red Cross week is inaugurated today. The goal of this great movement that is to sweep the length and breadth of the land by next Saturday night is one hundred million dollars.

To reach this there must be maintained a daily average of seventeen million dollars. That is a good deal of money to bring out as a free will offering each day, contemplated by itself as seventeen million dollars.

But there are more than one hundred millions of people from whom to take the offering. A dollar for each of these will bring in the money that is asked for and needed to suitably finance the Red Cross for its work in the war. The man who can and will give two dollars will give for himself and another, for there are here and there some who cannot give and here and there some who will not give anything. Those who can must give for those who won't. It may not be ethically fair; few things of the sort are. It is a question of patriotism, a consideration of humanity, a hearkening to mercy—this giving to the Red Cross—and no one who is patriotic, humane and merciful will care to shape his standard of conduct by what his neighbor does not do.

Be ready for the Red Cross call. Determine what you can afford to do and do it. Fort Wayne is expected this week to contribute eighty thousand dollars to the Red Cross fund. Here again comes the dollar apiece argument. That is the average Fort Wayne is counted upon to maintain. A good deal, perhaps, yet little enough, is this sum. It will put no one to stress if it shall come from the pockets of all the people. There will be many generous givers—those who do the best they can, whether the limit of means be large or small. If every one who can give at all were to set himself the duty of giving in that way to the Red Cross Fort Wayne's share of the fund would be raised with many thousands to spare, for the better credit of the city in this good work.

The great body of the people should improve this early occasion to become acquainted with the needs of the Red Cross to sustain its holy part in the great war. Everybody knows there is a Red Cross and almost everybody has some notion of its purpose; but it is not so much a certainty that everybody is familiar with his own personal obligation to the Red Cross and to support it for its work in our war.

Our armies must have its ministrations, else the men in our armies will suffer untold and needless anguishes and agonies. Every dollar given to the Red Cross means relief for some one somewhere. That is a fact as absolute as that war inflicts pain.

The greater the American Red Cross contingent, the more complete its equipment, the more thorough its training and the more abundant its supplies the better it will be for our boys at the front and for their allies who must bear the same battles and share the same perils. If the armies of Europe could cry their appeal into the ears of America today there would be no slacking of anybody with a dime in his pocket. It would go to the Red Cross and with its donor's richest blessing and, though it were his last bit of silver, with no regret save that it could not be multiplied a thousand fold.

The Red Cross campaign, however, is going to take nobody's last penny. There is no need that it should. If all who can give at all will give fairly according to their means the fund will be raised quickly, fully and to no one's inconvenience, much less sacrifice or hardship.

Red Cross week has started. It is a great drive for one hundred million dollars. The money is needed. The people must give it.

AGAIN, THINK IT OVER.

We believe that if the members of the city council will give some studious thought to the reasons which impelled Mayor Hosey to veto the gasoline plant ordinance they will incline to a reconsideration of their action in nullifying the veto.

The mayor takes a good position. His reasons for opposing the contract ratified by the council are strong. As the mayor points out, the policy and practice of a quarter of a century are set aside and measures and bounds long established against certain perils are wiped out. It is difficult to construct a defense of such a proceeding.

If the members of the council will consult with the fire underwriters in Fort Wayne, or submit the case to the National board of underwriters, we feel sure that they will be able to get some light that perhaps the council has not yet had. Fort Wayne has been compelled to submit to some exhorbitancies of risk premiums because of various shortcomings counted against the city by the inspecting engineers of the National board from time to time. Some of these objectionable conditions to which high rates have been ascribed have been removed. Progress is to be noted in the extinction of others. It hardly can be thought wise to create new and more flagrant conditions.

The Indiana state fire marshal might be able to help the council to a better understanding if he were asked to state his views in this case. There are certain restraints of law that we doubt the council of this city has the power to supervene. It doubtless would be well before a finality is made of the gasoline station ordinance to make sure that what is done will stand.

We do not believe that for the integrity of its record as an official body or for the integrity of the record of each of its members upon a matter having any virtue as determining official purpose or private opinion respecting both the ancient oil monopoly and the value of competition the city council has any need to pursue courses that are unwise. We believe the council will not be understood as under influence or control of Standard oil or as hostile to any competitor of Standard oil if it shall mark its course by the highest considerations of public safety.

The destruction of fences that have been maintained for the public security during more than a quarter of a century is a serious matter and should come in response only to imperative occasion.

Is there such occasion now?

RUSSIA ASSURES AGAIN.

Russia has given her allies assurance once more. There will be no separate peace with Germany. The duma orders the army to go ahead and fight and keep at it until the world is made safe for new democracies and old ones, too.

It is fine. It is to rejoice. It is also to laugh, if a laugh can be tickled out of a situation so portentous.

Russia's new order has done little else since last March save to fool away time on the battle fronts and pen protestations of loyalty to the finish. But there has been no fighting. Had Russia held up her end through the past three months, the Italians by now would have been in Trieste and the various German lines—Hindenburg, Wotan or what not—in north France and in Belgium would have been pretty well smashed.

Perhaps Russia will yet come through, but there is simply the devil's own mess in that land and the safest thing the allies—including the United States—can do is to count Russia of no account and prepare to win the war without her help.

To rely upon anything so unstable, uncertain and perhaps so treacherous as the elements of violence that for the present have the upper hand in the Muscovite affairs is to court danger.

CONGRESS SAVING US AGAIN.

Congress is expected to require two weeks to talk itself into a humor for passing the food control bills and the senate may not pass it at all. There is a fear that our well-known and deeply cherished democracy will plunge to the demnition bow-bows if we do anything so radical as to prevent ruthlessness in the food markets.

That is what Champ Clark and Claude Kitchin said about the selective conscription bill. These and their followers—sparse enough altogether, they were—delayed that measure weeks.

There has been a drooling for two months and more with the war revenue measure. Now comes these food bills, introduced long ago and put away in the dark, out of their retirement because the president had insisted.

Congress having passed a resolution embodying a declaration of war does not yet know that there is war.

That the answer to the U-boat has not been found is indicated several times almost every day. Those who think America has nothing to do in the war but furnish the money and the bombast, will feel better when worse things happen if they revise their notions a bit and prepare to help push this country forward to readiness.

Hope hospital factions seemed to have had the idea that it would help some to furnish their own business. It was a gory but happily unrealized prospect.

A NEW CONSTITUTION
By John A. Lapp, Bureau of Legislative Information

The Civil Service of the State, Its Abuses Due to Partisan Politics and the Remedies

(Copyright 1917 by John A. Lapp.)

There are no exact figures of the number of people employed in the work of the government. The national government employs about a half million in Washington and over the country to do its work. The states, cities, counties, towns and townships probably employ three times that number for a part or all of the time. The matter of building and caring for roads and streets alone takes many thousands of men. The work of government covers so many fields that practically all kinds of workers are needed, from the highest skilled and professional workers to the men who work at common labor.

The method in general use in appointing and hiring men for government work has been the spoils method. The men elected to office by a political party have rewarded the members of their party by distributing the positions among them. Government positions have been wrongly looked upon as easy places where the pay was good and the work light and where no special knowledge or ability was required. Every time the control shifted from one party to another, the old employes were turned out and new ones put in their places. This was called rotation in office. In most of the states and cities of this country, that is the system which prevails today. Every change of party puts out the experienced workers and puts new untried people in their places. It was so unbusinesslike thus to handle affairs that thinking men began to see the folly of using the positions in the government service as a means of rewarding political workers instead of serving the people. The demand grew strong for civil service reform. The central idea of such reform was that public office or position is a public trust and that all persons should be selected for merit and retained as long as they do their duty well. It was pointed out that no business concern could prosper if it used the spoils method of filling its positions.

The first step was taken by the United States in 1883, when the civil service law was passed which classified the positions in the various departments of the federal government and required that persons appointed to certain positions show evidence of qualification. The president was given power to add other positions and during the years since, more than nine-tenths of all positions in the United States government have been placed under the merit system. The states of New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, California, Colorado and Connecticut have placed the merit system in operation for a large part of their employes, and many large cities have followed the same example. Nearly all large cities now select policemen and firemen without regard to politics and remove them only for cause.

Appointments to the civil service by means of examinations are now made for many thousands of positions. The examinations are held by the United States civil service commission for positions under the federal government and by the state and city commissions in these states and cities which have this system, for positions in the state and city service. These commissions give such tests as they think will best prove the qualifications of the applicants. In some cases, the test is simple and easy. For some positions, such as that of laborers, the fitness of the applicant is easily determined; while for highly skilled positions, the commission may need to give thorough tests of knowledge, experience, general ability and fitness.

The merit system has many advantages over the spoils system.

First—Men are appointed to places because they have proved that they are the best qualified and not because they are political friends of the person making the appointment. This is the method of filling places in all successful business. No business could be successful if the important positions were filled by friends of the manager without regard to their ability in the business.

Second—Under the merit system every person is continued in his position as long as he is able to perform the duties properly. He is removed only for cause. Employes therefore have an opportunity to learn the work they are doing thoroughly, and become expert at it. No employe will take pride in his work if he knows that he may be removed without cause.

Third—Promotion and honors are the principal incentive to cause men to work. The merit system stimulates men to do their best in the hope that they may get the rewards. Wherever civil service reform has been well established, all promotions are made on merit. The chance is thus given to every one to rise in the service.

Fourth—The merit system stimulates people to prepare for the civil service as a life career. Under the spoils system, no one would prepare himself especially for a government position, because some unprepared politician might have a better chance of getting the place. He would not be sure that if he got it he could keep it beyond the next election. Under the merit system, any person may prepare to serve his government in any one of the hundreds of promising fields open to him, knowing that his own merit would be the test in getting the place and in holding it. One of the greatest needs of the country is to get the best men to serve the people, and under the merit system this is possible. In Germany, England and France, where the merit system prevails, the highest grade of men go into the public service as a life career. That ought to be so everywhere in America. It is so in many branches of the United States government service and is developing in the states and cities.

Questions for Investigation.

1. What harmful effects come from "rotation in office."

2. Is a written examination a fair test of a person's ability. What other evidences of qualifications should be required?

3. Should a person, once appointed, hold a public place indefinitely?

DIRECTOR HOOVER TELLS 200,000 PASTORS WASTE MEANS LOSS OF THE WAR

Herbert C. Hoover, national food director, mailed today a letter to 200,000 pastors of individual churches, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, calling upon them to co-operate with him and with the department of agriculture in urging the largest possible production of food and the smallest possible amount of waste.

"As a minister of God," writes Mr. Hoover, "a leader of the people and a lover of liberty and of your followmen, your co-operation is earnestly desired and greatly needed. In such a time as this the people naturally turn to the church. It will be a calamity to the nation and to the churches if their chosen ministers neglect to exercise their proper leadership in the great cause of feeding a world in need. For the world is in want of food.

"To meet the needs of the war and of the world, we must produce generously, give freely to our allies, ourselves eat as much, but no more, than we need, and especially save the waste. Lasting disgrace will fall upon us if lack of self-restraint should prevent us from taking our proper part in this great conflict against the doctrine of 'might makes right.'"

Mr. Hoover estimates the annual waste of food at one billion dollars. He urges a larger use of corn and corn bread in the family ration.

"The women of America," says Mr. Hoover, "have never failed to answer such a call as comes to them now. The saving of food is within their sphere, and without food conservation we cannot win the war."

All pastors are urged to preach upon conservation of food, Sunday, July 1, which is designated as Food Saving day, and to secure the co-operation of religious and civic bodies in a campaign for food saving.

Mr. Hoover's 200,000 letters are sent to pastors through the agency of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, accompanied by a brief supplementary appeal by Dr. Frank Mason North, president of the council.

MANY FAILURES IN BUSINESS ARE DUE TO EATING HABITS

Many business failures are caused by irrational eating, and abuse of the stomach is one method of suicide, Dr. J. N. Hurty, state health commissioner, says. Discussing the subject of rational eating he said:

"The Biblical utterance, 'He who saves his life shall lose it,' is not a paradox. Neither is it a paradox to say, 'He who eats for pleasure shall achieve pain.' Nor yet is it a paradox to declare 'He who lives to eat shall not live to eat.'

"Wrong eating of wrong foods does the human race more harm than alcoholic intemperance. Standing in the doorway of a dining room of a great sanitarium where 600 invalids were at their noonday lunch the superintendent said, 'These are all valiant but vanquished knights of the dining table.' Continuing he asserted, 'If I can only induce them to want to eat rationally they will get well.'

"It was rather interesting to know that that intelligent bunch—all well educated and possessed of means—should be in a hospital simply because they had long practiced irrational eating. The superintendent further said, 'Very many business failures are caused by irrational eating. Surely making a garbage can of one's stomach does not pay. Why do we do it? Is it because we don't know. If so, we better had know, for the penalty for not knowing is weakness, invalidism and death; yes, and sometimes insanity between the invalidism and death. You can't eat your cake and keep it, too. Neither can you ruin your stomach and keep it also."

"To all this, some who are bent on suicide by stomach abuse will say, 'Oh, you are a crank.' They give this answer because they are weak in will and self-indulgence. We all have heard dyspeptics say, 'Why can't I eat what I want?' They should put it this way, 'Why don't I want to eat rationally?' By not wanting to eat rationally and by not doing so, they simply prove their unfitness and nature slowly and painfully pushes them off the dock.

"Dr. J. Rilus Eastman, of Indianapolis, who returned recently from Austria, where for a year he was engaged in war hospital work, says that gastric and intestinal disorders have decreased greatly in that country since the people have been forced to eat moderately and simple coarse foods. He further says that coffee could not be obtained at all, and most likely the absence of this drug helped some.

"The time surely is ripe for Americans to stop all irrational eating. If they will not they simply are chumps to complain of stomach trouble and the high cost of living."

THE MARINE CORPS.

(Indianapolis News.)

During this week the marine corps, "the soldiers who go to sea," will endeavor to fill out its ranks to war strength, 30,000 men, and its need is for 4,000 exceptional alert, brave and strong men between the ages of eighteen and thirty. Indianapolis has been asked to send thirty, or about five a day for the week, the men to enlist for the period of the war or for the regular term.

The marine corps is a challenge to the best in American manhood. The qualifications are higher than for the army or navy, and the duty is in keeping. Time and again, when the country is at peace, the American people learn of outbreaks in remote quarters of the world where the lives of American citizens are placed in jeopardy. For perhaps a week the dispatches tell of lawlessness and of the failure of local authorities to keep order. Then comes the brief announcement that the American marines have landed, and in nearly every case that is the end of the trouble. Later dispatches generally tell of the marines doing almost anything from stopping a typhoid epidemic to collecting taxes. Little is said of their battles for the reason that they are never defeated, even though outnumbered ten to one. But the war records tell their story, and among them are many who wear the coveted Medal of Honor.

The number of men rejected asunfit by the marine corps recruiting officers may discourage some from seeking membership, but no young man to whom this branch of the service appeals, and who wishes to serve his cuntry at this time, should fail to try to qualify. He will know that if he fails he is not necessarily barred from other branches of the service, and if he succeeds he will be numbered among picked men and will be a better man for his service. Indiana has never yet failed to produce the men asked for, and during this week it should lend its influence and tradition to keeping up the record as it affects the marines.

KEEP TO THE NORMAL.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

This country is great enough and prosperous enough to prosecute the war and business side by side. Indeed, each may be made to support the other with mutual profit.

Commercial and industrial development should go on in normal fashion. By the same token public work should not be permitted to languish by postponement. If they were important enough to warrant prosecution in peace times, they should not be set aside now because we are at war. On the contrary, they should be carried on precisely as if conditions had not changed—for that is the way to keep prosperous conditions from changing. If we abandon all manner of projects, public and private, at this time, we shall bring about a contraction that bodes trouble.

Selfridge, the great retail merchandising establishment of London, made a net profit of a million dollars last year, an increase of 30 per cent over its previous high record. In the midst of war, carrying heavy war taxes, bearing unusual burdens, this concern actually increased its business and profits. Does any one suppose this was accomplished by contraction, by hanging back, by postponing enterprise till a more convenient season? No; it was by pushing ahead, by striving for a normal development in spite of war handicaps.

If such things can be done in London, how much more can they be done hereabouts?

The truest wisdom for us is to keep to the normal—to develop and grow naturally, to buy and sell, to build and exploit, precisely as we would do if there were peace.

Uncle Harry Explains "No Annexations and No Indemnities"

"What does 'no annexations and no indemnities' mean?" asked Jimmy.

"I've been expecting one of you to ask that question," said Uncle Harry.

"Every day the paper has something about it," said Helen. "Will you explain it to us?"

"Be glad to," said Uncle Harry. "And I'll begin my explanation by asking Joe to get the dictionary and read to us what it says is the meaning of the word "annexation!" "

Joe had soon found the page and was reading: "Annexation—the act of adding or annexing."

"And in connection with war," said Uncle Harry, "the word annexation generally means the taking of a nexation or a portion of a nation—by force. That is, the victorious nation takes or 'annexes' certain land belonging to the defeated nation. Now Joe, look up the word 'indemnity" and then I'll explain about the 'no annexation and no indemnities' talk in the war news.'

"Indemnity—compensation for damage or injury," read Joe.

"And compensation is only a long word for pay," said Uncle Harry. "So indemnity means pay for damages or injury."

"I think I begin a see what 'no annexations and no indemnities' means," said Helen.

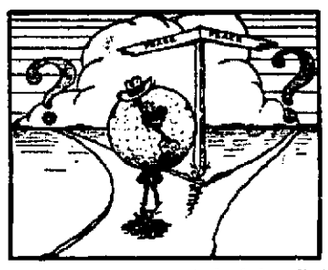
"Tell us," said Uncle Harry.

"It means that the nations that win the war will not compel the nations that lose to give up any of their land or pay the winning nations any money," said Helen.

"Very good, Helen," said Uncle Harry.

"Now tell us, Uncle Harry, where and how this talk about 'no annexations and no indemnities' started," added Jimmy.

"It started in Russia, after the people had overthrown the Czar and established their own government," said Uncle Harry. "But it has also been talked about a great deal in all the countries. There are, of course, many opinions as to whether it should be applied in settling this war."



"Has the Russian government agreed to 'no annexations and indemnities?' " asked Helen.

"It has said that it is in favor of such a program or agreement," said Uncle Harry, "and has asked the governments of the other Allies to state whether they approve the plan."

"Why is Russia in favor of 'no annexation and no indemnities?' " asked Joe.

"The Russian officials believe," said Uncle Harry, "that unless all the fighting nations agree to this plan, neither side will quit until millions more men are killed and wounded, and the loser is completely crushed, because each side fears that if it is defeated the victor will take or annex considerable of its land and people and then force the conquered side to pay millions and millions of dollars—perhaps billions, to the victor, not only to repair the damage done by the defeated armies during the war but as a punishment."

"But, Uncle Harry, suppose Germany is defeated, don't you think she should be punished?" asked Jimmy.

"Indeed I do think that Germany should be punished," said Uncle Harry, "but the point is, folks, that Germany has already been punished, and she will be punished a lot more before the war ends. And by punished I mean this: Germany has already lost millions of men, has all but exhausted her own resources, and is buried under a war debt that will put heavy taxes on the German people for generations. But what is perhaps the severest punishment the German government has suffered is this: The war has shown the German people that the kaiser and his supposedly irresistible army can not sweep over Europe and do whatever it pleases."

"But Germany will have to give up Belgium, won't she?" asked Helen.

"Unquestionably," said Uncle Harry. "I firmly believe that Germany will be defeated, and that she will have to give up all the land she has conquered. But it would not be annexation for the allies to take back the land that they possessed at the beginning of the war. The question of annexation would come up if any of the allies attempted to take any of the land held by Germany, or Austria, or Bulgaria, or Turkey before the war. And making Germany pay a certain sum to help rebuild the ruined parts of Belgium, France and Serbia would in a way be an indemnity, but it would not be what is known as 'punitive indemnity'—that is, an indemnity fixed as a punishment.

"Why are some people opposed to annexations and indemnities?" asked Jimmy.

"The idea is this," said Uncle Harry. "In all past wars when the victors have annexed land from the defeated and made the defeated pay punitive indemnities, the annexations and indemnitives have left 'sore spots.' The defeated nation has always hoped for revenge, and a longing for revenge brings more trouble and more war.

"And if it is possible, when this war ends, nothing must be done that will plant the seeds for another war; too many lives have been lost and the sacrifices of the people have been too great. That's why the question of annexations and indemnities is being studied and discussed so much. The different governments are not yet agreed as to just exactly what is meant by these two terms, but if by the time the war ends it is clear to all the nations that 'no annexations and no punitive indemnities' are necessary to a lasting peace then the Russian program will be adopted."

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondents' names will not appear in the articles.

Most Common of Bodily Ills.

By far the most common of bodily ills is constipation. The usual cause is the indifference of many people to Nature's call. The inclination is not heeded, or it is put off until a more convenient time. When this is done repeatedly, constipation is almost sure to follow. It is of the utmost importance that everyone establish a certain time for the bowels to move each day and let nothing interfere with it. When that is done and proper food and exercise are taken and an abundance of drinking water, the bowels are not likel yto give much trouble. When a laxative is required take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are mild and gentle, easy to take and agreeable in effect.—Advertisement.

Mrs. S. D. Meisheimer, of East Wayne street, has returned from Chicago, where she spent ten days attending a lodge convention and visiting her brother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Nate Erber, of Danville, Ill., who were guests of Mrs. Erber's mother, Mrs. Strass, have gone to Chattanooga and Atlanta, accompanied by Miss Connie Strass and Miss Jeanette Brunswick.

Miss Renah Werstein, of Woodland avenue, has gone to Valparaiso for a visit with Mrs. Byron Smith, and from there will go to Chicago to visit her aunt, Mrs. Frank Ausman. Miss Werstein will be away for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pennell and children are to leave the latter part of this week for Ludington, Mich., to remain at a cottage for the summer. Mrs. Pennell's mother, Mrs. J. H. Evans, will accompany the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Buchanan have returned from their wedding trip to the Dells, of Wisconsin, and are at home with Mr. Buchanan's mother, in Maple place, for a few days, until their new home is ready to enter. Mrs. Buchanan was Miss Mildred Flick.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rurode, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Levy, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Beyer and Mrs. M. C. Norton and their guests, Mrs. Hunter Richey and Dick Wright, of New York city, motored to Wawasee to attend the opening of Vawter Park, on Sunday.

The Bluffton pupils of A. Leslie Jacobs gave a recital there on Friday evening and Miss Georgia Bauer, of this city, assisted by singing a group of songs. Attending the recital were, in addition to Miss Bauer, Misses Helen Trisch, Evelyn Hinton, Margurite Wirth, Emily Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wirth.

Mr. and Mrs. Berg Heinricks and daughter, Miss Marjorie, and Mrs. Joseph Priesthoff and Hallie Cummins, of Anderson, drove through Saturday and visited over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Remmel, of Jackson street. Mrs. Heinricks and daughter will remain for a few days, the others returning Sunday evening.

One of many pretty parties given recently to honor Miss Lorinda Braun, who is to wed this week, took place on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Jerome Bobilya and Mrs. Arthur Roso was an assisting hostess. The young women of the company spent their time hemming towels for the coming bride, and they as well as a shower of individual gifts were heaped upon the table for Miss Braun to take home. Decorations of pink roses and ewansonia were charmingly arranged and included the customary details in the way of place cards and so on.

George Crouse, jr., celebrated his fourteenth birthday anniversary on Saturday evening by entertaining his classmates of the Bloomingdale school eighth grade. Games were enjoyed and music and refreshments were a part of the pleasure Mrs. Crouse had arranged. During the evening George jr. was presented with a fine camera from his friends. It was a merry company and all had a happy evening.

Miss Emma Dornberg and Miss Edna Rohrbaugh gave a party of happy planning on Friday, when they invited Miss Margaret Barva, who is to be a bride soon, and a number of other close friends to the parlors of the Edison Lamp works. The amusements for the evening were a game of bunco, dancing and clothespin contest. A supper was by no means the least part of the pleasure. Miss Barva received gifts and everyone had a good time. Participating were Misses Lelia Horn, Eunice Roberts, Grace Burkhold, Marie Carpenter, Janie Miller, Mabel Stump, Rose Delagrange, Lillian Disler, Kathryn Ryan, Clara Kohlmyer, Zelma Long, Hilda Smith, Almira Lehmier, Hilda Ulmer, Marie Muldoon, Edith Rempus, Bess Jeff, Gladys Barva, Fae Stevenson and Martha Cutter.

Tracht—Bradley.

Miss Mae Bradley and Mr. Harold Tracht were married in Defiance, O., on Monday, June 4, at the home of the groom's parents. The wedding was not made public in this city until Friday evening when Mrs. Frank M. Rhodes, of Florida drive, an intimate friend of the bride, gave a party in her honor. It was supposedly a pre-nuptial affair and not until supper was served did the guests discover that it was post-nuptial instead. Knowing that there was to be a wedding this month the guests, were on the lookout for something to sew, something to see and something to eat in the midst of something lovely in the way of decoration. Consequently a miniature bride raised no particular exclamations, neither did the shower of pretty ribbons from the electrolier, nor the towels the guests hemmed, nor the cupids and hearts seen in decoration and in the things served for refreshments. But when Mrs. Tracht opened the center decoration of the table and disclosed a marriage certificate, license and a wedding ring, it came to light that their hostess was no longer Miss Bradley, but Mrs. Tracht, there was a great to-do about it, and about the sweet bride. Mrs. Tracht is a daughter of Mrs. Emma Bradley, of Beaver avenue. Mr. Tracht is proprietor of the Colonial billiard hall.

AT THE PALACE

"HIS BRIDAL TOUR."

Merry Farce by Lasalle Company at the Palace.

"His Bridal Tour," a merry farce-comedy that might stretch one's credulity if he were to be too captious in his seeking of plausibility in some of the scenes but which is just what good little farces are supposed to be, a merry whim, is the offering in which the Lasalle Musical Comedy company is appearing in the first half of the week at the New Palace. This is farewell week at the New Palace as the Lasalle company will on Thursday evening open in "Lovers and Lunatics," closing Saturday evening and then presenting for one day only the old time favorite, "The Time, Place and the Girl," and winding up the season.

There is no matinee Wednesday, the theater being used on that day for graduation exercises. The Lasalle company will take advantage of this fact to play the Elks ball club at Lawton park. Thursday afternoon is another half day off as some more graduations are to be done that day.

In the current offering the Lasalle quartet is royally received in some novel specialty numbers. These four versatile entertainers never fail to come through with something real.

GOOD HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A dingy oilcloth may be brightened by washing it in clear water in which a little borax has been dissolved and then drying with a flannel cloth which has been dipped in milk.

An excellent remedy for mildew is to saturate the article with kerosene. Roll it up and let it stand for twenty-four hours and then wash it in very hot soapsuds.

Boiled olive oil to which a few drops of vinegar have been added is fine for highly polished surfaces. Apply to moderate quantities and rub with a soft flannel cloth.

To clean gas and electric light shades and china, dust and wash in soap and water and dry thoroughly.

COST OF MEALS REDUCED BY COOKING IN CASSEROLE

"Casserole cookery has not received the consideration it should," said a woman yesterday when means of presenting nourishing food to the family at the smallest possible cost of money and energy were discussed.

"Most people have confounded casserole with chafing dish cookery and have considered it more or less of a fad. Chafing dish cooking is rather expensive and should be used by those living in rooms where it is impossible to use the long even heat that is necessary to casserole cooking.

"Casserole and fireless cookery is the greatest conservator of food values. Meat that is cooked by long, slow heat becomes tender and toothsome. The gravy is rich with fats and the addition of vegetables makes the dish an entire well-balanced dinner when a salad or a sweet is added.

"All meat should be cut in slices large enough for one portion and browned in fat. Chicken is sometimes cooked whole, but it will be found more delicious is disjointed and first browned in a little fat.

"This fat is more tasty if the onions to be used in the casserole are first fried in it. After removing the meat brown a little flour in the fat and then add water and the other vegetables and cook at least two hours—three is better.

"I give my family casserole from left-over beefsteak, to which I add two or three kidneys and a slice of bacon. Liver makes a delicious casserole and if one likes tripe there is no better way to cook it than with onions, carrots, potatoes and pimentoes in a casserole."

CAREFUL WORK NECESSARY IN HANDLING SOFT GOODS

Silks and satins are being so largely used for the development of dresses, suits and coats that it is important to observe certain rules at the very beginning of their possession if these materials are to give satisfactory service.

For example, large pins or needles should never be used in the fitting or the stitching of silk fabrics. They make permanent holes and, if extra large, break the threads, then the silk tears easily. Dressmakers should be cautioned against the use of such pins and needles.

Put new needles in the sewing machine before working on new silks. With old needles, even slightly blunted, the silk is certain to pucker and draw.

Be careful in plaiting or ruffling that the iron used is not too hot. An over-heated iron will crack any silk.

TRIMMINGS FROM GARDEN GOOD FOR FERTILIZING.

Never burn your leaves or anything which will decay. Put them into your compost heap. All the garden trimmings and lawn clippings, leaves, even garbage, may be brought together and by the use of lime kept from being offensive while undergoing the change which will make them invaluable for enriching your garden.

Nitrates and phosphates are excellent for the soil, but these are expensive and to many their price is prohibitive. This is another reason why your compost heap is an essential. Where it is possible a green cover crop of clover, alfalfa, peas or beans may be plowed under with beneficial results.

Except bones, which may be burned, almost anything may be utilized more effectively as compost than as ashes, which are difficult to handle and a large portion of which is likely to escape. Of course if you have wood ashes from the fireplace, save them carefully and use them where they will do the most good.

DON'T IMPAIR HEALTH BY HABIT OF WORRYING.

It is a trite saying that a sense of humor is a saving grace. The expression is especially true in a health sense. Fretting and fuming generate a poison in the system that shortens one's days. Fear and worry upset the digestion and disturbs sleep. Worry is mental work. When you are worrying you are working your brain. The person who worries a great deal either neglects his regular work or works overtime. Anger, too, damages the fine texture of the brain as well as other delicate structures.

In these troublesome times it is especially important to cultivate poise. Never lose your temper foolishly, and cheerfully do whatever war-time task you are called upon to perform.

France has not lost her sense of humor in spite of the war, neither should we. The French soldier has developed philosophy out of the war which may be summed up in the single phrase, "Why worry?" It is a good doctrine.

Do your bit and look pleasant about it and quit worrying. If it is not becoming your dignity to smile outside, smile inwardly. A smile loosens up the nervous tension and lets the body machinery work more smoothly and efficiently.

MUSIC SEVERAL EVENINGS A WEEK GOOD PRACTICE.

It is a salutary practice to have music in the home several evenings a week. In fact, it is well to have it almost every evening, for at least half an hour after the evening meal.

For music, if we are at all fond of it, has remarkably beneficial effects. It does much more than give enjoyment to the mind. It influences helpfully even the internal organs and process of the body.

Voltaire, that witty critic, when he said that our purpose in going to the opera was to promote digestion, proclaimed an established truth, the full meaning of which he, undoubtedly, had no idea of.

PULL LEAVES OFF STALKS AFTER PICKING FLOWERS

Always pull the leaves off the stalks of flowers before putting them in water—those leaves which would be in the water, not those above it. And with flowers from any hard stalked sort of shrub the bark should be peeled off as well as the leaves.

The flowers live very much longer if these precautions are taken. A scrap of charcoal in the water also is a great preservative.

BOUDOIR CAP AND GOWN.

(By Betty Brown.)

Crocheting is one of the fashionable finger employments this summer. It is the present fancy to make practical pieces such as the gown yoke and cap of matching pattern designed by Richardson after a choice Cluny original. For a dainty, but laundry resisting gown yoke this pattern is excellent.

ATTEMPTS TO ESCAPE FROM COUNTY FARM

Mrs. Lide Bennett Falls From Second Story Window, Breaking Arm.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Bluffton, Ind., June 18.—Mrs. Lida Bennett, who appealed to the governor to grant her possession of her child, made a ward of Wells county, fell and broke her arm in an attempt to escape from the county farm. Mrs. Bennett was confined in a second story room and when alone jumped to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet. Both bones of one wrist were broken and she was painfully bruised about the head and back and other arm. There is no vacant cell at the county farm, the only one there being used to confine an insane woman. For this reason Mrs. Bennett was locked in an upstairs room. The woman put up a fight against going to the county farm, but as she was dependent upon the township for support, it was thought the best place for her.

May Junk Traction Line.

From authentic sources it has been learned that an effort is being made to sell as junk the Bluffton, Geneva and Celina traction line, between this city and Geneva. The proposition had not been acted upon at a stockholders meeting of the company, although it was brought up for discussion at a January meeting, it is said. Since then, it is declared, one stockholder has obtained a number of signatures from other stockholders asking that the road be sold, he being willing to take junk prices. Should the road be sold for junk, many firms would be placed at great inconvenience, some practically put out of business. At Geneva, the city holds a twenty-five year franchise for lighting purposes. The Studebaker Garin and Seed Company elevators at Linn Grove and Vera Cruz, get their electric current from the traction company also. It is said that Tom Flynn is at the head of the company trying to buy the road.

Short Bluffton Items.

One hundred and fifty shares of Bliss hotel stock having a par value of $15,000, were sold Saturday afternoon by the Studebaker bank, administrator of the Michael Long estate. Kenneth Kunkel was high bidder at $7,500.

Mrs. W. T. Arnold was again elected president of the Woman's Home Missionary society in the North Indiana conference, which held their session in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. William Golden, 40, died at 8:30 o'clock last night at her home east of the city. She had been ill only a week from white swelling of the limbs.

PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO FATHER MUNGOVAN

Funeral of Departed Priest Attended by Diocesan Clergy.

Local and diocesan clergy, former parishioners from Indiana Harbor and Anderson, besides relatives and members of every parish of Fort Wayne and vicinity, attended the funeral of Father Thomas Mungovan, which was held at St. Patrick's church Monday morning. Solemn chanting of the office of the dead at 9:30 was followed by the solemn requiem mass at 10 o'clock. Rev. Edward J. Mungovan, pastor of St. Paul's church, Valparaiso, and a brother of the deceased, was celebrant of the mass, and Rev. Joseph F. Delaney, rector of St. Patrick's, delivered the eulogy.

Sunday afternoon an immense concourse gathered at St. Patrick's church to pay tribute to the memory of the dead priest. The body was removed to the church from the home of the sister, Mrs. Richard Markey, 209 West Creighton avenue, and held in state, while a congregation that taxed the seating capacity of the church gazed for the last time on the form of the beloved priest. Members of the Holy Name society and of the Knights of Columbus kept vigil over the remains Sunday night.

BOSTON LABOR LOYAL.

Boston, June 18.—A resolution sent here by the central labor council of Seattle, Wash., calling on all organized wage earners to demand the repeal of the army draft act and asking that there be no relaxation of the present restrictions on Oriental immigration, was promptly and unanimously voted down by the Boston central labor union last night.

ELOPE TO KALAMAZOO.

Lillian Harlor and Ralph E. Keim eloped to Kalamazoo, Mich., last Tuesday and were married. They returned to Fort Wayne Thursday, intending to keep the matter secret, but the marriage was announced to their friends Sunday. Mr. Keim is a chaffaur, living at 137 Wallace street. Mrs. Keim lived at 2019 Bayer street, and was employed at the Wayne Knitting Mills.

PREPARE TO GIVE TO RED CROSS THIS WEEK

News of Our Neighbors

NEW TRIAL DATE.

William Fishback Will Be Tried Friday for Murder.

Hartford City, Ind., June 18.—Judge Eichhorn, of the Wells-Blackford circuit court, Friday afternoon named June 22 as the date for the trial of William Fishback, who is charged with the murder of Roy Brown, the Redkey grocer.

The court also ordered a special venire of thirty names from which to select a jury. Fishback was taken from Portland to Hartford City Friday morning.

According to a report from Portland, Hyter Steward, who is said to be the star witness for the prosecution, has been locked in the Jay county jail there to remain until the beginning of the trial. He is said to have been drinking heavily for the last several days and it was his own wish that he be locked up so he could have a "clear head" when called upon to testify in behalf of the prosecution.

A. G. Emshwiller, of Hartford City, has been chosen to assist in the defense of the case. Attorney Fleming of Portland is chief counsel for the defense. Each will receive $400 from the county for his services.

FOWL CHOLERA.

Decatur, Ind., June 18.—County Agent Overton has received a report from the examination made of the chicken from the James A. Hendricks farm which he sent to the veterinary department at Purdue university for examination a few days ago, for the purpose of determining the character of the malady that was decimating the chickens on the Hendricks farm. The examination showed the chickens to be afflicted with fowl cholera, a disease that is almost certainly fatal. There is no known remedy and the only thing to be done is to adopt precautions to prevent its spread. This will be done at once, in the hope that the disease may be stopped where it is and not allowed to spread to other farms and to the coops of chicken raisers in the vicinity.

WOOL FLEECES STOLEN.

Hartford City, Ind., June 18.—Wool fleeces valued at $290 were taken from the farms of W. A. Curry and O. S. Ford, both living just east of Millgrove, and police in all of the nearby towns have been asked to be on the watch for the stolen property.—Milton Richey, living near Montpelier, was arrested Friday by a posse of farmers, members of the Blackford county Horsethief Detective association. He was brought before the grand jury, where it is said he confessed a number of thefts and made statements that will result in the arrest of other persons.

NEW CASHIER NAMED.

Lagrange, Ind., June 18.—Samuel Musser has been elected cashier of the Lagrange State bank to succeed the late Gunther C. Nichols. Carl S. Willard will take the place of Mr. Musser as assistant cashier and Homer Smith will continue as bookkeeper. Dr. A. J. Hostetler was named as a director, succeeding the late Wallace Bolden.

BOTH ARMS FRACTURED.

Huntington, Ind., June 18.—An employe of the Oscar Hurdle farm south of Huntington, named Harvey, fell twenty feet to the ground from a barn and suffered fractures of both arms. He may have sustained other injuries. The bones of one arm were broken in twenty places, the physician said who attended the injured man.

AWFUL JOLT WHEN VAN TAKES TUMBLE

Seventeen Passengers Go With Truck Into Ditch.

"It was an awful jolt," said one of the seventeen passengers of a large auto truck after the machine ran off of the Lincoln highway bridge, six miles east of the city, and had tumbled into the ditch. Three members of the picnic party of seventeen were slightly hurt when the heavy car fell from the bridge.

Ben Alleger, 519 Greenlawn avenue, had his hand cut; Mrs. William Elder, 660 High street, was bruised and suffered from a nervous shock, and Miss Laura Heger, daughter of Gotlieb Heger, was bruised.

J. T. Peck, driver of the big truck, blames William Grabner, 2105 East Washington, son of Henry Grabner, justice of the peace, for the accident, which proved very damaging to the heavy machine. Peck claims that Grabner, driving a racing car, struck the front axle of the truck as Grabner passed the large machine. Grabner denies hitting any part of the truck. He did not know there was an accident, he said, until his friend, Carl Lauer, who was riding with him, said, "Look, they went in the ditch."

WOMEN! READ THIS!

Lift off any corn or callus with fingers and it won't hurt a bit.

Your high heels have put corns on your toes and calluses on the bottom of your feet, but why care now?

This tiny bottle holds an almost magic fluid. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Small bottles of freezone like here shown can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Don't limp or twist your face in agony and spoil your beauty but get a little bottle of freezone and apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you can lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses without suffering one particle. You feel no pain or irritation while applying freezone or afterwards. It is magic.—Advertisement.

BRAIN STORM HAS SUBSIDED

Dissension and Trouble at Hope Hospital Is Nearing End.

SETTLEMENT IS NEAR AT HAND

Col. Foster States That He and Dr. Weaver Simply Lost Their Temper.

Calmness and censorship prevails over the brain storm which came near making Hope hospital close its doors. Everything gives appearance that the dissension and trouble between the board and staff has nearly boiled itself out and that a peaceful settlement has been effected.

The Fort Wayne institution is in condition, located in its new quarters in the Macbeth building on West Lewis street, to receive patients and give them the proper care. As far as can be ascertained, although Miss Springer, the head nurse, absolutely refused to make a statement, Monday morning, stating that she was not on duty as yet, the nurses' strike being a thing of the past.

Col. D. N. Foster, it was reported, came near having a fist fight with Dr. B. P. Weaver at the meeting last Friday night, stated Monday morning after an absence from the city for a day or two that there was no indication of a fist fight at the time, but that both he and the doctor had unfortunately lost their tempers.

The veteran soldier and business man also repudiates the story that some one in the meeting on Friday night spat in his face. It is regarded as only one of the many unfounded stories arising from general gossip that has attached itself to the unpleasant affair.

Rumors of a Clique.

For many months rumors have been in circulation in the city that a clique of doctors was running Hope hospital. This fact was discussed at the board meeting last Friday night. It was Colonel Foster's idea that there should be a reorganization of the staff as soon as the hospital found new quarters. He stated that it was not his opinion that the staff should be dispensed with. It seems that it was the opinion of all the board members that the staff should be increased and that the policy which had been in force heretofore that all able surgeons be allowed to practice in the institution, should be broadened.

Out of this, evidently, grew the misunderstanding that the board intended to do away with the staff altogether. The members of the staff opposed it bitterly and soon the nurses said they would go on a strike and continue their training somewhere else unless the old instructors were all retained.

Dr. Porter's Statement.

Dr. Miles F. Porter, head of the staff of Hope hospital, declares that the statement that the staff has been narrow and worked more for the interests of their own pocketbooks than for the institution, is ungrounded and false.

WOUNDED SOLDIER WILL RETURN SOON

Meetings Being Held to Stimulate Recruiting in Fort Wayne.

John McMillan, the member of Company E, First Indiana infantry, who was accidentally shot through the leg a few weeks before the boys returned to Indiana, has written to friends in the company that he is going to start homeward in about three weeks. He states that he is now in a wheel chair and that next week the physicians and nurses will allow him to try to walk on crutches. The Fort Wayne soldier boy is at the base hospital as Houston, Texas.

Under the auspices of the two artillery organizations in Fort Wayne a meeting was held Monday noon at the Wayne Knitting mills in an effort to stimulate recruiting in Fort Wayne and secure recruits for the two batteries. Meetings of a similar nature will be held Tuesday noon at Bowsers and at the General Electric works Wednesday noon.

Physician Is Called.

Dr. James W. Squires, of Fort Wayne, has been named captain in the medical reserve corps of the United States army and is assigned to duty at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Semi-official word has been received and he is now awaiting definite orders from the war department.

Co. E to Camp Out.

All the old members of Company E will go to the farm of Fred Shaw, a member of the company, next Saturday afternoon. The members will take their tents with them and camp out during the night and will return on Sunday. It is believed that sixty-five men will accompany Captain McAdams to the farm, which is located near Columbia City.

BOY SCOUTS ICE CREAM SALE.

Frederick Saalfrank Passes Away After Long Sickness From Cancer.

Frederick Saalfrank, aged 55 years, a prominent farmer of Marion township, died at his home Sunday night at 11:30 o'clock. Death was due to cancer, and followed an illness of two years.

The deceased was one of the well known farmers of Allen county, having lived in Marion township all his life. The farm which he occupied at the time of his death, was located about nine miles southeast of the city on the Wayne Trace. He was a member of Rev. Rodenbeck's congregation at Soest, in Marion township. He is survived by the wife and seven children, William, Arthur, Herbert and Carl Saalfrank, Mrs. F. Benzinger and Miss Amelia Saalfrank; the following brothers and sisters, John, Henry, Louis, William Saalfrank, Mrs. C. Alschwede and Mrs. Charles and Mrs. Henry Scherer, the latter of Fort Wayne. Six grandchildren also survive. Funeral announcements later.

O'CONNELL.

Joanna Burt O'Connell, aged 78 years, died at 2:15 o'clock Sunday morning at her home, 304 West Jefferson street, after an illness of one year from a complications of diseases. She was the widow of John O'Connell, who for many years was a member of the Fort Wayne police force and who died seven years ago. Mrs. O'Connell was married to John O'Connell at the church of the Immaculate Conception in 1863. She was almost a life-long resident of this city, coming here with her parents from Cleveland, Ohio, when she was one year old. She was the mother of thirteen children, six of whom survive. They are William, Charles and Joseph O'Connell, of Chicago, and Miss Agnes, Hugh and Frederick O'Connell, of Fort Wayne. Mrs. O'Connell was a member of the Cathedral congregation, and the Rosary society of Sacred Heart league. Funeral services Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the residence and at 10 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment at Catholic cemetery.

CARSON.

Word has been received here of the death of John Carson, a retired Pleasant township farmer, who died a few days ago in Houston, Texas, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alonzo Swank. Mr. Carson had spent his entire life in Allen county, until last December, when he went with his wife to Texas. Several brothers and sisters, besides the widow, survive. Burial will take place at Houston.

ELSWORTH.

Samuel Elsworth, a gardener of Montpelier, Ind., died at the St. Joseph hospital Monday morning at 6:15 o'clock at the age of 77 years. He had come here for an operation and had been ill since last Thursday. He is survived by the widow and one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Stevenson, of Columbia City. Remains will be sent by Peltier's to Montpelier for burial.

EHLERS.

Etta Hunting Ehlers, aged 24 years, of Vermillion, Ohio, died Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the St. Joseph hospital where she had been a patient for four days. Remains sent by Mungovan & Ryan to Mortimer, Ohio, where funeral services and burial will be held.

MEYERS.

Henrietta M. Meyers, aged 8 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meyers, 1024 Pape avenue, died Sunday morning. Surviving besides the parents are three brothers, Alfred, Arthur and Alva.

GRIDER.

Mary Grider, aged 14 years, an inmate of the I. S. S. F. M. Y., died Sunday night. The remains will be sent to Rushville, Ind., for burial.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Meyers—Funeral services for Henrietta Meyers will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the residence, 1024 Pape avenue, and at 2 o'clock at the Huntertown cemetery chapel. Interment in Huntertown cemetery. Auto funeral.

FIFTY THOUSAND AT HEADQUARTERS

Liberty Loan Office Changed Into Headquarters for Red Cross Campaign.

Saturday night when the office for the Allen County Liberty Loan association closed it was found in checking up that a total of fifty thousand dollars had been subscribed for the bonds at this place.

These offices have been changed into headquarters for the Red Cross campaign which is to be conducted in the city and entire county this week. Literature is being distributed and the various committees are meeting here before they start out on their work of canvassing.

Although the headquarters for the Liberty Loan bond is now closed bonds can still be purchased at any of the Fort Wayne banks or trust companies.

Charles H. Worden, president of the county organization, has not as yet completed figures as to the exact amount of bonds that were purchased.

TWO-FIFTHS IS GOTHAM'S PART

New York City Alone Will Contribute $40,000,000 to Red Cross Fund.

CAMPAIGN BEGINS IN THE BIG TOWN

William Wrigley, Jr., Has Added $100,000 to His Bit for Fund.

New York, June 18.—The campaign to raise $40,000,000 set down as the city's share of the $100,000,000 Red Cross war fund began today with a small army of men and women assigned to thirty teams competing for the honor of bringing in the largest total contributions during the week. Organization of the vast machinery for collecting New York city's part of the fund required the attention of the local committee today. Active canvassing was not to begin until tomorrow. The twenty teams of men and ten teams of women are composed almost wholly of persons whose names are familiar to almost every household. Co-operating with these thirty committees are hundreds of substitute committees and aids so that not one citizen of the city will lose the opportunity of contributing what Henry P. Davison, head of the national campaign has called "the heart of the nation."

Tonight at the Red Cross dinner, members of the thirty teams will have allotted to them the names of potential contributors. These lists will form the working basis for each team and visits to the persons named will commence early tomorrow morning. At the dinner tonight addresses will be made by Henry P. Davison, chairman of the American Red Cross war council; William Howard Taft, another member of the council, and other leaders of the campaign. On Saturday, two days before the actual beginning of the campaign, more than $11,000,000 had been pledged.

WRIGLEY TILTS IT AGAIN.

Chicago, June 18.—William Wrigley, jr., of the executive committee engaged in raising Chicago's quota of $8,000,000 of the $100,000,000 Red Cross war fund, today increased the amount in hand by $100,000. Already $1,300,000 has been subscribed here.

KICKS LIFE OUT OF "LITTLE RED DEVIL"

Edward Perry Sees All Sorts of Queer Things in Police Court.

Edward Perry, 40, startled the police court Monday morning when he suddenly leaped from his seat in the prisoners' row and ran to the side of the room. He began stamping in the corner. He was kicking the life out of a "little red devil," he said, when overpowered by police. Perry, who has been drinking heavily, will be held until Wednesday before he faces an intoxication charge.

Got Long Sentence.

Both Frances Donaley, white, and Amos Fry, colored, will be in jail 290 days, about ten months, because police removed them from a Lafayette street rooming house Saturday night. The couple pleaded guilty to an associating charge. Their combined sentences will be 580 days.

"You both deserve the same penalty and a heavy fine," Judge Kerr told the pair.

Tore Wife's Waist.

John Nora, 1800 Weisser Park avenue, tore away his wife's waist in a brawl Saturday evening. The husband was intoxicated, neighbors told police. Nora was fined $20 and costs. He paid his fine.

Looker Like Crusoe.

If Robinson Crusoe had a very black beard he looked like Osburn Embodi, who says he came from Toledo. Embodi awakened the court by stating that he is 19 years old and does not have to register for draft. Deputy Prosecutor Huffman is inclined to believe the beard instead.

Embodi says his mother lives in Stone Fort, Ia. Police will write to her and find if Embodi is really a young man gifted with a remarkable development of filaments. He will be held until Friday in the county jail. He was arrested when he alighted from a freight train Monday.

Other Police ourt ases.

Luther Chovis was fined $10 and sentenced to 30 days in jail after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a bicycle.

Frank Fordham, 30, goes buggy riding and spends his money for drink, his wife told in the case in which she charges child neglect. Fordham promises to give her his money in the future. The case is continued for a month.

Cases of public intoxication were: Herman Hartstein, fined $25 and costs; George Mills, $1; Edward McKinnie, $1; Fred Smith, $1. Harry Cursell will be tried on Wednesday. John McGeem, Osmier Benward, Mary Bryant, Tony Sundy, John Scott and William Foley were released.

COMMISSIONER CLEMENTS DIES.

Washington, June 18.—Commissioner Clements of the interstate commerce commission, died here today.

BRITISH UNION JACK ADVANCES UP BUNKER HILL

Boston, June 18.—The British Union Jack was taken up Bunker Hill for the first time in a military and civic parade commemorating the historic battle on the heights of Charlestown between the Minute men and the English Redcoats 142 years ago. It fluttered at the head of the bagpipe band of the New Brunswick kilties battalion, Two Hundred and Thirty-sixth Canadian Overseas regiment, in its farewell appearance before returning home after a two weeks' recruiting campaign here. The parade was the principal feature of the celebration of Charlestown. Thousands of sailors, marines and national guardsmen were in line with fraternal organizations and high school cadets.

Athletic events, band concerts, water carnivals, open air festivals, receptions and banquets were on the holiday program in Greater Boston.

LOSE THEIR DRAFT CARDS

Five Young Men Admit They Have Misplaced Conscription Souvenirs.

One Lost His Vital Ticket in Excitement of the Horton Fire.

Five young men of Fort Wayne are sad victims of carelessness. They registered for conscription but cannot prove it. They have lost their registration cards.

The men who have asked advice from the city clerk on the subject of proving their conscription status are: L. J. Cooper, 2218 Weisser Park avenue; Clark Moulter, 704 Davis street; John A. Herby, 447 East Lewis street; Clyde Hamilton, 1115 Barr street, and Fred Rathert, 2029 Clinton street.

"Just carelessness," is the excuse given by most of the young men, when asked by Deputy City Clerk Leroy Swartz, what had become of their all important blue tickets.

"I left the card loose in my pocket. When I wanted it the ticket was gone," said Cooper, who visited the clerk's office Monday noon. "I will keep hunting, maybe I will find it."

Only one of the men had a fair excuse. He said he lost his attestation card in his activities in fighting the fire at the Horton Manufacturing company plant, on June 9. He has looked through the ruins of the burned mill room but thinks his eagle stamped certificate has been consumed.

Question Closely.

An order from Indianapolis received here Monday, reads: "Question very closely all young men who say they have lost their registration certificates. They may be dodging the draft. Find out by asking for numbers, places of registration, etc., whether or not they are telling the truth."

The message from the adjutant general states that many cases of lost registration cards are coming to his attention. A part of the cases are frauds, it is said.

Young men are again warned to guard their blue tickets which read: "To whom it may concern, Greeting," and other things which are safeguards against embarrassment.

Work of duplicating the registration reports has been completed. Copies of the cards are to be sent to the adjutant general on Monday afternoon.

MADE WHOLESALE RAID ON WHEELS

Sneak Thieves made a wholesale raid on bicycles, left at downtown street curbings, Saturday night. Seven wheels were stolen during the evening. A part of the number were recovered later, in other parts of the city.

The bicycle belonging to Lester Nelson, 1110 East Pontiac street, was taken from in front of the Grand theater. Police Clerk O'Connor found the wheel in his back yard Sunday morning. The seat, chain and wheels had been removed.

Other bicycles still missing, since Saturday night, and which are being sought by police belonged to George Stock, 725 Archer street; Morris Gaskin, 314 Suttenfield, and Ben Faulk, of the Morris Meyer Clothing company.

WEEK END CABLES TO SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

J. P. Freeman, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, announces that special arrangements have been made whereby the Western Union company will send week-end cables and cable letters of a social character to the soldiers, sailors and nurses of the American forces in England and France. The rate from the Fort Wayne office will be seven cents per word.

TO ASK ITALY FOR MURDERER

Special Case to Be Made Respecting Supposed Slayer of Girl.

POLICE WILL BE GIVEN A PROBING

Fail to Find Body of Ruth Cruger, Where Family Lawyer Found It.

New York, June 18.—Evidence against Alfredo Cocchi, proprietor of the bicycle repair shop in the basement of which the body of Ruth Cruger, the 18-year-old Wadleigh high school student was found on Saturday, was ready for presentation to the grand jury.

It was announced that District Attorney Swan planned to go to Washington to make a personal appeal to President Wilson that a special request be made of the Italian government for the surrender of Cocchi, who fled to Italy soon after Ruth Cruger disappeared, four months ago.

As a war ally of this country Italy is expected to waive its policy of refusing to surrender persons charged with murder except on the stipulation that the death penalty would not be imposed.

As material witnesses in the case the authorities today continued to hold, under heavy bail, Mrs. Mary Cocchi, wife of Alfred Cocchi; Victor Brady, a chauffeur, and Joseph Palumbo, a clerk. Both Brady and Kalumbo, the police assert, are friends of Cocchi's.

The failure of the police to investigate adequately the basement where laborers employed by Mrs. Grace Humiston, lawyer for the Cruger family, found the girl's body, also may come before the grand jury for investigation, according to announcements by assistants to the district attorney.

ROTARIANS IN CONVENTION.

Atlanta, Ga., June 18.—Delegates to the eighth annual convention of the International Association of Rotary clubs, were formally welcomed to Atlanta at the opening session of the five days meeting. Hundreds of visitors heard the address of welcome by Louis D. Hicks, president of the Atlanta Rotary club. Arch Klumph, of Cleveland, international president, presided.

MACHINE HITS A POST.

Kokomo, Ind., June 18.—Ray Murphy, of Galveston, aged 25, was injured Sunday evening seven miles northwest of here when a speeding runabout struck a post on a curve and turned over. Murphy was pinned under the car until help came. He will live.

To Help Russia With Railroads

JOHN F. STEVENS.

John F. Stevens, leading railroad engineer and head of the American railroad commission to Russia, which is on its last lap to Petrograd, preceding the Root special mission by a few hours. The railroad commission will confer with Russian railroad officials concerning road conditions in that country and means of bettering the service. Mr. Stevens is eminently fitted to represent America and her genius in the councils to improve the lines in Russia. His words will have great weight as he is looked upon as a leading authority on railroad operation. He is an engineer of great experience, having served on many of the country's biggest railroads in the capacities of president, director and engineer. He has also served as chief engineer on the Panama canal.—Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

INITIAL FLIGHT WAS STOPPED BY BICYCLE

Aeroplane of Peter Solt Temporarily Disabled by Collision.

Hard luck camped on the trial of Peter O. Solt Sunday afternoon as he attempted to make his first flight in the Curtiss biplane which he has built. The initial performance of the bird was slated to be staged at the golf grounds some time between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon and a large crowd assembled to see Fort Wayne's second birdboy get his start.

The weather was all right and at schedule time the aviator strapped himself into the seat for the flight. The motor was started and the "bird" started to skim over the ground. This time it headed for the railroad tracks which run along north of the grounds. The machine was brought back and made ready for another attempt.

This time the crowd gathered around closely and when the motor was started it was impossible to start at full speed because of the many people in front. Finally after they had scattered the throttle was advanced and the 'plane started to leave the ground when there was a crash and a sound of splintering wood. Some boy had left a bicycle standing in a rut in the path of the biplane and as Solt started to leave the ground a handle bar caught in one of the wheels, was thrown back against the propeller and taken around at such a rate that it cut off one of the shafts which holds the rudder and the elevating plane.

If the machine is repaired by next Sunday a flight will be made then, according to Solt, but it is probable that the repairs will not be completed until Sunday, July 1. After the accident, a collection was taken up by those present to assist Solt in paying for the damages to his 'plane and for this the aviator wishes to express his gratitude.

RURAL LADS PAY FOR UNSOPHISTICATION

Oliver Ties His Nag to Apple Tree and Walks Right Into Trap.

The ways of the city still baffle Jake Lakser and Oliver Bollman, two rural bred lads who were caught in a police raid, Saturday night.

Oliver lives nine miles from town. He "drove in" for the buggy ride, Saturday evening. He asked two Battery D boys where he could get a girl. The soldier lads directed him to the southwest corner of Harrison and Fifth streets. Oliver drove up the rear lane and tied his horse to an apple tree. He went in the house to ask the two girls, he found there, to take a buggy ride.

About the same time, Jake Lakser put his horse in a feed barn on Harrison street. He was told that he could purchase some fine Belgian hares cheap from Vern Morrison, who owns the house at the corner of Fifth and Harrison streets. Jake started to make inquiries. He was told to enter the house. He found Oliver and the two girls playing cards, he told. He joined the game. Soon police kicked in the back door.

Elmo Bell and Esther Surnight, two young girls, companions of the farmer youths, were taken in the raid, which was staged before 10 o'clock. Police testified on Monday morning in city court, that the house has been frequented by the Battery D. men for some time. Other men have gone there, neighbors have complained to the police.

Police were in hiding when a young man tripped lightly up to the rear door of the house, Saturday evening, officers said. The youth rapped four times on the door. The police then approached the house. The young man fled. The officers stated that several men came near the place when the girls and youths were being removed from the house.

The quartet of young people pleaded "not guilty" to a disorderly conduct charge in city court. They were convicted, however, and fined $25 and costs each. The girls went to jail. The lads said they would arrange to pay the fines of their companions. The girls were promised a prison sentence on their next conviction.

MOTOR RESERVE TO CONTAIN FIVE UNITS

Lists Are Closed for Present With More Than 150 Members.

Registration for the Motor Reserve corps closed for the present at the Commercial club Saturday night, when the committee that is passing on the applicants, held its final session. The list at present contains about 150 names, and it is assured that the new organization will be composed of five units.

As soon as possible, a meeting of all the members of the reserve will be held for the purpose of organization, and separation of the different vehicles into divisions. A truck unit is to be the first organized, and those wishing to offer machines for this branch of the service should communicate with Dan Beers, chairman of the motor club committee, or J. Kuhns, chairman of the Commercial club committee.

Red Cross Campaign to Be Ushered in With Banquet at Anthony.

PROF. B. G. NELSON IS CHIEF SPEAKER

Noon-day Luncheons for City Teams Every Day at Elks' Temple.

E. C. Miller,

Fort Wayne, Ind.,

Professor Bertram G. Nelson, University of Chicago, one of the most effective speakers in this city and tremendously effective in Red Cross, will arrive over Pennsylvania road on train leaving Chicago ten thirty Monday morning. Will go to Anthony hotel and await your arrival. Nelson will be powerful aid if you will permit him to talk to your people; yours from arrival until after meeting for the largest service he can render Fort Wayne.

HARRY A. WHEELER.

All is in readiness for the opening of the Red Cross campaign tonight, when a booster banquet will be held at the Anthony hotel. The banquet will begin promptly at 6 o'clock with Judge J. W. Eggeman as toastmaster. Speeches and music will contribute the program and an outburst of enthusiasm is in anticipation. Professor Bertram G. Nelson, of the University of Chicago, an orator of acknowledged ability, will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Meetings of the various city teams will be held late this afternoon. These teams will meet each noon at the Elks' temple where luncheon will be served by Red Cross girls. Music will be provided at each of these luncheons under the direction of Frank Stouder, who has been made chairman of the music committee.

More Men Needed.

Chairman William C. Schwier announced today that he must have fifty-four additional men for the county organization. There are six townships yet unorganized and the men for these teams are to be selected from the following organizations: Patriotic Defense, Retail Merchants, Real Estate exchange, One Hundred Per Cent and Electro-Technic clubs. Mr. Schwier desires volunteers from any source. What he wants is men who are willing to work for the success of the cause.

Bryson Hayes will have charge of Jackson township. Township organizations completed are as follows: Scipio, captain, E. G. Hoffman; Springfield, captain, George W. Gillie, and Milan, captain, Henry A. Wetzel, University club; Cedar Creek, William A. Tonkel, captain; Perry, Will Johnson, captain, Rotary club; Eel River, D. G. McComb, captain; Lake, William Johnston, captain, Quest club; Washington township, Sam Kelker, captain; St. Joseph, Christ Vonderau, captain, Kiwanis club; Adams, William Eggeman, captain; Marion, A. W. Lepper, captain, Bowser Efficiency club; Madison, D. C. Stout, captain; Monroe, Dr. J. F. McArdle, captain, and Maumee, W. F. Ranke, captain.

All persons identified with the movement are very sanguine over the prospects of Allen county raising her proportion of the Red Cross war fund. Hon. Samuel M. Foster, a member of the executive committee, in speaking of the movement said today:

"If each individual American now contributes his 'bit', there can be no failure. America will, we feel sure, in this, again demonstrate her ability to handle a big task in a big way. That we may be able to perform this great task, we shall appeal to the generosity and for the hearty co-operation of the whole American people.

"Are the people of this country going to be content with a Red Cross organization which will take care of only our own army here and abroad? Is that our mission? I think it does not end there, rather, are we going to stamp the rest of the work with patriotism and appreciation on the part of one hundred and four million people? It remains for each and all of us to so imbue the rest of the people in our various and respective localities that we will respond in a way which will electrify the world."

Enthusiasm at Monroeville.

Postmaster A. S. Robinson, of Monroeville, was in the city today and reported great enthusiasm in favor of Red Cross at that place. Monroeville has been organized as follows: A. S. Robinson, chairman; C. L. Myers, D. E. Kauffman, H. O. White and V. V. Mitchell.

William Eggeman, captain of Adams township for the Red Cross campaign in the county, stated that Monday morning he received a call from Michael Sherdon, a resident of this township, asking that he be allowed to head the list with a subscription of twenty dollars.

Many New Members.

Increases in membership of the Fort Wayne chapter of the Red Cross continue to come in voluntarily every day. On Saturday the town of Ligonier reported an increase of 288 new members and about eighty were also received from this city. Lagrange sent in a list of twenty-five Monday morning. The town of Lagrange has been keeping up a splendid membership record, sending in some new members nearly every day.

Arrangements will probably be made so that a demonstration of the use of the new auto ambulance may be had at the headquarters on East Berry street before it is sent away to the war department. The new ambulance is constructed to carry four passengers.

Chiefs Drop Both Ends of a Double Bill at Evansville

KNOLL USES REGULAR LINEUP FOR KILLING

Higbee and Peterson Are Ineffective Against the Downstaters.

Evansville, Ind., June 18.—Failing to do the hospitable thing, Knoll & Co. played havoc with the Fort Wayne Chiefs yesterday afternoon, winning two games out of a double-ehader. The first one, in which Mark Higbee worked against Turner, ended 4 to 0, while the second was lost to Pitcher Peterson, of Fort Wayne, 7 to 1.

Turner was all to the good in the opener and he held the visitors to four hits which were scattered all the way through the nine innings. Winchell also held the Chiefs to four hits, although one run was counted. Manager Vandagrift was high man when it came to boots, three being chalked up behind his name.

The first game was over before it was well started. In the first inning Kibble opened with a single and went to second on Matthews' sacrifice. Hauger walked and both scored on Daubert's double. In the third Kibble registered a circuit blow with none on. The fourth frame saw the last of the scoring. Grefe hit and Boezle walked. Grefe was forced at third but after Altermatt's single had filled the bags, Boezle scored on a sacrifice fly.

The Chiefs were dangerous just once during the game. With tw oout the bases were filled. Smith, the next man up, however, grounded out and the stuff was off.

The second game was shameful, the Evas copping with ease that was sickening. The visiting defense was lifeless and the hitting was worse still, so that by the end of the seventh they were about ready to call it off.

CENTRAL LEAGUE.

Richmond, Ind., June 18.—South Bend and Richmond went halvers on a double bill yesttrday, the Belders taking No. 1 4 to 2, while the locals came strong in the second, copping 7 to 2. Rapp was the hitting wonder of the day.

Dayton, O., June 18.—Dayton won the first of two games yesterday, winning from Grand Rapids 5 to 0. The second contest, however, was landed by the Black Sox, who defeated the Vets 9 to 2.

* * *

Springfield, O., June 18.—Muskegon was far from right here yesterday, being able to cop only two games from Dayton out of a double-header. The scores were 7 to 6 and 7 to 5. Paschall put the first game on ice with a circuit smash when the bases were filled.

THIRD BASEMEN NOT BORN—HAVE TO MAKE 'EM.

(By Paul Purman).

Third basemen are made, not born.

It's the only position on the ball field where natural ability for the job is not the primary asset.

Most third basemen will agree to this and their judgments will be backed up by managers who have to figure out where they are going to get men to fill in at the hot corner.

To back up the theory it is of interest to know that of sixteen third basemen in the two major leagues only two broke into the game as third sackers. The rest were detoured to the corner after seasoning at second or short.

Frank Baker and J. Carlisle (Red) Smith, of the Braves, are the only undiluted third basemen in the two leagues.

The natural question is—why?

So I inquired around among league managers and find that a third baseman is made, not born, and a good brainy shortstop is the best thing to make him of.

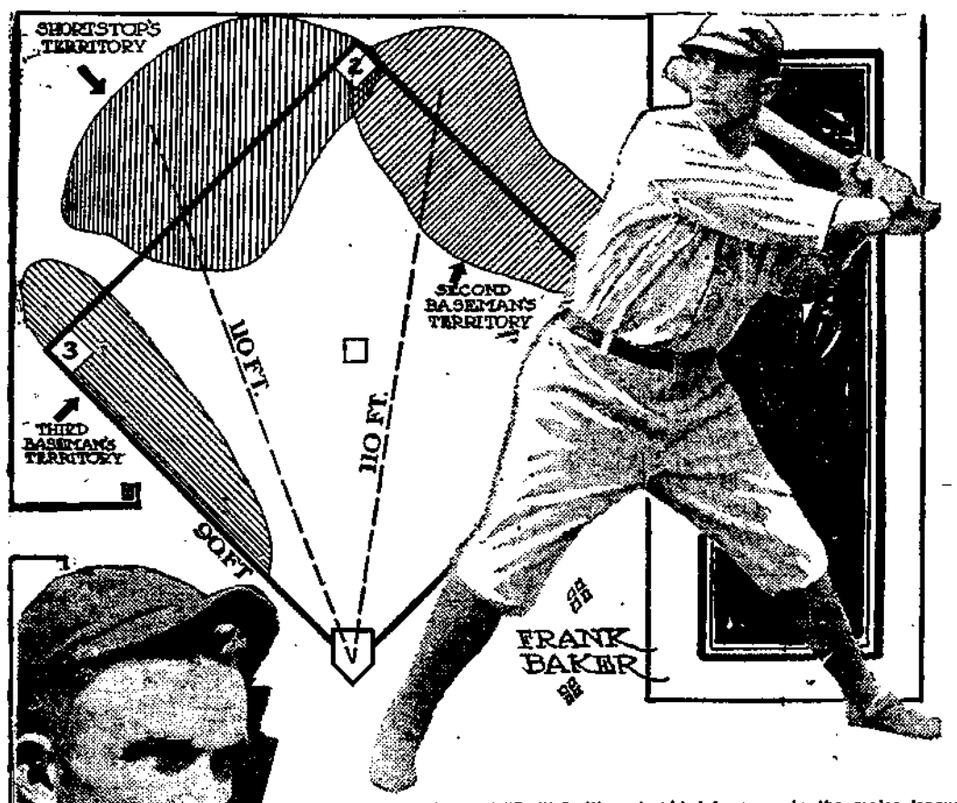
"There's not a good shortstop in the league that wouldn't make a good third baseman," comments Hughie Jennings, who made a cracking good corner man out of Oscar Vitt, a second baseman. "But there are plenty of third basemen who wouldn't make good shortstops. The third baseman must have a good throwing arm and must be a quick thinker but he doesn't have to be a wonder on covering ground, while a shortstop who can't cover half the diamond is better off back in the bushes."

Fielder Jones has practically the same idea.

"Shortstops and second basemen have to cover a lot of ground," said Jones, "third basemen don't. For that reason a man who has all requisities of a shortstop or second baseman except ability to cover territory that might easily make a good third baseman. He must be able to handle everything that comes down his way and field bunts well. He must also have excellent judgment in finding out what the batter is likely to do."

Summed up the situation is about this: A third baseman must be able to handle the hardest kind of ground balls. They come to him harder than to the shortstop or second baseman for he gets them from 60 to 90 feet from the batter while the keystone combination rarely gets ground balls as close af 90 feet and often much further away after they have lost part of their velocity.

To make up for this, however, the shortstop must handle three chances to the third sacker's two and the second baseman eight to the third baseman's five. Major league records for five years show this proportion.



Frank Baker and "Red" Smith, only third basemen in the major leagues who broke in as third sackers. Diagrams shows territory which infielders have to cover, indicating that shortstops must handle three chances to third baseman's two and second baseman eight chances to third baseman's five. Diagram also shows why ball usually is harder hit to third baseman as he must get it from 60 to 90 feet from the plate while the other infielders rarely come as close af 90 feet and usually play about 110 feet from the batter. The ground ball, of course, constantly loses velocity.

The third baseman must have an accurate and speedy throwing arm to make the long throws to first 127 feet away.

The third baseman must use almost infallible judgement in fielding his position in case of a bunt for he can easily be tricked by a batter unless he is up to his job every minute.

HOW THIRD BASEMEN STARTED.

Terry Turner started at first and shifted to short before going to third.

Buck Weaver had nine years at short before going to third.

Eddie Foster played short for six years.

Mike Mowory played first, second and third.

Oscar Vitt was an outfielder and second baseman.

Heine Groh served nine years at short and second.

Bates started as a second baseman.

Stock, McCarthy, Maisel, Austin and F. Smith were originally shortstops.

Heine Zimmerman was a second baseman for two years before going to third.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

First Sunday Game.

New York, June 18.—St. Louis checked the winning streak of the New York Yankees here yesterday 2 to 1 in the first major league championship game ever played in Manhattan borough on a Sunday.

The game was a benefit affair, the entire proceeds going to the First Reserve engineer regiment to be used for company funds and for persons dependent upon the young soldiers. A crowd of 30,000, one of the greatest throngs that ever saw the local Americans play, attended.

The game was preceded by a patriotic band concert, a parade of the First Reserve engineer regiment, which attended the game in a body, and rills by the contesting ball players. Many prominent officers of both branches of the service, including Major General Franklin Bell, commander of the department of the east, and Rear Admiral Usher, of the navy, were present.

The contest developed into a tight pitchers' battle between Ray Caldwell, the Yankee veteran, and Al Sothoron, the young pitching find of the St. Louis Browns.

Errors decided the games in the fourth. Pratt made two bases on Peckinpaugh's fumble and Baker made a high throw of Johnson's sacrifice bunt. Pratt was out at the plate on Sothoron's grounder to Maisel but Shotton's single drove in Johnson and Sothoron scored on Austin's sacrifice fly.

New York scored in the seventh. Miller was safe on a muff by Marsans and scored on singles by Peckinpaugh and Walters. Score: R.H.E.

Reach Lima Colonials for Fifteen Runs While the Buckeyes Get Two.

It was no job at all for the Lincoln Lifers to slaughter the Lima Colonials, a colored aggregation from the Buckeye state, at League park yesterday. The final score was 15 to 2, and the game for the Insurance men consisted principally of stepping up, taking a wallop at the pill and starting on a run around the bags. Evory man but one hit and Devilbiss lead with three out of five times at bat.

Just before the game started the Colonials decided to use Staples, a native of Mississippi, instead of Haitthcock, in the box. Staples soon was a solved boy and had to make room for Haithcock. Then it was too late, however, and even the star slabman couldn't stop the Insurance Men.

Oestermeyer pitched a good game, holding the visitors to four hits. The fact that the score was uneven didn't bother the crowd, which witnessed the game, for everybody seemed to enjoy it. There was a laugh in every play. Score:

SHOP LEAGUE CLUBS ALL IN FIRST PLACE

Four Clubs Are Tied at .600 and Hard Fight Is Expected.

All four clubs in the Shop league are tied for first place. This comes as a result of the cut in the circuit, which left two outfits out. Wins by the Pennsylvania and Turner clubs Saturday did the rest. Next week the Turners play Bowsers and Electricians meet the Railroaders.

Saturday's games, which were played at League park, were both high-class performances. In the opener the Pennsy club defeated Bowsers, 3 to 1. Good hurling featured the play of both clubs, Weberus allowing only five hits, while Dietrich heeld the Railroaders to four.

Lefty Grimes pitched a good game for the Turners, who won from the General Electrics, 4 to 0. More hits were made by the losers than the winners registered, but Grimes kept them scattered and always kept out of dangr. Scores:

Sport pessimists will do well to read Garry Herrmann's crisp, logical statement on the immediate future of the game in the July issue of the Baseball Magazine. The chief executive of baseball's supreme court does not fear to meet the outlook with a confident front:—

Predicting a gloomy future for baseball seems to be a popular pastime. Several extremists have not hesitated to prophesize that the sport would cease entirely next season. Others less pessimistic have foreseen all sorts of calamities which are about to assail the grand old game, varying from a destructive draft of players to a ruinous loss of patronage.

It is obviously no part of my official duty as chairman of the national commission to cry "peace where there is no peace" or to minimize the actual difficulties which do confront baseball. But frankly, I can see no justification for the views of the alarmists who see breakers ahead, nor do I for a moment believe that baseball will or should cease to be a permanent feature of American life.

When a nation declares war it is natural for many people to give way to hysteria. It is also natural to class most industries other than the manufacturing of shrapnel and the growing of grain and potatoes as unnecessary activities and, to that exent, luxuries. It is true that in time of war all industries must be subordinated to the supreme industry of successful warfare. But it should be obvious to sober second sight that the safest way to conduct war successfully in these days of huge armaments and tremendous appropriations is to maintain all legitimate business upon a plane as nearly normal as possible.

Organized baseball, it must be remembered, is not only a sport, it is gigantic industry involving the investment of millions of dollars and giving employment directly and indirectly to many thousands of men. As a mere industry it is entitled to the same consideration as other industries of like dimensions, for the revenue derived soely from business is a vital concern of any nation in time of war.

But, unlike most other industries, baseball is peculiarly dear to the American people. The business and working classes who remain at their vocations in time of war even more than in normal times, the mental relaxation which baseball furnishes. An individual cannot perform his day's work when laboring under a continual mental depression. Some relaxation, amusement if you will, is a necessity for all of us. Baseball, I believe, furnishes such relaxation in the highest possible form.

For there is nothing frivolous, nothing discordant, nothing out of harmony with the serious public situation, in a game like baseball. It tends to develop athletic ability and encourage love for athletic prowess which are the foundations of a strong military organization.

In the big concentration camps which are to be established the government rightly realizes that something is needed to occupy the minds of the soldiers when they are not busy at drill, and plans to encourage the playing of baseball games, and the organization of baseball teams. The English government has also acknowledged the usefulness of baseball under such conditions and has established and is maintaining baseball on a scale larger than ever as a mere adjunct to soldier life.

In short, baseball is essentially a war game and its activities, far from being curtailed, should rather be stimulated by the present war.

NEW MEMBER IS HIGH IN QUALIFYING ROUND

Ed Bond Lands at Top of Heap With Low Score of Eighty for Eighteen.

Ed Bond, a new member of the Fort Wayne Country club, landed high in the field of qualifiers for the spring championship and directors' tourneys, Saturday. Bond made the best score of the thirty-two who landed the right to proceed, eighty for the eighteen holes. Going out he finished with thirty-eight, while the second nine holes were made in forty-two.

The schedule for the second rounds to be played next Sturday is as follows:

Suring championship — Ed Bond (80) vs. U. L. Alkire (96); J. M. Barrett (99) vs. Hal Y. Rehrer (92); H. W. Lang (100) vs. A. S. Bond (92); John Morris (99) vs. F. H. McCullich (92); C. H. Pidgeon (92) vs. M. C. MacDougal (99); Fred J. Thieme, (99) vs. J. C. Hoffman, (92); J. G. Millen (100) vs. F. L. Smock (95); C. W. Lang (97) vs. E. G. Hoffman (91.)

Directors' tournament—A. E. Smith (100) vs. B. P. Mossman (103); Harry Wallace (100) vs. R. M. Feustel (104); H. A. Perfect (100) vs. Jules Simon (104); W. J. Vesey, jr., (101) vs. S. S. Fisher (104); . M. Vesey (101) vs. W. A. Diffenderfer (104); H. J. Miller (102) vs. Guy Scott (105); K. K. Wheelock (102) vs. W. P. Breen (105); W. E. Doud (103) vs. J. I. Toy (105.)

SCHLOSSER'S OAK GROVE ICE CREAM

(By Jim Rice, Famous Coach of Columbia Crew, and Physical Adviser of The Sentinel).

High kicking is one of the finest kinds of all round exercise that I know of. If the army department should adopt any of the methods to get our soldiers into shape that have been found to benefit the men of the Canadian armies then it will certainly place kicking on the list.

This strenuous exercise brings into play nearly every msucle of the body. There is nothing much the matter with a person who can kick as high as his shoulder, using first one leg and then the other, say thirty times without getting out of breath. If you cannot reach the shoulder level get as near to it as you can.

Stand first with the heels together and with the hands on the hips. Keep the chest well out. Then kick, with alternate legs, as high as you can without bending your limbs at the knee.

Let your body be supple during these movements. Throw your whole heart into all your actions. Swing the arms spiritedly. The strong high kick tilts the body slightly back and gives most of the muscles so much to do that they soon grow good at it and shapely and powerful accordingly.

Every time the feet are raised in this way the same muscles are used as in walking and running. But in addition considerable strain is also put on the muscles of the back and of the neck.

In fact it is difficult to think of any set of muscles that is not put into healthy motion by high kicking.

June the Banner Month of the Season

Now is the time to make your purchases for hot weather. We are pushing summer merchandise your way and can care for your comfort whether you stay at home or go to some summer resort.

A Positive Clearance of Women's Suits and Coats At Little Prices

Scarce a vestige remains of the suit stock that opened the season. The procession has passed on. Among such genuine values and superior styles as we were showing there were few that lingered, but some still tarry, which have been marked for quick clearance. These, however, would not be worth talking about, quantity being so limited, were it not for the newcomers bought at a concession in price from makers who needed the money. These recent arrivals we shall sacrifice in connection with our own surplus stock, making a wonderful array of values.

Suits Half Price Coats $5 and $10

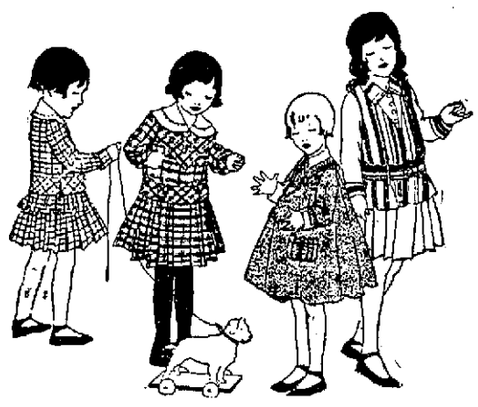
Summer Silks

An assortment wonderfully complete, fresh and beautiful. Dame Fashion declares women may wear silks all summer. In addition to the usual elaborate gowns for afternoon and evening, the latest call is for silk suits of the lighter, simpler silks that are as daintily cool as linen. We show many suitable designs, very stylish and pretty suits they make, too.

But there are silks here for every conceivable purpose, in every weave and coloring. And when you compare the prices and qualities, you'll cease to wonder why the silk interests of the town are centering here.



Summertime---Play Time

Healthy children enjoy rough out of door play and should be clothed in cool, comfortable, washable garments. Don't burden them with unseasonable clothing, when you can buy serviceable Gingham Dresses that will stand the tub for such reasonable prices.

CONCORDIA BOYS LEAVE FOR HOME

School Year Closes With Annual Commencement Exercises.

The majority of the students at Concordia college have departed for their homes in various parts of the country. The school year came to a close with the annual commencement exercises when twenty-two graduates were given their diplomas.

The graduation exercises were well attended and the program rendered was an enjoyable one. Rev. W. C. Meinzen delivered the baccalaureate sermon. Theodore Dorn delivered the valedictory and Rev. H. Grunau delivered the salutatory.

The Phi Delta quartet rendered several selections and the Concordia band furnished music for the occasion. The exercises closed with the audience singing "America."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

G. R. & I. BRAKEMAN HAS FOOT CRUSHED

C. C. Billman Falls When Trying to Board Moving Locomotive.

Chauncey C. Billman, a G. R. & I. brakeman residing at 1337 East Creighton avenue, met with an accident at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon which resulted in the amputation of his right foot. Brakeman Billman was a member of Conductor J. A. DeWald's crew, on the local freight from the north, and after it arrived in the eastyards, he cut the engine loose, threw the switch and then ran and made an effort to get on the engine as it was moving, to ride down to the round house. His foot slipped off the step and while he retained his hold on the grabiron, the foot dragged and was caught by the wheels, crushing it badly. He was immediately taken to St. Joseph hospital, where the member was amputated at the ankle. Engineer John Gallagher was at the throttle of the engine. Mr. Billman is twenty-eight years old and married.

TYPOS FOR UNION BOOKS.

Address State School Board in Interest of Union Products.

Typographical union, No. 76, has adopted and ordered sent to the members of the state school board and the teachers a resolution relative to the use of the products of organized labor in the schools of the state. The resolution reads as follows:

"Whereas, The Indiana state board of school commissioners has advertised for bids for three books to be used in the elementary schools of the state, namely, a book on agriculture, a book on domestic science and a book on industrial arts; and,

"Whereas, Every book now used in the graded schools of Indiana is the product of organized labor; and,

"Whereas, We believe such books should only be the product of shops paying a living wage, under sanitary and fair conditions; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we ask the Indiana state board of school commissioners to accept the bid of some union printing concern, as thereby we will be assured that the text books used by the school children of Indiana will continue to be the product of sanitary shops, paying a living wage and working short, health-giving hours.

Linemen's Union Presents Mr. Bennett With Elks' Charm.

Saturday night Arthur Bennett, organizer for the Linemen and the Electrical Workers, was presented with a handsome and costly Elks' charm by the local Linemen's union, No. 733. Mr. Bennett has accomplished a great deal in Fort Wayne for organized labor and the presentation of the charm by the linemen was in token of their appreciation of his labors and their regard for him. The charm bears a monogram formed by the letters I. B. E. W. L. U. 723. The meeting was well attended and three applicants were admitted to membership. It was also marked as the first gathering attended by A. C. Berger since recovering from his recent illness. The entertainment committee announced that they had arranged for an entertainment to be held on the Fourth.

NOT PROTESTING AGAINST TAX.

President Samuel Rea Says Pennsylvania Aims to Aid Government.

In a statement issued from Washington, today, Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, says of the hearings before the senate finance committee on the proposed revenue bill that the railroads are not protesting against any taxes. "We are in Washington inquiring what the proposed taxes are to be and to help so far as we can in making suggestions which will insure proper taxes for the government, and yet taxes that will allow the railroads and every other business not only to exist, but to extend to the senate and house of representatives full sympathy of the railroads in trying to frame a measure, which is one of the most arduous tasks they have on hand."

New Corn Remover in Big Demand, Say Druggists

Since the virtues of Ice-Mint as a corn remover became known in this country, druggists have been having an extraordinary demand for this product and it is predicted that this summer women will wear smaller and prettier shoes than ever.

The fact that this new discovery which is made from a Japanese product will actually remove corns—roots and all—and without the slightest pain or soreness, is of course, mainly responsible for its large and increasing sale.

You apply just a little on a tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it may be lifted out with the fingers—root and all.

Ice-Mint is a clean, creamy, snow-white non-poisonous substance and will never inflame or irritate the most tender skin.

Cutting or paring corns often produces blood poisoning, and people are warned to stop it.

Just ask in any drug store for a small jar of Ice-Mint, which will cost little, yet is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callous. You'll like it immensely.—Advertisement.

WILL DROP THE NOON TRAIN.

The new G. R. & I. time card is in the hands of the printer and will be issued tomorrow, to become effective next Sunday. It will not contain the "pond lily" nor northbound train No. 9, and will not mention any in their place. The new time card will also show the dropping out of southbound train No. 4, due here at 1:05 a. m., but instead announces that No. 6, due here at 11:30 and which has not been running south, will continue on to Richmond. The "pond lily" and No. 9 are favorite trains with cottagers and fishermen going to the lake and they have filed a protest against the new schedule, but it will not be heeded.

GETS NEWS OF BROTHER'S DEATH.

William Hassert, watchman at the Fairfield entrance to the General Electric works, was shocked Saturday by receiving a letter announcing the death of his half-brother in Chicago. The deceased was Charles F. Laning, a carpenter, and the funeral was held last Friday. The letter was mailed early in the week, but was delayed somewhere and did not reach Mr. Hassert in time for him to go to the funeral. The letter was brief and did not say whether death was due to natural cause or the result of an accident.

MOVING TO NEW QUARTERS.

William H. Fell, who has been sick three or four days, was able today to look after the transfer of his office headquarters from the warehouse building of the General Electric works, where he served as assistant to Warehouse Supt. R. O. Orff for some time, to the new building, No. 19, on the south side of Wall street, where he becomes general storekeeper. This is a nice promotion for Mr. Fell.

G. E. FARM IS PROSPERING.

The General Electric farm on the banks of the St. Mary's promises a magnificent crop. Potatoes and beans are the chief crops and they are doing well, each being eight to ten inches high. W. H. Fell, who was active in platting and distributing the lots among the boys, continues to take a big interest in the "farm," advising and encouraging the tenants as much as possible.

MOVING TO MOBERLY.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Owens are today packing up their household effects to ship to Moberly, where they will reside in the future. It will be remembered that Mr. Owens was transferred to that city June 1 in the capacity of division storekeeper for the Wabash. He held a similar position here and was succeeded by D. E. Guy.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Meager news of the killing of two men by the Pennsylvania Broadway limited in Crestline Sunday night was received here this morning. They were in an automobile and drove in front of the approaching train on the crossing. The names of the victims could not be learned here. Crestline is on the eastern division.

EAST ON SPECIAL BUSINESS.

Tomorrow night L. E. Bittenger, equipment clerk of the Pennsylvania motive power department, will go to Pittsburg to take up some special work in the office of the purchasing agent. Mr. Bittenger does not know how long he will be at Pittsburg.

GONE EAST ON BUSINESS.

Fred T. Huston, assistant motive power engineer of the Pennsylvania lines, has gone to Cleveland on business for the department.

W. J. NEIZER ON DUTY AGAIN.

W. J. Neizer, the Pennsylvania tinner, who has been sick, was able to resume his duties in the shops this morning. He worked only one day since the holidays.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

George M. Kessler, a Pennsylvania fireman, is sick and off duty.

L. A. Kobart is a new laborer in the Pennsylvania machine shop.

J. Laughlin, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, is taking a few days' lay off to visit friends in Lima and Pittsburg.

H. H. Boegell, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is taking a lay off to look after some business.

Blacksmith M. Feuchter is absent from his work in the Pennsy shops today on account of sickness.

S. H. Hayes, the Galena Oil company's representative, is calling upon patrons in the city today.

After a two or three days' absence on account of illness, E. P. Kahoe reported for work at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

J. Fraine, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, reported for work this morning. He had been off duty with an injured hand.

S. W. Knapp, of the Pennsylvania shops, is temporarily disabled. A grate bar fell upon his fingers Saturday, crushing the digit most painfully.

A. J. Attell, of the Pennsylvania lathe room, who was off duty last week on account of an injured eye, has reported for work.

F. Eastern, for two or three weeks a flue welder's helper at the Pennsylvania shops, resigned this morning to "go south," he said.

Division Storekeeper J. B. Fowler, of the Pennsylvania, has returned from Pittsburg, where he spent Sunday with relatives.

Boilermaker A. J. Hirshfelder, of the Pennsylvania, is off duty on account of an injured eye, the result of a piece of steel lodging in the optic.

Robert E. Gunther, who was sick two weeks, resumed his duties as rivet heater at the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning.

Machinist John Nolan resumed work at the Pennsylvania tool room this morning, after spending a couple days with relatives in Columbia City.

Michael Ehrman reported for work at the Pennsylvania tool room this morning, after a layoff on account of private business.

Machinist Otto Alter, of the Wabash shops, has recovered from an illness which kept him from work for two weeks.

J. H. Stewart resumed charge of the traveling crane in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning, after being ill two or three days.

J. T. Benz, of Cleveland, who had been spending a vacation with his parents, left for his home yesterday to resume his duties as traveling salesman for a manufacturing company.

Community Tea.

Arrangements for the Red Cross community tea to be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carter have been entirely changed and will be given in St. Peter's school hall, on Wednesday, from 2 to 8 o'clock.

As this is campaign week for Red Cross the ladies in charge wish a good showing, hence the change where they will have plenty of room to meet their friends. Mrs. W. S. Morris will give a talk on Red Cross work about 3 o'clock. There will be another speaker in the evening. The general public is invited.

Light refreshments will be served for which a nominal sum will be charged. Anyone wishing to give a donation, the same will be greatly appreciated.

AID THE RED CROSS.

Bishop Alerding Urges Catholics' Support to the Campaign.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Herman Joseph Alerding issued to all pastors of the district a letter which was made public in the Sunday morning masses and which requests all Catholics to take an interest in the work of the Red Cross society and to assist as much as possible in the campaign for $50,000 which is to be conducted in Allen county this week.

In their regular monthly meeting held Sunday afternoon, the Young Ladies' sodality of the Cathedral subscribed $50 to the cause. Before delivering his baccalaureate sermon at St. Patrick's church Sunday morning, Rev. Joseph F. Delaney spoke of the Red Cross in glowing terms.

Picnic for Orphans.

The ladies of the St. Vincent's sewing circle will give their annual picnic for the benefit of St. Vincent's Catholic Orphan asylum Thursday afternoon and evening in the grounds surrounding the orphanage. Supper will be served on the grounds and refreshments may be purchased in the afternoon and evening.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

James Steed came mighty near causing a panic on an Ohio Electric car bound for Lima Sunday morning, when he locked himself in a toilet and proceeded to announce in a loud tone of voice, "I did not kill that man." At New Haven the door was forced and Steed was taken over by Marshal Lester Gerardot, who found three knives on him. Steed had come from Lima on the first car Sunday morning and was going back on the car which leaves here at 9:05 o'clock, when the attack of violence came upon him.

PROGRAM FOR OLD SETTLERS' MEETING

Big Time Is Expected in Auburn on Thursday, June 21.

Special to The Sentinel.

Auburn, Ind., June 18.—The Old Settlers' meeting will be held in this city Thursday, June 21. The meeting will be held at the Eckhart park and the program will begin at 9:30. Mayor McClellan will give the address of welcome and the response will be given by Mayor J. A. Clevenger, of Garrett. The remainder of the morning session will be given over to the business of the association. From 1 to 1:30 a band concert will be given. Music by a quartet; invocation by Rev. F. A. Hall. Phillip Noel, president of the association, will then give a brief address, which will be followed by the committee's report and election of officers. T. C. Ford, biographer of the association, will read his report; Vice President Isaac Speer, short address; Judge Dan Link will then address the old settlers. After short talks by many of the old settlers present the crowd will sing America.

Auburn Short Notes.

Wednesday, June 20, will be a big day in this city, when 196 eighth grade graduates will gather in this city to hold their commencement exercises. There will be a morning and afternoon meeting, to be held in the Court theater. The graduates have sent out 2,500 invitations and a crowd is expected. County superintendent will present the diplomas to the large class of graduates.

F. A. Pribbenow has resigned as physical director of the Auburn Y. M. C. A. and Howard Bundy, of this city, has been chosen as his successor. Howard will leave in a few days for Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, where he will take special training to fit himself for his new position.

A big Red Cross rally was held in the assembly room of the court house Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the final arrangements for the membership campaign completed.

B. W. Beidler, of this city, has been selected to take the place of N. T. Jackman, of Waterloo, as a member of the DeKalb county board of review. The change was made owing to the resignation of Mr. Jackman.

REV. FOLSOM TALKS TO GARRETT CITIZENS

Delivers Address in Interest of Red Cross Campaign Saturday.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., June 18.—The Red meeting held at the Baptist church Saturday evening was well attended and those who missed hearing Rev. A. J. Folsom, of Fort Wayne, who delivered the address, surely missed a treat and should he return here he would be greeted by a packed house. His lecture has fully aroused the people to the great importance of the Red Cross. The Garrett chapter already has a membership of 250 and has nearly $300 in cash. A big meeting will be held here again Monday evening.

THE MARKETS

FINE WEATHER BRINGS LIGHT RECEIPTS HERE

Wheat Remains Steady After Decrease Made Here Saturday.

The fine weather of Monday spelled a lightening of receipts on local markets. The street mart was nearly deserted of producers, while dealers reported that they had nothing in at all. This was to be expected as farmers still have lots of work to do in connection with cultivation and must take advantage of every good day as it comes.

Wheat remained steady in its new position taken Saturday, at $2.72@2.74 per bushels. Receipts were light in this department Monday but there are no indications of the grain going back to its old stand at the present. The city weighmaster had a very lonesome morning, receiving and weighing only eleven loads. Nine of these were hay, which sold at $16.00@18.00, the prices which have predominated for some time. Two loads of oats brought 10c per bushel.

WORLD SHIPMENTS EASE WHEAT MARKET

Prices Open Down and After Rally, Sag Again—Corn Shows Strength.

Chicago, June 18.—Large world shipments tended today to ease down the wheat market. Opening prices which ranged from ½c to 2½c lower, with July at $2.19 and September at $1.95, were followed by a slight rally and then a fresh setback.

Prices closed heavy, 10⅜c to 10½c lower, with July at $2.11⅛ and September at $1.95.

Favorable weather had early transient bearish effect on corn. After opening unchanged to 2c lower, prices rose all around to well above Saturday's finish.

The market closed weak at 1c to 2⅛c ne tdecline.

Oats were governed by the action of corn.

Firmness of the hog market upheld provisions.

Brook View Lots Nearly All Selected

Only seventeen lots which have not yet been reserved.

This was the word given out this morning by the Wildwood Companies in response to an inquiry concerning Brook View. Because the people simply would not wait for the sale which was to open on Wednesday, they were given permission to make reservations or selections of lots in advance of the opening, and so eager has the public been to choose from the various lots in this beautiful new subdivision that only seventeen had not been reserved this morning. Without doubt these will all have been taken by Wednesday, consequently those who desire to purchase from the lots offered for sale will have to make an immediate selection.

STOCK MARKET HAS SOME MILD SHIVERS

Apprehension as to Money Rate Causes Leads to Irregularity.

New York, June 18.—Equipments and specialties, notably the prominent steel issues, were the features of today's early trading. United States Steel lost a large fraction with Lackawanna Steel, while Bethlehem Steel new stock and Republic Iron yielded between one and two points. Other war supply shares, such as Industrial Alcohol, Texas company, Woolen and Oils were lower. Marine preferred, Airbrake, the minor motors and Savage Arms featured the stronger stocks. Norfolk and Western and Delaware and Hudson represented the rails at gains of one to two and one-half points.

The market moved aimlessly during the morning, some apprehension being shown respecting money rates. Call loans opened at 6 per cent, duplicating the high rate of the year. Motors and other speculative issues formed more than a proportionate share of the trading mostly at higher levels, while standard stocks continued heavy or irregular. U. S. Steel fell under its minimum of the opening and related issues registered extreme recessions of one to two points. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies broke 2¾, and Metals, Alcohol, Central Leather, American Woolen, Oils and Sugars developed increased heaviness.

Bonds were steady with sales of odd lots of the liberty issue at fractional premiums.

CALLED SIX MORE JURORS

Lawyers Could Not Choose Jury Out of 25 Special Veniremen.

KOEHLER CASE ON IN CIRCUIT COURT

Court Room Is Packed With Men and Women to Hear the Evidence.

Counsel for the defense and the prosecution were unable to agree on twelve men for the jury in the Sammy Koehler case in circuit court out of twenty-four veniremen chosen by the jury commissioners last Saturday.

At 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Judge William Eichhorn, of Bluffton, who has been named special judge, dismissed the jury for a fifteen-minute recess while the sheriff was busy rounding up six more men who had been drawn by the jury commissioners. Eleven men had been decided upon at this time. Twelve men were dismissed up to this time while the thirteenth man who was chosen it was found had left the county a year ago and was now residing in Detroit.

The eleven men who had thus far been chosen were all farmers with the exception of one who was a salesman by occupation and resided in New Haven.

The circuit court room was filled to overflowing with men and women who came early Monday morning for the beginning of the trial. The majority of the spectators were women.

Sammy Koehler and Imogene Myers, the defendant and prosecuting witness, respectively, were in the court room the entire day. Officials who have not seen Imogene since she was spirited away from Woodburn, persist in telling of the changed appearance of the pretty little girl. Her hair, which was formerly a jet black, is now a rich light brown. The little girl was very much composed Monday.

The majority of the veniremen who were excused stated that they had formed an opinion from accounts of the case which they had read in the Fort Wayne newspapers.

Judge S. M. Hench, William Ryan and Louis Dunton are counsel for the defense, while the state is represented by Prosecuting Attorney Frank Emrick and his assistants, John Huffman and Byron Hayes.

Charge Non-Support.

Charging that her husband has failed to properly support her and her two children for the past five years, Pauline Kennedy has begun action for divorce against Phillip, to whom she was married Feb. 13, 1899. She complains of the defendant and states that he uses intoxicating liquors to excess. The plaintiff also wants the custody of the children.

Marriage Licenses.

Oliver J. Muldoon, farmer, to Margaret Barva.

Francis L. Adamski, well driller, to Viola K. Bowers.

William Smith, jr., carpenter, to Elizabeth V. McConnell.

John A. Ferguson, laborer, to Harriet J. Ferguson.

Charles W. Knerr, conductor, to Frances Bray.

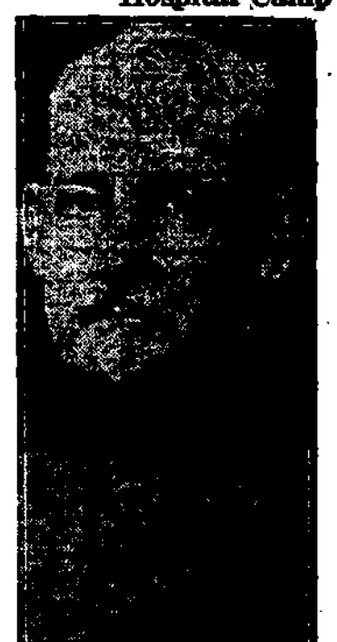
SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to reports that he had resigned the leadership of the liberal party at a caucus, said: "It is not true. My resignation was not discussed in the caucus." The Ottawa Citizen, in a late edition, says: "Sir Wilfrid's denial of the definite announcement of his resignation is not taken to conflict with the widespread rumor the commons generally accepted as true, although liberal members are silent as to what occurred, except to say that in the party caucus he intimated his desire to be relieved of the leadership if the party was not satisfied with his stand on the coalition proposals. It is said that he will retain his seat in the commons and be leader for Quebec, but another leader for the liberal party as a whole will have to be sought. The Hon. E. P. Graham, temporarily, at least, is likely to be the man." (Copyright Underwood & Underwood.)

In Charge of a Hospital Camp



LIEUT. J. C. LOCKWOOD.

Lieut. John C. Lockwood, one of the chief medical officers. It is expected that over 2,000 men will be in training at the camp within a short while. —(Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.)

Yes—There Are Many People in This Town Who Make Money Keeping Boarders!

"A boarding house that is run on "business principle" will always prove to be a profitable business—and especially suitable for women who have some business ability.

But a woman who expects to make "keeping boarders PAY must be as good an advertiser, IN HER OWN WAY, as the most successful merchant in town."

JINGLE BELLS MAKE LATEST FLOWER TRAP

Mrs. George Cole Says Detecting Design Will Work for Onions.

"Tingle, ling, ling," sounds the musical warning of the latest detecting device which announces the approach of a posey thief.

Mrs. George Cole, 1814 South Anthony boulevard, is the inventress of the warning signal. She worked out the plan after several of her choice posies had been removed under cover of darkness.

Mrs. Cole does not intend to secure a patent on her simple, yet effective alarm scheme.

"Oh, yes, it would work just the same for onions and such," she told The Sentinel reporter. She does not know whether or not the principle of motion and vibration could be adapted for a submarine warning. She is not familiar with the submarine problem, she admits.

But she was sure that somebody was taking her flowers. Two geraniums had disappeared from the window box and a beautiful dark blue flower was gone, on Friday morning. Mrs. Cole thought up the scheme for her posey trap as she proceeded about her house work on Friday. She set more choice geranium plants in the flower box on Friday evening and prepared to spring her flower trap.

The plan was simple. A dark chord was tied to a geranium. The other end of the chord was tied to a string of sleigh bells, which were suspended from the ceiling at the foot of the stairs. Mrs. Cole took her station near the bells. She laid a revolver, loaded with blank cartridges at her side. She read a book.

"Jing-a-ling," softly tinkled the sleigh bells. Mrs. Cole sprang from her chair and ran to the window. A woman's form was fleeing into the night. Mrs. Cole had forgotten to pick up the revolver in her haste to reach the window.

The fleeing woman turned down the alley, near at hand. Next day Mrs. Cole tracked the posey taker by the geranium petals which had been detached in the speed of the flight, on the night before. Mrs. Cole says the tracks led to the back yard of Mrs. Max Krull, 1814 Lanternier avenue. She furthermore states that she recognized two sweet-eyed pansies and several geraniums in the flower bed, freshly made by Mrs. Krull.

Detective Sergeant Junk was notified of the theft. He brought Mrs. Krull in police court Monday morning. The detective said that the woman had told him she purchased the blooms on the market.

Mrs. Edward Emrich, 1624 Lanternier avenue, testified that she had also lost several flowers and believed they were now blooming in Mrs. Krull's garden. Mrs. Krull pleaded guilty to the petit larceny charge. She is the mother of two children. She is a Rumanian and was able to understand the court only through interpretations of her husband.

The case is continued indefinitely. Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Emrick will go to the Krull flower bed and regain their property.

CAMPAIGN STARTS AT COLUMBIA CITY

Whitley County Is Expected to Oonate $7,500 to Red Cross Fund.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Ind., June 18.—A meeting of the Red Cross society was held in the Commercial club rooms Saturday afternoon which was addressed by DeWitt McLallen, of the First National bank, Attorneys B. J. Bloom and D. V. Whitleather and a number of other speakers. No money was asked for at this meeting as the big drive will start Monday. Whitley county is now divided into eleven districts, with the exception of Troy and Etna townships, which have been combined, and Columbia township, which is divided into three districts. The territory outside of the incorporated city of Columbia City represents one territory, all of Columbia City south of Market street represents another territory and all of Columbia City north of Market street represents the third territory. The lieutenants appointed for each territory have selected ten coworkers and in all Whitley has about 150 men directly connected with the work of collecting the $7,500. Whitley's share of the Indiana assessment.

Columbia City Short Items.

William Entrikin, for eight years and one month in the employ of the Whitley County Telephone company, has resigned his position. For the past few years he was in charge of the switchboard.

The funeral of Levi Walker occurred Saturday morning from the Sheckler Baptist church in Thorncreek township. Burial in the Stough cemetery.

Enoch Blaisdel, aged 63 years, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sam Murray, of Washington township, Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock. He is survived by three sisters and two brothers. His wife passed away years ago. The funeral occurred Monday at 1 o'clock from the Washington Center U. B. church.

Viola Lucile, the two-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, of Smith township, died Saturday morning and was buried Saturday afternoon in the Blue River cemetery.

TO CONSERVE SHEEP SUPPLY.

Chicago, Ill., June 18.—Packers, breeders and others interested in the sheep industry started a movement today against the slaughter of ewe lambs and to provide for their purchase from ranchmen for distribution in the middle western states. Later it is said, there will be a meeting of sheepmen here and colonization interests to discuss plans for increasing the production of sheep.

CAPT. G. L. BYROADE CALLED TO NEW FIELD

Concordia College Military Instructor Is Summoned by War Department.

Receiving instructions Saturday evening with orders to report to Chicago Sunday morning, Capt. George L. Byroade, for three years military instructor at Concordia college, was assigned to his new post at once. The place to which he has been detailed has been censored, but it is somewhere "in the west."

CAPT. GEORGE L. BYROADE.

Captain Byroade had been expecting orders of this nature for several months, so that the instructions to report at the Central department at Chicago did not come unexpectedly.

The pleasant army man, as he was regarded by hundreds in Fort Wayne, is a recognized military authority as well as an expert on all lines of sports and took active part in coaching teams in various lines in sportdom. As coach of the Friar football team he was crowned with unusual success.

The captain came to Fort Wayne to take charge of the work at Concordia college February 1, 1914. He was head of the military department at Culver university for three years and occupied the same position at Morgan Park academy, Chicago, and Blee's Military academy for three years. He also saw active service during the Spanish-American war.

Mrs. Byroade and the children, Miss Margaret and Jack, will probably join the husband and father in a few weeks.

EARL COOPER WINNER OF SPEEDWAY CLASSIC

Does Entire Two Hundred and Fifty Miles Without a Single Stop.

Chicago, June 18.—Driving a Stutz, Earl Cooper won the two hundred and fifty mile auto race at Speedway park Saturday, doing the distance without a single stop in 2:25:28. With the first honors hereceived a cash prize of $8,000 and a silver trophy.

Ralph Mulford, who broke the American speedway records for 150 and 200 miles, finished second and Eddie Hearne third. Fourth place went to Cliff Durant and Walter Haines pulled up fifth. Ralph De Palma, the favorite, gave Mulford a desperate race for 200 miles, but he was forced out of the running because of a leaky gasoline pipe and engine trouble. The Italian worked frantically over his motor for twenty minutes and when he resumed he was miles behind the leaders.

Changing tires in the 231st mile robbed Mulford of victory. Although off the track only forty-three seconds, Mulford lost the lead to Cooper, who steadily increased it, finishing a mile ahead of his rival. Cooper's average for the distance was 103 1-10 miles an hour.

Mulford did not make a stop until a change of tires became necessary.

Two accidents marred the race. Joe Thomas and his mechalcian, Henri Worth, escaped with a few minor bruises when their car, speeding at the rate of 118 miles an hour, crashed through the fence on the back stretch. The car driven by Joe Boyer also went through a fence on the turn but neither Boyer nor his mechanician was injured. The machines, however, were wrecked.

The pace proved too hot for Barney Oldfield, who was forced out of the race in the 48th mile because of a broken connecting rod. Louis Chevrolet, winner of the Memorial day race at Cincinnati, was a victim of tire and engine trouble and finished tenth. Twenty-seven drivers started, but ten dropped out before the 150-mile mark was reached. In addition to winning $4,000 as second prize, Mulford also won two prizes of $500 each for leading at 100 and 200. De Palma, although out of the prize money, was given $500. Hearne, who finished third, got $2,000; Durant fourth, $1,500, and Haines fifth, $1,000.

Sums ranging from $900 down to $500 went to the following drivers, who finished in the order named: Henderson, sixth; Lewis, seventh; Vail, eighth; Fountain, ninth; Chevrolet, tenth; Milton, eleventh, and Alley, twelfth. Officials of the speedway plan to donate the profits of the meet to a war fund relief.

GARRETT FOLK TO AID RED CROSS FUND

Membership of Auxiliary Is Now More Than Three Hundred.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., June 19.—The Camp-fire Girls of this city will give a rummage sale Saturday, June 23, in the assembly room of the city hall, the proceeds to go to the Red Cross fund. On Thursday the young ladies will visit every home in this city to gather up whatever the people wish to give them. Clothing, furniture and dishes will be accepted. Every one is urged to clean out their attics and donate their surplus stock to the cause. Everything will be placed on sale at the city hall Saturday morning and continue all day and evening. The services of at least a dozen autos have been donated for gathering up the donations. The people of Garrett are thoroughly aroused to the Red Cross movement and every organization is doing their part. The Eastern Stars gave $25 and at a meeting Monday night of the Eagles they voted to give $100 to the fund. The membership of the Garrett auxiliary is over 300 today. An enthusiastic meeting was held at the Baptist church last evening, when Rev. Ether Aichinger, pastor of the Auburn Catholic church, and Judge Dan M. Link, of the DeKalb circuit court, delivered speeches. Both men praised the work of the Red Cross and explained many things to the large audience which were of vital importance. Tuesday evening a big delegation of the Garrett members, accompanied by the Garrett Military band and the Campfire Girls, will go to Richland Center school house and hold a big meeting.

Garrett Short Notes.

Miss Virgilia Galnouer, who has been attending school at Cincinnati for the past year, has been visiting her father, Frank Galnouer, for several days. She expects to attend the Angola summer school.

Dale Green and Donald Eyers, of the Northwestern college, returned to their homes in this city for the summer vacation.

Mrs. Sarah Oliver and Miss Della Kingler will leave Thursday for Spokane, Washington, for a two months' visit.

TIRED OF LIVING ON ONE MEAL A DAY

Mrs. Knepper Went Home to Mother Where Pantry Was Well Filled.

Love famished on one scant meal a day, when Mrs. Lester Knepper, aged 17, tried to keep house for her husband on Boone street, last winter. The girl wife gathered up her young baby and went home to mother, at 821 Clinton street. Since that time Lester Knepper has had several jobs but has not contributed towards keeping his family, it was told in police court Tuesday morning.

The couple met clandestinely at Robison park Sunday night. Mrs. Knepper asked her husband for money.

"I am saving my money to hire a lawyer," she declares she was told.

The girl at once instituted proceedings charging child neglect on the part of Knepper. The husband pleaded "not guilty" to the complaint Tuesday. He was represented by a lawyer.

Three women, who have lived where the Knepper family resided, testified as to scarcity of food in the home of the girl. The mother of Mrs. Knepper told of finding a pineapple and a loaf of bread in the house when she called on her daughter on Boone street.

Knepper was found guilty and ordered to pay $4 a week towards the keeping of his family. He was released on his own recognizance.

THREATENED BY FIRE.

The abandoned building, formerly occupied by Fox Brothers, corner of Washington and Calhoun streets, was threatened by fire Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Crossed electric wires in the elevator shaft of the structure threatened to ignite the walls of the partly razed building. The sputtering wires were soon noticed and the chemical wagon from No. 3 department extinguished the blaze.
